SAKUNDIAK DEFIES ODDS AND HAS SUCCESSFUL BRAIN SURGERY

Foothills Hospital, AB- Adrian Sakundiak was diagnosed with a cancerous brain tumor in late March. The family was devastated.

Following many tests and doctors advice, the Sakundiak family took a family vacation to Mexico to stay strong and be together. With that love and support, along with endless support from the UHLPA, Adrian came back to get surgery on Monday April 22. It was successful. Adrian walked into the hospital on Monday, and he walked out of the hospital only 48 hours later with his family at his side.

While Adrian's battle will be on-going, it is a true blessing that this was treated by the best doctors available, and Adrian's recovery will be a journey.

The UHL wishes Adrian a speedy recovery, and god bless to your health. Congratulations.

KRILLER GETS BREAK FROM UHLPA WITH NO FINE

Calgary, AB – Kubie Krusher defenceman Matt Krill showed up for game #2 wearing non-UHL approved socks. While Krill, known as the "Kriller" knows the rules, he chose to be a rebel and wear black socks as seen above.

The UHL infractions department met with Krill behind closed doors to hear his side of the story. While the UHL media was not able to get a statement from Krill, it was rumoured that Krill broke down in tears apologizing to the Committee for his wrongful doings.

A settlement has since been reached, and Krill will not be fined for his rebellious act.

Joe "colander-lid" Tysowski takes one for the team

Dressing Room #2– Perogy Pounder Joe Tysowski was taking a pass in the defensive zone when the puck hit his own stick and struck Tysowski near the eye. "It was a horrific incident" said one of the 8 fans in the stands.

Tysowski dropped like a bag of perogies covered with mushroom gravy when the puck hit him just below his right eye. A team of non-doctors rushed to his aid with towels in-hand to clear the blood from his face. After laying on the ice for over 2 minutes, Tysowski was taken off the ice for further assessment by veterinarians.

Tysowski was seen later leaving the rink with an ice cold Pilsner on his eye as he headed to the hospital for stitches.

We hope Tysowski recovers fast as the Pounders need his speed for game 4.

FLAMES GO DOWN IN FLAMES

Scotiabank Saddledome, AB – Many UHL veterans were spotted at the other arena watching the other Calgary-based team play in the playoffs, only to lose in 5 games to an American team.

Horbachewski's, Sakundiak's and a Bobyne were seen drowning their sorrows with hopes that the Old boys were back to play for the Flames as it was clear the new young guns could not play in the big leagues. (See inset below)

RECORD FANS IN THE STANDS CHEERING ON THE UHL!

Calgary – Game#1 of the season opener in the UHL saw over 60 fans in the stands ready to cheer on their favorite Ukrainian. Led by Linda Dudar of the infamous St. Stephen's choir, the fans erupted like a flash mob into singing the National Anthem after a short "Our Father" was sung to honor #18 Adrian Sakundiak following his cancer diagnosis.

Scalpers were spotted outside of the arena but there were no other fans outside looking for the free tickets to see the UHL Perogy Pounders take on the Cabbage Rollers.

Game #4 goes this Sunday night at 7:30pm at the Westside Rec center.

CABBAGE ROLLERS CAPTAIN CLAIMS STINKY CABBAGE

When UHL superstar Neil Horbachewski drafted his team he thought he hit a homerun. He was wrong.

With the Cabbage Rollers sitting in last place with 12 points (Kubie Krushers have 31 points), Horbachewski cried fowl cabbage! His team has only managed to score 12 goals in three games so far in the 2019 season.

Horbachewski, known for his flamboyancy, was seen in the dressing room tearing apart his Cabbage Rolls to find the problem. To his surprise, he concluded he had very little Tomato Sauce to spice up the scoring for his team. "Many players are missing from my team, and that's not cool" said the fearless captain. "We will comeback with a vengeance in game #4 when we play our Easter Dinner plate rival the Perogy Pounders, and you can take that to the bank!"

UHL INJURY REPORT

Rob Siroishka – Sustained a small cut under his second chin but needed no stitches.

Siroishka is day-to-day claiming a groin injury. NO, wait, a sprained wrist.

Siroishka will be ready for game #4

ANDY JOSEPHS- Andy is always injured due to his gritting fast-paced game. This time its not his face, its his shoulder that keeps giving out. Josephs will be ready for game 4 and perhaps he can blow his MCL to shake it up a little on the injury front.

Adrian Sakundiak- Adrian is out for the season battling brain cancer. After 26 stitches in his head, he is now home resting comfortably.

In a statement from Sakundiak's Agent, it was claimed that Sakundiak will be watching the UHL games from his home on the VHS tapes as provided by the UHLPA

We wish you a successful recovery and we know you can beat this horrible disease. God Bless you Adrian!

Joe Tysowski- Joe took a puck to the face off his own stick in game #3.

Tysowski, known for his Colander/Strainer-like helmet is recovering slowly in Bowden

It is beliwved Tysowski will not be replacing his helmet anytime soon

PATRICIAN IN WHL CONFERENCE FINALS

Vancouver, BC – UHL wanna be Evan Patrician is busy these days playing for the WHL Vancouver Giants. Currently, the Giants are playing the Spokane Chiefs to battle for the Conference title.

We wish Evan the best in success as he strives to win that other Cup known as the Memorial Cup. Its nothing like the coveted Cossack Kup... Just sayin'

KUBIE KRUSHERS DRAFT A SUPERSTAR

St. Stephen's Hall– Mark Patrician is all smiles these days after drafting Peter Ewanchyna to his team, the Kubie Krushers.

Ewanchyna has 7 goals in 3 games for the Krushers.

In an interview with Captain Patrician it was discovered that he drafted the oldest of the Ewanchyna brothers because his dad (Mark) paid him an undisclosed amount of retirement cash to bring him in so Mark could play with his son on the same team.

The UHL compliance department is looking into this claim and will advise the Commish accordingly.

UHL SCOUTS LAS VEGAS

Las Vegas Nevada - UHL Commish Ron Bobyn and Perogy Pounder Captain Richard Horbachewski were in Las Vegas scouting players from the NHL. Its no secret the NHL has satisfactory players, so the UHL sent he finest to find a player to draft into the UHL.

As you can see in the photo above, they spotted something.... Well, if you look carefully they saw nothing, and they are pointing to nothing. All they saw was a Flames loss in Vegas, so off to the Casino they went.

UHL BRINGS IN THEIR OWN CUSTOM PUCKS

Commish's Office – The UHL Commish is pleased to announce that the UHL now has their own hockey pucks.

Imported from Croatia, these beauties are only used for game pucks, and never in practice. While these pucks cannot withstand the powerful slapshots from #44 Demchuk, they do look nice on the ice, and when one flies into the stands, that makes one fan a happy fan!
