GOOD COMPANY

Facts, Figures & Suggestions

Our building is a turn of the century structure originally built for the Marshall Paper Company. When this building was being built just over 100 years ago...

- The average life expectancy was 47. Probably a good thing because Social Security didn't exist yet.
- Only 8% of homes had a telephone, which means 92% of us did not have our dinners interrupted by sales calls.
- A three minute call from New York to Denver cost $11. If the price of cars would have gone down proportionally, a new car would cost $40 today.
- There were only 8,000 cars in the US and only 144 miles of paved roads, most of which were closed for repairs.
- The population of Las Vegas was 30. Gamblers Anonymous didn't exist yet.
- WD-40 and duct tape didn't exist, which leads us to our present day rule for men: You need only these two tools. If it doesn't move and should, use WD-40. If it moves and shouldn't, use the duct tape.

Other Rules & Reminders

Everyone seems normal until you get to know them...you may not want to get too chummy with your server.

If someone says that you are too good for them, believe them. If you hear our Snickers Chimichanga is too good to be true, you can believe that too.

Yes, it's true, our building is haunted. Many of our employees have heard and seen unexplainable things while working. If you hear or see anything you can't explain while you're here, just relax and order another Margarita.

Our restaurant is also filled with many secret passages and hidden rooms. If you would happen to lose a member of the party, don't bother looking for them...Jimmy Hoffa or Amelia Earhart will turn up before they do.

Most of the antiques and artifacts you see in our restaurant are originals that we have collected over the years. If you notice anything that's priceless, make us an offer.
