

WHAT IS HISTORICAL TRAUMA?

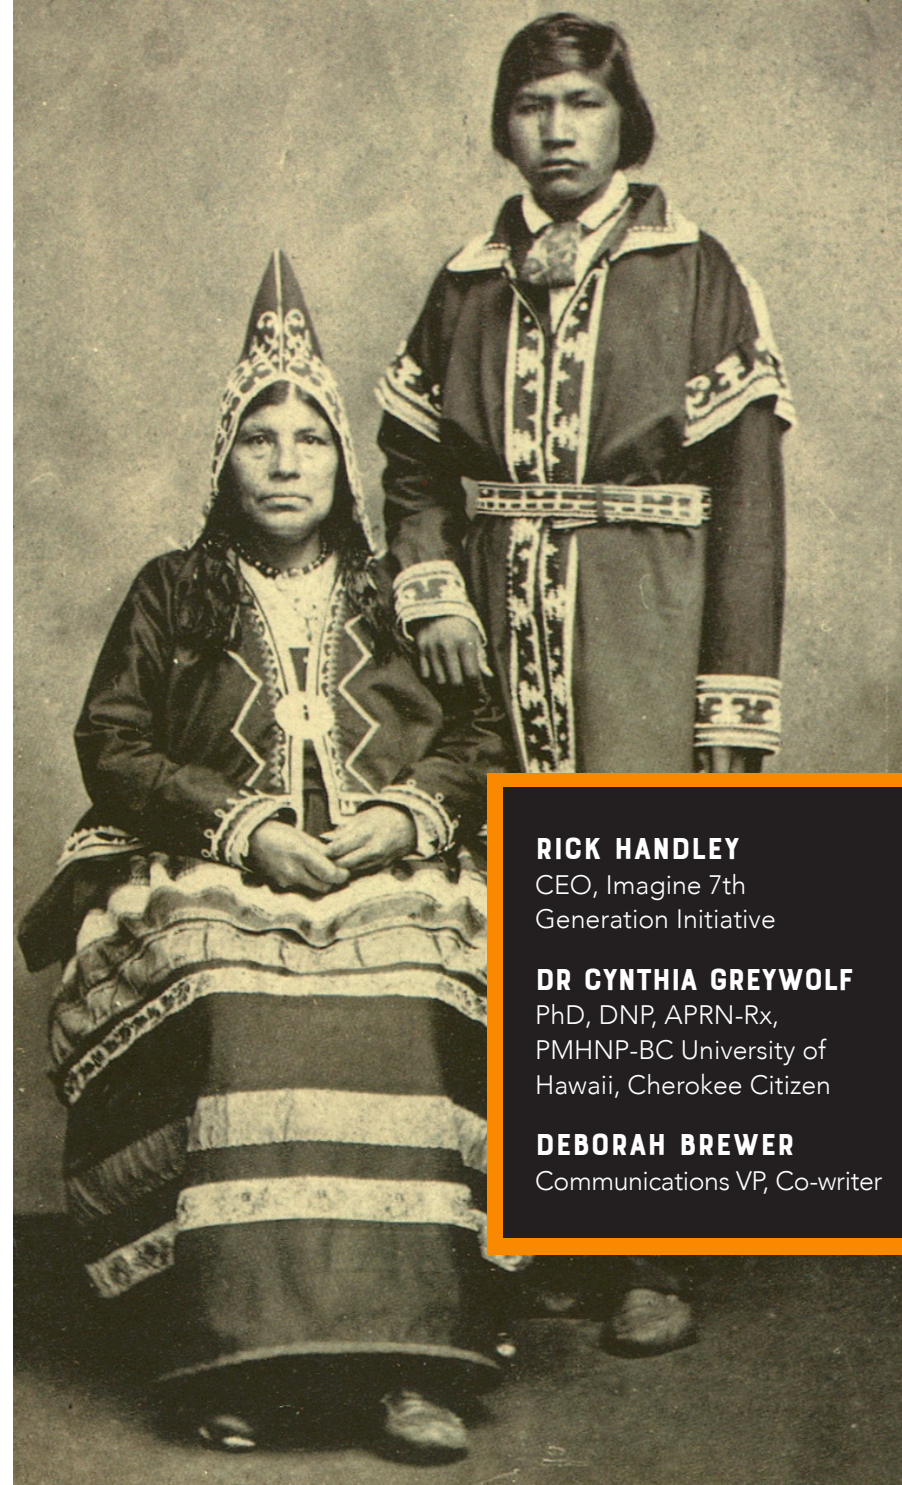

Historical Trauma is the accumulative emotional and psychological pain over an individual's lifespan and across generations, as the result of massive group trauma – such as racial discrimination, slavery genocide and ecocide. Historical trauma can have varied effects on individuals and populations, including depression, high mortality, alcohol abuse, child abuse and domestic violence. Historical trauma examples have been extensively researched among Lakota and other Native American populations, Holocaust survivors and descendants. The sites at Fort Wayne, Delray and Zug Island hold hundreds of years of historical trauma locked inside them – the extent of which is now being uncovered, in order for the healing and revitalization process to begin.

THE BROKEN FORT WAYNE TREATY THAT LED TO WAR - ADJACENT TO ZUG ISLAND

EARLY INNOVATION & PARTNERSHIPS

- Completion of the City of Detroit's Gordie Howe International Bridge adjacent to Delray, Fort Wayne and Zug Island; planned for completion in September 2025
- Ford Motor revitalizing the former Detroit Train Station as new HQ of Ford Electric Vehicles; construction of the "Blue Oval City" Plant in Tennessee and Twin Battery Plants in Kentucky
- On November 29, 2023, NASDAQ announced the launch of the new trading platform technology that securely digitizes the issuance, settlement and custody of carbon credits; the technology is expected to be a $3 trillion market in 10 years
- The Veterans Resource Group is proud to support the Imagine 7th Generation Initiative; the partnership underscores the significance of veterans and aims to honor veterans with Historic Fort Wayne & Delray revitalizations

RICK HANDLEY

CEO, Imagine 7th
Generation Initiative

DR CYNTHIA GREYWOLF

PhD, DNP, APRN-Rx,
PMHNP-BC University of
Hawaii, Cherokee Citizen

DEBORAH BREWER

Communications VP, Co-writer