

Full biography

Neila Mezghani - Professor, Université TÉLUQ

Neila Mezghani's interest is in the analysis and classification of biomedical engineering data and the development of tools based on artificial intelligence methods for the development of decision support systems.

She is an associate professor at the École de technologie supérieure (ÉTS) and the National Institute for Scientific Research (INRS-EMT).

She is also a researcher at the LICEF research center, a researcher at the CHUM research center and a member of the imaging and orthopedic research laboratory (LIO).