MAINE HOME SALES UP 13.28 PERCENT IN JANUARY

AUGUSTA (February 21, 2025)—Sales of single-family homes in Maine rose by double-digits over the past year. According to Maine Listings, Realtors reported 853 properties changed hands in January, an increase of 13.28% over January of 2024. The median sales price (MSP) reached $385,000 in January 2025—an increase of 9.07 percent compared to January 2024. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

“Strong January numbers show continued, solid buyer interest statewide,” says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington. “The 853 January sales are the 7th best in 26 years.

“We are encouraged that the for-sale inventory is 16 percent higher than a year ago, and buyer demand remains high.”

The National Association of Realtors reported a 2.2 percent rise in national sales in January, while the MSP for January increased 5.0 percent to $402,000. Regionally, sales in the northeast increased 4.2 percent and the regional MSP was $475,400—up 9.5 percent, comparing January 2025 to January 2024.

“As the statistics show, home buyers are not deterred by Maine’s winter weather. If selling your home is in your future, now is a great time to work with a REALTOR® and get a step ahead of the spring-uptick of listing activity,” says Harris.

Below are two charts showing statistics for Maine and its 16 counties. The first chart lists statistics for the month of January (2024/2025), statewide. The second chart compares the number of existing, single-family homes sold (units) and volume (MSP) during the rolling quarter of November (2023/2024), December (2023/2024) and January (2024/2025).

MAINE HOME SALES INCREASE 6.5 PERCENT IN FEBRUARY

AUGUSTA (March 20, 2025)—February home sales statistics in Maine show an increase in sales, prices, and homes available. According to Maine Listings, sales of single-family existing homes increased 6.51 percent in February 2025 compared to February 2024. Realtors reported that 753 homes closed across the state, and the median sales price (MSP) for those sales reached $381,500—a rise of 9.0 percent. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

“Maine’s real estate industry showed continued improvement in February,” says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington. “For-sale listings are up 14 percent and sales are up 6.51 percent over a year ago February. The 753 sales reflect the 9th best month since the year 2000.

“We’re seeing an increased number of homes on the market statewide, mortgage rates have ticked downward, and in some markets, price growth has moderated, increasing the purchasing power of buyers.”

The National Association of Realtors reported a 0.3 percent decrease in sales in February 2025 compared to February 2024. Home prices increased 3.7 percent to a national MSP of $402,500. Regionally, sales in the Northeast were up 4.2 percent in February, while the regional MSP of $464,300 indicates an increase of 10.4 percent over February of a year ago.

“Whether you’re on the selling or buying side, select a REALTOR® with a strong presence in the area you’d like to live to achieve your best negotiating position and success. The spring market is presenting excellent opportunity,” says Harris.

MAINE HOME SALES AND PRICES DECREASE IN MARCH

AUGUSTA (April 24, 2025)—Buyers of single-family existing homes in Maine are welcoming a more balanced spring sales market, with an increase in available inventory and moderation of pricing. According to Maine Listings, Realtors reported 848 sales within Maine’s 16 counties during March, a decrease of 6.19 percent compared to a year ago. The median sales price (MSP) for those homes eased 0.98 percent to $376,260. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

“We’re seeing the inventory of homes for sale inch upward with nearly 14 percent more homes on the market in March 2025 compared to March of last year,” says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington.

“With this increasing inventory, the ‘days on market’ for available homes last month increased to 22 days, up from 15 days one year ago—and up from the historic low for March of nine days in 2022. For many markets, the pace is becoming more reasonable for buyers.”

The National Association of Realtors reported a sales price uptick of 2.9 percent nationally last month to $408,000, while sales eased 2.2 percent compared to March of 2024. Regionally, sales figures in the Northeast for March 2025 remained unchanged from March a year ago while the MSP jumped 7.7 percent to $468,000.

“It’s spring and one of the best times of year to list or buy a home,” says Harris. “To navigate the complexities of a real estate transaction in your local market, guidance from an experienced Realtor will help you achieve the best results, whether selling or buying.”

MAINE HOME VALUES UP 4.44 PERCENT IN APRIL; SALES EASE A SLIGHT 0.74 PERCENT

AUGUSTA (May 22, 2025)— The arrival of spring is catching the interest of home buyers across Maine. Today, Maine Listings reported 942 homes changed hands in April 2025, a slight decrease of 0.74 percent compared to April of 2024. Realtors across Maine's 16 counties sold 942 single-family existing homes with a median sales price (MSP) that reached $400,000—up 4.44 percent year over year. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

“Spring has sprung! Listing activity and buyer demand has heated up,” says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington. “The number of April sales, while slightly lower than a year ago, are 11 percent higher than last month. The statewide median sales price touched $400,000 for the third time since September 2024, though seven of Maine's sixteen counties experienced price decreases.

“Listing activity has also picked up with 19 percent more homes on the market in April than March—that's nearly 600 homes.”

According to the National Association of Realtors, comparing April 2025 to April 2024, home sales nationwide dipped 1.4 percent while the national MSP increased 1.7 percent to $418,000. Regionally, sales figures for single-family homes in the Northeast for April 2025 remained unchanged from April a year ago and the regional MSP increased 6.3 percent to $487,400 over that time period.

“As we begin the traditional peak season for real estate activity, be prepared, stay informed, and consult with your Realtor to make strategic decisions and navigate the dynamics of your local market—whether you're selling or buying,” says Harris.

MAINE HOME SALES AND VALUES UP IN MAY

AUGUSTA (June 23, 2025)—Sellers and buyers are in the market and housing demand remains steady. According to Maine Listings, comparing May 2025 to May 2024, sales of single-family existing homes rose 3.28 percent with 1,227 sales. Maine's statewide median sales price (MSP) increased 6.52 percent to $425,000 over that same time. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

"We're seeing more homes coming onto the market for sale and that's a positive for buyers," says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington. "The number of May 2025 sales exceeded the May 2024 sales numbers by 3.3 percent and topped last month's sales figures by 30 percent. Our statistics indicate that, at the end of May, Maine had 4,422 homes on the market—an increase of 825 from April's month-end.

"While the statewide median sales price reached a new historic high of $425,000 in May, eight of Maine's sixteen counties reported median sold prices below $350,000 and six of those counties had a median sold price below $300,000."

The National Association of Realtors today reported a 0.3 percent rise in single-family existing home sales nationwide comparing May 2025 to May 2024, and a national MSP increase of 1.3 percent to $427,800. Regionally, sales in the Northeast jumped 4.2 percent, while the regional MSP increased 7.1 percent to $513,300 from May of 2024.

"Over time, if the inventory of homes on the market grows, we'll see a moderation of home pricing," adds Harris. "We're heading into the peak season for home sales in Maine. Whether buying or selling, contact your local REALTOR® to provide you with expert guidance."

Below are two charts showing statistics for Maine and its 16 counties. The first chart lists statistics for the month of May (2024/2025), statewide. ## MAINE HOME SALES UP 10.51 PERCENT IN JUNE

AUGUSTA (July 23, 2025)—The Maine Association of Realtors reports 1,441 single family home sales during June 2025, 10.51 percent more than June 2024, with a median sales price (MSP) of $425,00, an increase of 4.94 percent compared to a year ago. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

“High buyer demand and low, but improving, for-sale inventory levels continue to drive Maine’s home sales and pricing,” says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington. “This dynamic of strong buyer demand and trending increases in the number of homes on the market has resulted in higher sales volume for most counties across Maine.

“June’s for-sale inventory of 5,047 was 14 percent above May, resulting in June sales numbers that were 17 percent higher than last month. Maine hasn’t experienced a statewide for-sale inventory over 5,000 since October of 2020.”

Regionally, sales in the northeast declined 4.2 percent in June 2025 compared to June 2024, according to the National Association of Realtors. The regional MSP increased 4.2 percent from last June to $543,300. Nationwide, sales of single-family existing homes rose 0.6 percent, and the national MSP was $441,500, up two percent from June 2024.

“Discussions with REALTORS® across Maine indicate that, for most markets, the added inventory has resulted in buyers and sellers taking more time to negotiate pricing and offer terms,” adds Harris. “As Realtors, we’re here to share our experience and expert market insights to help our clients navigate these changing market conditions.”

MORE MAINE HOMES ON THE MARKET SALES AND VALUES UP IN JULY

AUGUSTA (August 21, 2025)— Buyers of single-family existing homes in Maine are embracing a shifting market, with a higher volume of homes for sale statewide. According to Realtors and Maine Listings, 1,570 homes changed hands in July 2025, an increase of 5.02% over July 2024, and the statewide median sales price (MSP) reached $419,950—an increase of 5.25 percent over that same time period. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

“For the fifth consecutive month, the number of homes for sale in Maine has increased -- to 5,346 in July; this is the highest number since October 2020—58 months ago” says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of Realtors and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington.

“With more homes for sale, buyers can be more discerning,” reports Harris. “We’re seeing that some sellers are adjusting their original pricing downward to entice buyer interest.”

The National Association of Realtors today reported a 1.1 percent sales increase of single-family existing homes sales across the country comparing July 2025 to July 2024. An uptick in prices of 0.3 percent led to a national MSP of $428,500. July sales in the northeast rose 2.0 percent with a regional MSP of $509,300—up 0.8 percent over July of 2024.

“As they say, ‘all real estate is local,’” adds Harris. “Whether buying or selling, rely on your REALTOR®’s understanding of the local market conditions and their expertise in pricing strategy and negotiations; these are essential to achieving your best real estate results.”

Below are two charts showing statistics for Maine and its 16 counties. The first chart lists statistics for the month of July (2024/2025), statewide. ## HOME SALES AND PRICES UP IN AUGUST

AUGUSTA (September 25, 2025)—Sales of single-family existing homes in Maine rose 9.96 percent, comparing August 2025 to August of last year, according to Maine Listings. Prices have also increased to a statewide median sales price of $409,450 – up 2.36 percent compared to August 2024. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

“Potential home buyers in Maine have more options than they have had over the past five years,” says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington.

“For the sixth consecutive month, the number of homes for sale on the market has increased and the number of sales has risen. The inventory level of homes for sale is building as more sellers enter the market—currently at the highest level since October of 2020.”

The National Association of Realtors today reported a national sales increase of 2.5 percent, comparing August 2025 to August 2024, while prices rose 1.9 percent to a national MSP of $427,800. Regionally, sales in the Northeast eased 2.0 percent and the regional MSP increased 6.2 percent to $534,200 over that same time period.

“As the market is showing signs of shifting more into balance, consult with a REALTOR® who will help buyers respond quickly to opportunities and guide sellers on marketing and negotiating their home sale effectively,” says Harris.

MAINE HOME SALES UP 5.12 PERCENT IN SEPTEMBER PRICES EASE 1.35 PERCENT

AUGUSTA (October 23, 2025)—Buyers of single-family homes in Maine are witnessing a more stable market this fall. According to Maine Listings, 1,582 single-family existing homes changed hands in September with a median sales price (MSP) of $402,500—a slight decrease of 1.35 percent compared to September 2024. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

“As we move through 2025, for many markets in Maine, sellers and buyers are on more equal footing for negotiating their home purchase,” says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington. “We are seeing an increasing number of homes for sale, increasing time-on-market, and pricing concessions which eases the competition that buyers have been facing for the past five years. We’re moving beyond the pandemic frenzy.

“For the second time in 2025 and only the second time since March 2019, Maine’s median home sale price decreased in a year-over-year comparison,” adds Harris.

The National Association of Realtors reported a 4.5 percent uptick in sales across the country and prices increased 2.3 percent to a national MSP of $420,700 comparing September 2025 to September 2024. Regionally, sales in the Northeast rose 4.3 percent while the regional MSP increased 4.1 percent to $500,300 over the same time period.

“With more for-sale options on the market, a sellers’ pricing at listing should reflect today’s market to generate demand. As Maine’s residential real estate markets adjust and balance, buyers have more negotiating leverage.”

“Work with your REALTOR® to assess the market conditions to be the best-prepared buyer or seller in your area and be in your new home before year’s end.”

MAINE OCTOBER HOME SALES JUMP 10.73 PERCENT; PRICES INCREASE 7.85 PERCENT

AUGUSTA (November 20, 2025)—Colder weather in Maine has not slowed down the hot interest among buyers of single-family existing homes across the state. Maine Listings reported 1,651 sales in October, indicating an uptick of 10.73 percent in sales compared to October of a year ago. Prices are also on the rise; Realtors indicated the median sales price (MSP) for homes sold hit $426,000, up 7.85 percent, comparing October 2025 to October 2024. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less.

“Buyers were active in October with sales outpacing the number of new listings for the month,” says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington. “The number of homes for sale in October 2025 exceeded the number for sale in October 2024 but decreased 7.6 percent compared to last month; this is the first decrease of homes on the market since February.

“As we move through the fourth quarter and into 2026, it’s a great time for sellers to list their property, as for-sale inventory tends to be at its lowest point during the Maine winter months. Market conditions remain strong.”

Nationally, sales of single-family existing homes in October 2025 rose 1.9 percent compared to October 2024, according to the National Association of Realtors. The MSP for those homes increased 2.2 percent to $420,600. The Regional Northeast experienced a regional MSP jump of 6.5 percent to $503,700. Sales were up 4.3 percent in October year over year.

“In most areas across Maine, buyers are plentiful, motivated, and eager to settle into homeownership regardless of the season,” adds Harris.

MAINE HOME SALES EASE 11.59 PERCENT IN NOVEMBER

AUGUSTA (December 19, 2025) — According to Maine Listings, Realtors across the state reported a median sales price of $399,000 for single-family existing homes sold in November; 3.64 percent above November 2024 but -6.34 percent below October 2025, Maine's historic high. The MSP indicates that half of the homes were sold for more and half sold for less. Sales decreased 11.59 percent; 1,160 homes were sold in November 2025 compared to 1,312 homes during November 2024.

"We're seeing the impact of the federal government shutdown in these home sale statistics," says Jeff Harris, 2025 President of the Maine Association of REALTORS® and Broker affiliated with Harris Real Estate in Farmington. "During the 43-day shutdown of October and November, mortgage loans through the Federal Housing Administration, Veterans Administration, and Rural Development were delayed. Mortgage loans needing flood insurance were also stalled.

"In addition to the disruption for some mortgage lending approvals, consumer uncertainty during this unsettled time caused a pause in regular real estate activity," adds Harris.

The National Association of Realtors reported a nationwide sales decrease of 0.8 percent comparing November 2025 to November 2024, while the national MSP rose 1.2 percent to $414,300. Regionally, November sales in the Northeast remained unchanged during the past year, and the regional MSP increased 1.1 percent to $480,800.

"We expect a steady rebound for Maine's residential real estate market into 2026," says Harris. "For-sale inventory is nine percent above last year's levels and buyers are actively searching and ready to invest in their communities through homeownership."
