NIKOL KLEIN

COMPASS
REALTOR/LUXURY HOME
MARKETING EXPERT

As a former professional ballet dancer performing on stages nationwide for over a decade, Nikol Klein knows how important it is to put your best foot forward. Today, she uses the knowledge, discipline and aggressive work ethic—not to mention the creative skills—she gained during her previous career as a ballerina to aid everyone from first-time home buyers to professional athletes achieve their goals when buying or selling a property throughout the North County Ranch & Coastal areas of San Diego.

Among her strengths: a wealth of marketing expertise including her ability to convey a message on camera through video marketing, professionalism and fierce negotiating skills, as well as her notable ability to match hard to sell properties with the perfect buyer.

“I thrive on a challenge. The focus, determination, and attention to detail that I learned from an early age as a professional ballerina literally keeps me on my toes and helps me come up with creative solutions at critical moments in transactions.”

Nikol is passionate about sharing her success roadmap with those who are eager to learn and leads an enthusiastic team of agents at Compass. “Being a positive role model for my team as well as up and coming agents is my mission. Through mentoring others, it’s crazy how much more I’ve learned about myself and my own business. Being able to offer my perspective on the business and help others, It’s the ultimate reward.”
