5. Audit Presentation

Ken Anderson presented the audit report, noting that the report was good overall and all figures had been verified. He stated the City of Hamlet carries no debt, which he attributed to strong budgeting practices. He further reported that the property tax collection rate – excluding vehicle taxes – was 94.51% as of June 30, 2025. This is a one-year collection, but the City continues to collect over a 10-year period. The life of the tax levy is somewhere over 99%.

He gave key updates:

- The City received an unmodified opinion on the June 30, 2025, Financial Statements which is considered a favorable audit outcome.
- For the General Fund Balance, the current year expenditures exceeded revenues by $345,509.00.
- For the Enterprise Fund Balance, the current year revenues exceeded expenditures by $107,612.00.
- The City had no budget over-expenditures.
- The City was subject to a single audit during the audit. American Rescue Plan Act Funds were expended within three different funds this year. The ARPA Fund, Water System Improvements Capital Project, and the Stormwater System AIA Capital Project, totaling $1,281,991.00. He stated no compliance issues were identified.
- The Audit Report was submitted to the Local Government Commission and was accepted.
- One new announcement is for this year; we had to start accruing sick leave.

Mayor Pro-Tem Covington asked whether Mr. Anderson had ever encountered a situation in which city funds were misappropriated.

Mr. Anderson shared that in his 20 years auditing the City of Hamlet, he had encountered one instance many years ago when a Senior Center employee used a City credit card for personal purchases. The issue was discovered, and the employee was terminated.

Mayor Pro-Tem Covington asked whether adequate checks and balances are in place within the City.

Mr. Anderson confirmed that checks and balances are in place and are essential to preventing such issues.

Mayor Pro-Tem Covington then asked Mr. Anderson to explain how grant funding works within a municipality.

Mr. Anderson explained that the City currently has several major grants underway. He outlined that grant-funded projects involve multiple steps, and the state remains involved throughout the process. He stated once the engineer is approved to oversee the project, they work with the state through the entire process. He emphasized that grants operate on a reimbursement basis and that no funds are provided upfront.

Mayor Pro-Tem Covington noted that accusations had been made regarding how grants and City funds were being spent and this was the reason she asked Mr. Anderson to explain the process more clearly.

Council Member Clewis asked whether any issues discovered during the audit would be reported to the state.

Mr. Anderson confirmed that any findings would indeed be reported and would need to be addressed.

Mayor Pro-Tem Covington asked if we had any findings in the audit.

Mr. Anderson stated we had a performance indicator, same as last year, regarding the aging water system. Once the new assets are in place, it should be resolved.

6. City Manager's Report

City Manager Terziu highlighted 2025 for the City of Hamlet. He stated in 11 months, the City of Hamlet executed a historic turnaround, reviving stalled infrastructure projects, stabilizing finances, strengthening public safety, modernizing internal systems, accelerating downtown revitalization, and securing unprecedented external investment.

He stated Hamlet delivered more infrastructure progress, professional system modernization, public safety stabilization, and community revitalization than had been achieved in the prior decade combined. These outcomes reflect a government focused on accountability, disciplined execution, fiscal responsibility, transparency, and long-term strategic planning. Hamlet enters 2026 with the strongest financial and operational footing in many years.

He stated the results achieved in 2025 belong to the department heads, frontline employees, first responders, operators, inspectors, administrators, maintenance crews, and every staff member who showed up daily, often under immense pressure, and refused to accept mediocrity as the standard. They are the ones who carried out the plans, answered the calls, ran the equipment, wrote the grants, enforced the codes, kept our utilities flowing, protected our neighborhoods, and served our residents.

He stated his role was to remove barriers, to restore professionalism, to empower leaders, and to strive for excellence. He wanted to give this team freedom, trust, and structure to perform at the level they always were capable of reaching.

He stated the 2026 strategic priorities focus on accelerating revenue growth, completing critical infrastructure investments, advancing public safety, and modernizing zoning to sustain long-term economic expansion.

Mary and William Snider, the owners of property located at 234 Battley Dairy Rd (Tax Map 748103139746) has filed a request to implement a conditional zoning district for the parcel from I-1 Light Industrial to CZ-25-01 Conditional Zoning District. Under this conditional zoning district, all uses under I-1 will remain permitted with the additional uses of “multifamily dwelling”, “recreational vehicle parks or campsites”, and “warehouse”. The “multifamily dwelling” refers to plans to use the front portion of the existing building as an apartment for the owner. The “RV park of campsite” use refers to plans to use the site for private temporary residences for the owner’s employees. The site will not be open to the public. The “warehouse” use is the current existing non-conforming use of the property and will act as storage for contracting work, bringing structure into conformity. Under conditional zoning districts, the planning board also has the right to set conditions upon the property such as buffering between the property and surrounding residential properties.

Assistant City Manager Webb stated the Planning Board unanimously approved this rezoning.

Lastly, we believe it is consistent with your Comprehensive Plan and Future Land Use Plan.

Casey Cranford stated that she lives directly across from the lot being considered for rezoning from Light Industrial to Small Business and is here on behalf of many neighbors who share the same concerns. She stated they are not anti-development and are not trying to hold back progress in Hamlet. She stated they support responsible growth. But are strongly oppose this specific rezoning because it places a commercial business directly in front of our homes in a way that harms our safety, property values, and quality of life. She stated her main concerns are increased crime, traffic, and their property value decreasing. If the lot must be rezoned, we ask Council to consider rezoning to residential, which is much more compatible with the surrounding homes and safer for our families. She stated we love our neighborhood, and we want to protect it. She urged Council to consider the real safety risks, the traffic impact, and the effect on our property values — all supported by Hamlet's own crime and housing data. She thanked Council for listening and for their service to our community. She stated we are happy to meet, answer questions, or walk the site with any Council Members.

He inferred that Council Member Stuart had been absent on purpose in light of the issues involving Esco Latimer and the Planning Board.
