Babichuk threatens League if Discipline is Handed Down

Flames Community Arenas – Dylan Babichuk of the Kubie Krushers was notified by League Officials that he must wear Official UHL equipment including socks.

Babichuk, the self-proclaimed “King of the UHL”, notified the Commish that if a fine, suspension, or other disciplinary action was taken against him that he would fight it in the highest Courts of Law. In a statement from Babichuk he told UHL Media “go ahead and fine me, my dad pays. Or if you add a fine to my 2024 Fees, that's OK, my dad pays. Or if you dare to garnish my wages, go right ahead, I'm on dad's payroll”.

The Commish was shocked by Babichuk's lack of respect for UHL Officials was uncertain if discipline action would be taken. He did agree to give Babichuk one more chance to following league rules, and should he choose to defy logic again, action will be taken. More to come.....

PROKOP OUT AGAIN WITH A SEASON-ENDING UPPER BODY INJURY

UHL Hospital News – The UHL was disappointed to hear of the season-ending injury to Krusher's dynamic forward Jim Prokop.

Prokop, known for his dedication on and off the ice, was injured during game #3 on May 7th at Flames Community Arenas. Prokop was out for 2 seasons due to a similar upper body injury, and this injury has caused the Krusher's to tank in the Standing without Prokop's scoring punch.

In the absence of Jim, his son Robbie Prokop stepped into his dad's skates to fill the gap. Thanks to Robbie, the Krushers continue to be last overall. 😊

Both Prokop's were not available for comment.

Coach's Comment Corner

Perogy Pounder Captain's Comments:

I'm not commenting until we pull the Perogies out of our @ss and start to win!!!

Borscht Boilers Captain's Comments:

The Borscht Boilers have seen a renaissance in scoring in the last few weeks though our usage of advanced stats and game tape review. With the addition of our youts back from school, the boilers are on the rise. Our veteran players have put in the work by switching from office chairs to stand up desks and the results are better than expected: our average skating speed increasing by 0.1km/hr. Our power duo of Katy and Morgan have lead the league in expected goals per 60 and once their advanced analytics settle in, the number 1 spot in the league is all but ours.

Cabbage Roller Captain's Comments:

Acquisitions of the Salwach Trio is paying dividends. Mike's steady calming veteran presence, Ben's vision & playmaking ability, and Brady's hands and wheels, they are the UHL's Hanson Brothers.

The towers of powers blue line terror twins Avrey and Andy are proving to be worth the draft capitol spent to acquire them.

The best news the league may have received this season is the return of Peter Ewanchyna. After a successful neck procedure Peter seems to have regained his full health and mobility. Just a great story and we're all relieved to see him back.

The rest of the team does their jobs; scoring production, responsible play in our own end, bench support and dressing room leadership. The Cabbage Holy Rollers could very well be poised to make a DEEP playoff run.

Kubie Krushers Kaptain's Komments:

This little 4 game skid we find ourselves on is no different than getting a bit of wet sand caught between your cheeks as you walk in from the ocean. Halfway to the cold beer waiting for you in the cooler you realize the sand has started the process of sawing your body in half from the inside out with each step you take. Left unresolved it will do its damage. So it's times like these that the Krusher have to dig deep, eliminate the sand, and get back to the way we know how to play our game. We might be down, but we're definitely not out. We've got a resilient group in our locker room, that are a determined bunch, ready to do whatever it takes to win. We're gonna bounce back from this setback and clean up our act, and when back on the ice, it's gonna be like a freight train hitting a kitten.

Elon Musk increases his Offer to Purchase of all Rights and Assets of the UHL in Calgary, Canada

TESLA WORLD HEADQUARTERS – The world richest man continues to try and become even richer by increasing his offer to acquire the UHL and all its assets for an unprecedented reported price of US$427.50. His increase from $247.58 to $427.50 is an increase of almost 75% coming in just over a month from his last offer.

The Commish met with Musk at his birthplace in South Africa to negotiate this deal and come to some sort of resolution. Musk, who is almost 5 years younger than the Commish, told UHL media via facsimile, he won't stop until the Assets of the UHL are in his care and control.

Reports are that the Commish is demanding a flight into space for all players in the UHL with the Commish captaining the spaceship. Musk had no comment.

UHL's Newcomer Chris Eshpeter calls Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson a Woosie!

After just a few games playing in the UHL, Eshpeter calls out The Rock on Social Media.

Eshpeter challenged Johnson to play in the UHL if he's a real man. Johnson was not available for comment, but his Manager said "bring it on Eshpeter".

UHL reporters notified the UHLPA of a possible Jim Carrey sighting on May 23rd at Flames Community Arenas. While UHL player Pierre Loczy does not know if this man was in fact Hollywood movie star Jim Carrey, he did say that the man in the photo above, and to the right, does in fact look like Mr. Carrey.

UHL Cracking Down on Repetitive Jersey Numbers

The UHLPA was recently notified that some players are using the same numbers on their backs to confuse their Ukrainian opponents. Well, it worked a few times when a Monkey was disguised as a Uchacz. As seen in this photo, can you see the difference?

If it looks like a Monkey, and plays like a Monkey, it must be a Monkey!
