About Archit (CTO)

I spent most of my childhood in New Delhi, India, where I developed a passion for technology and building things.

In 2016, I moved to Victoria to study Computer Science at UVic, where I met Andrew in classes, and discovered that we shared a strong determination to learn and develop software, as well as a deep care for the ocean.

During our second year of university (7 years ago), we set a schedule to meet each week day for 1 hour to learn and develop software apps and systems together.
