UKRAINIAN'S FAVOURITE HOCKEY NEWS

- Since 1998

UHL winger Nathan Woynarski (seen above) was finally captured by Vegreville Police early Thursday morning as he was wanted for Grand Theft.

Woynarski, from Calgary Alberta, was wanted on two counts of theft including his last attempt of stealing the Vegreville Iconic Ukrainian Egg. He was wearing a Super Dave Osborne costume at the time of his arrest. Local police report states Woynarski, a known "Sociable", has been on the run for years following the theft of the egg. After police in Calgary searched his home, they found many other things including a Whisky Still, a significant liquor cabinet fully stocked with all types of endless liquors, and of course a Tub for a Keg, which was used for displaying the Vegreville iconic egg next to his nightstand. Woynarski was not available for comment.

MISSING SAKUNDIAK MAY BE MISSING LINK

UHL Great Adrian Sakundiak (see above in 2014) may be the missing link for one of the expansion teams this season. Sakundiak, out with a whole body injury, could be the scoring punch needed for either the Cadillac or Kubie Cosacks this season. The UHL Weekly is searching for Mr. Sakundiak for comment.

DEMCHUK NOT RETIRING

Calgary, Alberta - UHL speedster and Veteran winger #71 Greg Demchuk (seen above second from the right) says retirement is not an option after the 2017 season.

In a Skype interview early Friday morning, Demchuk, known for his intense, committed sticktuativeness play, stated “no, I’m not going to retire after this season just because I also play in a band, that’s crazy!!! You media people are stupid people! I also work at Cenovus and I play in the UHL... My band keeps me sane from all those Ukrainians on the ice holding sticks as weapons, so its a perfect balance for me! Besides, being in the UHL allows me unlimited slashes on Mike Siroishka to give back all I have taken from him over the years. Unfortunately he’s on my team this year, so I try to make it look innocent now. Look, I’m a busy guy. I also have a wife and kids to raise, so I need the UHL to help make my life perfectly balanced. So to repeat, I am not planning to retire, but come watch me kick-ass on stage with my band Du-Rite Aces”.

The Du-Rite Aces as (seen above at Mickey’s Pub) plays live a few times a month. See Greg Demchuk for more info and details behind this FREE PLUG to his band the Du-Rite Aces.

CADILLAC CAPTAIN SEEKS ADVICE FROM ex-NHL LEGEND BRYAN TROTTIER

Flames Community Arenas – Calgary.

Cadillac Cossack Captain Corey Taillon (That’s a lot of ‘C’s to say) pulled out all the stops to seek advice on how to get some goal scoring on his team. Taillon met up with Trottier, who is known for his ‘aggressive play’ in that other league the NHL, said “the key to winning is to discreetly slash at the wrists, and hook at the leg just above the skate. That’s what I did every game and I ended up with the puck enough times to make me look great when I played with the Islanders from 1975-1990”.

Trottier finished his career with 524 goals, 901 assists for 1425 points.

Oh.... and 912 penalty minutes.

SELF-DECLARED “ROCK STAR” NICK JOSEPHS LOST WITHOUT PLAYING in UHL

KELOWNA, BC – Nick “Golden-Hands” Josephs, the self declared Rock Star said he feels lost, dazed and confused by not playing in the UHL this season. His Agent stated that Josephs’ chance of playing this season is about 81% no, 44% yes and 2% undecided given his unknown employment status. Josephs, seen above left, said he would love to get back on the ice with the boys, but given his uncertainty of where and when he will be working, he cannot commit to playing. He may be a one-time call up for one of the UHL team as he went undrafted this year at the Expansion Draft.

Josephs scored 8 goals in only 4 games last season whereby his older brother Andy Josephs (seen above middle) led the league in goals, scoring 21 goals in 11 games. Not sure why Mark Ochitwa is in this picture, but the editor didn’t have time to crop him out.

DOCTOR! DOCTOR!

UHL sensation Evan Ritchie, son of Zdeno Chara Randy Ritchie was last seen playing doctor doctor in March. Ritchie declared he is not available to play this year due to his pursuit in the medical field. In a statement released by Ritchie (via facsimile) “I am doing this for the better of UHL as they will NEED a doctor soon behind the bench the way they play!”

Ritchie was tied for 6th place in the scoring race in 2016 netting 10 goals in 7 games. He may be back in 2017 for a one-time call-up by one of the expansion teams.

“HAT-TRICK”?

Woynarski brothers (Tyson left and Nathan right) were last seen in the coach-check at the Ramada Hotel in Nova Scotia playing rock-scissors-papers as to who will get the next “hat” trick in the UHL. Tyson, playing defense for the Golden Knight Cossacks, said “just because I play as a D-man doesn’t mean I can’t net a few more goals than my brother”. Let’s see if he can do it! Nathan wasn’t being too “Sociable” for comment.

FAMILY POWER

What do you get when you add 4 Sakundiak's, 4 Josephs', 4 Patrician's, to 5 Ewanchyna's, and 5 Demchuk's? You get 22 of 48 hockey players. Hard to believe that five families make up 46% of the UHL Roster. Nice to see the UHL expanding into generations of family and extended family!

Go for it. If not, buy it for

UHL ROOKIE BOCHULAK KNOWS HE HAS MORE THAN TWO GOALS TO CONTRIBUTE

Rookie sensation Calvin Bochulak is convinced he can, and will, contribute more goals this season for his team The Cadillac Cossacks.

Bochulak, a free agent picked up by the Cadillac Cossacks after the Draft, says he's excited to be playing in the UHL and thanks his Agent Vince Letwin for getting him this opportunity. He also commented on Twitter "it's a blast to skate circles around all those old guys out there! They are a fun group of guys, and I look forward to contributing to the Cadillacs as much as captain Taillon allows me. I know I'm the rookie, but I know I can net a few more goals for the guys".

Bochulak is in his first year with the UHL and becomes unrestricted at the end of the 2017 season.
