Join us for 3 days of cannabis-inspired networking and content-producing events in the historic town of Hudson, New York.

The CannaJo!nt After Party takes place just steps from the Basilica Hudson at Kitty's Backyard, an eclectic, private outdoor garden space.

Hosted by The Canna Boss Babes, The CannaJo!nt Content House is located in the heart of the Hudson's Historic District, featuring curated experiences including a welcome dinner, breakfast, brunch, after-hours events and content creation opportunities with industry influencers.

REVELRY BUYERS' CLUB

Rooted in the New York cannabis industry, Revelry Buyers' Club takes place at the Basilica Hudson, hosting retail buyers and brands from New York and surrounding states. The single-day B2B event mixes "the spirit of New York with cannabis business and culture."

Rogue Arena presents The CannaJo!nt is a cannabis-inspired marketing company driven by passion and community. Founded by Kelly Riddle and Lulu Cohen, TCJ hosts bold events alongside top cannabis conferences worldwide. With over a decade in legal cannabis, they create immersive experiences and unique opportunities for brands to gain exposure, build connections and grow.

MEET THE EVENT TEAM

Kelly Riddle is an award-winning brand marketing leader with over 15 years in content, events and business strategy. Recently she was awarded “Most Extreme Results in Social Media” by Trade Show Executive Magazine and was a finalist for “Best Marketing” by Trade Show News Network for her work at MJBizDaily and MJBizCon. Kelly specializes in innovative brand collaborations and activations and has partnered with dozens of leading cannabis companies, executives and celebrity figures worldwide. She is founder and CEO of The CannaJo!nt, an events and branding agency.

Lulu Cohen is a media, marketing and event visionary with expertise in campaign development, original content creation and events. Her music/entertainment company, Lulu Cohen Media has been changing the parameters of marketing for over 20 years. Lulu launched Rogue Arena, a cannabis collective that has been branding legal cannabis on a higher level since 2014. She partnered with Weedmaps and NORML in 2015 and recreated and produced Afroman’s original 2001 Grammy-nominated song, “Because I Got High.” The new video raised awareness for cannabis legalization, and has accumulated over 15 million views, garnering massive media attention.

Ishqa Hillman is a business strategist, podcast host, and advocate dedicated to empowering underrepresented communities within the cannabis industry. In 2019, she founded The Canna Boss Babes LLC®, an entrepreneurial support podcast and platform that fosters safe spaces for sharing stories, destigmatizing plant medicine, and promoting growth within the cannabis space. As host of the #5 Best Women in Cannabis Podcast (FeedSpot), Ishqa amplifies diverse voices to challenge stigmas and build authentic connections. Her efforts have earned her multiple nominations and awards, reflecting her commitment to breaking down barriers and fostering inclusivity in the cannabis community.
