Uchacz Shines to be the Player of the Game... No, not Greg Uchacz!

Calgary, Alberta – Kubie Krusher forward Bennett Uchacz was handed over the Team Award following game #7 by Morgan Hanson who won it the previous game.

Uchacz, known for his speed, finesse, and all-round fun player was lighting up the scoreboard Sunday night. The team, their Kaptain, and the entire fan base of over well over 5 in the stands witnessed his grit and determination to chase the scoring leader James Demchuk who had 23 goals going into the game. while Uchacz only had 2 going into the game, he firmly believes he can catch up to Demchuk. This was Uchacz's second time being awarded the Player of the game this season

Well, good luck with that Bennett, we hope you do make a run for the lead, but the editor of this Newsletter wouldn't bet on that! Oh, and in small print, Bennetts dad Greg did score a goal in this game too!

Blonde Hairline Fracture Sidelines Patrician, and places him on LTIR

UHL Medics (seen to the left) took a look at Patrician's wrist and found that his wrist may if fact have a hairline fracture.

Dr. Nykola Dovggy tended to Patrician following the game. He also believe that Ryan may have injured his wrist doing inappropriate things not sanctioned by the UHL or UHLPA.

Injured Boilers Captain Patrician seen making possible Trades

Westside Rec. Centre - UHL Media caught Boilers Captain Ryan Patrician on the phone late in the game Sunday night as his team was behind on the ice.

Audio footage anonymously sent to League officials clearly hears Patrician trying to make a 5-player trade between the Rollers and the Krushers.

More to come as the Audio footage is being reviewed by the League Head Office.

FULTON ASLEEP AT THE WHEEL

Westside Rec. Centre - Aiden Fulton, one of the faster and sneakier players in the UHL was caught yawning numerous times during game 7 of the 2025 season.

Fulton, seen here to the right, was seen yawning on the ice not once, but well over 8 times including this shot on the bench. Boilers Captain Ryan Patrician took note of this, and perhaps that is what initiated the phone calls around the league?

Fulton was not available for comment.

RULE #44 is being challenged by the Boilers

UHL WORLD HEADQUARTERS – The UHLPA, and the Commish's office are looking into a claim that Cabbage Roller forward, and former Rockit Richardski winner, Tom Knapik may have broken Rule #44 of the UHLPA Handbook.

While no video was available at the time, Borscht Boilers Captain Ryan Patrician claims Knapik broke in the offensive zone at over 11 kms/hr. and opened up a slapshot with due careless force. Evan Patrician, brother of Ryan, was pinching back when Knapik unloaded a slapper the goaltender. Rule #44 clearly states that “no player shall take a slapshot unless there is a clear site of the netminder with no other player being within, near, or even close to the slap-shooter”.

Creator and Founder of this rule, Mark Demchuk, is advising the League if this play was acceptable, or did Knapik in fact break the rule. League Officials are reviewing the claim, and potential fines or suspensions may be possible.

UHL PATRIARCH CHRIS BUCK OUTPERFORMS OPPONENTS

From tier U70 – When the UHL acquired Chris Buck almost 25 years ago, they picked him up as a free agent from the Swiss U50 Division, they had very little expectations from this athletic underdog. Scouts found Buck to be an intelligent and creative player, however his cement hands and pigeon-toed stride always put him on the 6th line.

However, on Sunday night, Buck outperformed many, including Borscht Boiler defensive star Matt Weisensel. After Weisensel was breaking out of his zone, Buck managed to pick-pocket Weisensel and break into the zone for what appeared to be a shot on net, but it wasn't. Buck tried to pass the puck to teammate Kelly Babichuk, when he fanned on the puck, and the puck went in the general direction of the net.

In a post-game interview with Buck, he was all smiles as he knew he had a few chances, but he also knew he was up against some of the UHL's elite. After he cracked a Pilsner, he said "Yeah, I felt really good out there tonight. I'm in great shape, I feel good, I look good, and it's all thanks to my athletic abilities. I play squash & soccer, I also curl, mountain bike and climb big rocks. I like rocks, that's why I became a Geologist. Rocks may be hard, but nothing I can't conquer. That includes hockey. I know the Boilers are in last place, but that's not because of me. We just can't get a break out there. I hope my Captain will double shift me next game so I can show my real skills. However, that may not happen as the greasing of his palms offering over 3 dozen perogies didn't seem to make my Captain flinch! Maybe I need to offer Cabbage Rolls"?

SIROISHKA MISSING

The Underground, Downtown Edmonton – On Saturday May 24th, the UHL Commish got a call at 3:35am that Mike Siroishka went missing from his team and was spotted at a Mosh Pit in Edmonton, Alberta. Can you spot him in this photo?

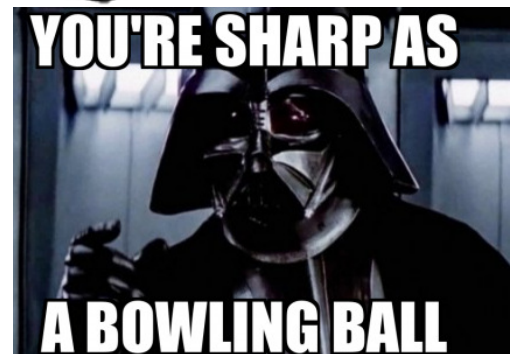

Siroishka, known for his entertaining play on the ice, but also known as an enforcer, was allegedly called up by the Edmonton Oilers Saturday afternoon when Darnel Nurse got injured in the Dallas Series. Siroishka got on his moped and immediately travelled to Edmonton to join the team. Upon arrival, sources say Siroishka accidentally made a wrong turn on Anthony Hendy Drive and his moped stalled near a small community hall. Siroishka was later seen in a Mosh Pit being branded by another party-goer.

While UHL Officials have not yet spoken to Siroishka, they did contact the Edmonton Oilers about being called up to the team, and their media representative stated “are you kidding me? We didn’t call up Siroishka to play for Nurse, he was called to play on our 7th line which will never be dressed, nor will he be allowed in Rogers Place!”
