LICK-a-STICK, SCORE A GOAL!

Calgary - Mike Siroishka of the Cadillac Cossacks put on a dazzling performance in front of two fans on Sunday night notching his first goal of the season. In a tight break-in play, Siroishka was swaying and swinging his way across the blue line at about 3km/hr when he managed a snow-plow stop in front of the net. It was then when Cadillac's female Phenom Katy Josephs took a shot from the slot and the puck gently grazed the left leg of Siroishka and hit the back of the net.

In a post game interview, Siroishka said "listen, I was lazer-guided engaged with Josephs eyes as she was about to shoot, I winked at her, and to my surprise, she shot. She shot it so hard I tried to scatter out of the way when I felt it hit me on the knee. I'm proud to move up in the standings to 35th overall. I can do it again if more of my teammates shot at me more often"! The UHL fully endorses this!!!

Sakundiak says "What's with all these short Cossacks"?

Westside Rec, AB – The UHL has all sorts of players. Good ones, great ones, average ones, and very low on the skills ones.

In an unprecedented comment, Avrey Sakundiak of the Fightin' Cossacks took out his frustrations on Ron Bobyn late Sunday night as he has had enough of all the short players. Bobyn, who is 5'3.765" tall (barefoot) is nothing compared to the towering structure of Sakundiak who stands 6'8" (on skates).

"All these short guys are a pain!, I even saw one small Ukrainian sneak under my legs as I was breaking in the opponents zone. This can't be tolerated by the UHL, So I thought I would send a message to Bobyn, even though he is a teammate of mine".

COLANDER-CAP COSSACK MISSING IN GAME 7

Calgary, Alberta – UHL speedy winger Joe Tysowski was a no-show Sunday night for his team the Cadillac Cossacks.

The Cadillacs could have used his speed as they slowly secure bottom spot in the UHL. The UHL Weekly tried to reach Tysowski for comment as to his whereabouts, and there was no response.

Tysowski, currently sitting in 13th position with 8 goals so far this season, is expected to return to his team this week, and is willing to be a call-up for another team to show his commitment to the UHL.

While the UHL is a fun recreational league, wearing such non-protective head gear is not condoned or approved by the UHL Safety division, however Tysowski has signed a Waiver siting he thinks he's had 7 concussions in the past, but can't remember, so he'll continue wearing his colander cap indefinitely.

DEMCHUK IS DETERMINED TO KEEP THE UHL “BALANCED”

Westhills, AB – UHL Veteran Jerry Demchuk has been meticulously counting each goal for each team. Similar to Rainman, Demchuk has been quietly calculating the odds, chances and each goal as they happen.

He remembers “back in the glory days” when UHL teams would out score opponents by as many as 15 goals in one night. “As a dedicated Ukrainian, I can, and will, ensure that lopsided scoring doesn't happen again.”

So I plan to keep every game even on the score sheet even if it means I have to let Mike Siroishka score on me”.

Demchuk has played in 216 UHL games as goaltender and has a stellar goals against average of 1.83 over 18 years with a .971 percentage rating (whatever that means) over the years. Stats are clearly not recorded by the UHL Stats Committee, so these numbers are completely false, especially when Demchuk allows players like Bobyn, Siroishka, Ochitwa and Horbachewski to score goals.

BROTHERS BUILD A WALL, OPPONENTS WILL PAY

Dressing Room #3, AB – When the Woynarski brothers take to the ice, it's all business, no pleasure. They are motivated to build a wall for their team on defense, and the opponents will pay for that wall.

Senior Woynarski brother Nathan, was the first of the talented tandem to join the elite league back in 2011, his younger brother Tyson followed in his brother's footsteps and joined the UHL in 2015. While Nathan is a talented forward, he doesn't mind playing on defense with his brother to create "the Woy-Wall" with Tyson who is a speedy right defenseman with a hard shot.

GALETTA LIKES THE NEW UHL UNIFORMS

Calgary – UHL experienced d-man Myron Galetta is all smiles these days as he shows off the new UHL Socks.

Galetta, one of 5 UHL players to not have a personalized jersey, is considering purchasing his own set of the fancy UHL gear. In a statement released by his Agent, "Myron was hesitant to get his own jersey as he knows other players take note of his number when he flies past them into the offensive zone. He wants to remain somewhat anonymous each season to throw off his opponents". Galetta was not available for comment.

THE COMMISH IS ON A SLOW RECOVERY PLAN

The Commish of the UHL Cossacks, Ron Robyn, has been physically tough times these days and has been through various medical testing including taking “a Pil”, and it has been determined he will be day-to-day due to various injuries.

Bobyn, known for his entertaining organizational skills, feels helpless as his body is failing him just months before his half century benchmark in life.

Due to a Knee injury, failed back surgery, Gout, and Tennis Elbow recently diagnosed, Bobyn will be an on-going game time decision.

A DAY IN THE LIFE OF A CADILLAC COSSACK

Calgary, AB – When a player is awarded the Player of the Game by his team, that player needs, and wants, to “show off” his achievement. Below are a few photos of Richard Horbachewski who was named Player of the game on May 14, 2017.
