Welcome to the 2018 edition of our Commitment to Quality.
Or perhaps I should phrase it as a dedication to a type and kind, and to old school breeding philosophies that should have never went out of style.

As a snot nosed kid learning the basics of the commercial cattle world, Alfred Meeks (Upstream Ranch) made two statements that have stuck with me a lifetime.
"Pounds pay, and people pay for pounds" and "It's far cheaper to breed it in than it is to feed it on." Those words were spot on 40 years ago, and they are just as true today. Back in the day, we had to look at in-herd performance within the contemporary group, actually look at an animal in terms of shape and structure and actual performance, and rock on down the road with the ones that proved themselves to be better based on simple measures. Given the trends and the confusion and the biases of flawed data sets, I'm more convinced than ever that commercial cattlemen need to take a step back and start doing their homework old school and get back to embracing the tried and true methods that your dads and grand dads used back in the day, and get back to focusing on the basics. My program is founded on old school basics. I don't chase fads, I chase rib shape, top shape, and structure, and some diversity in frame size for different customer bases and preferences.

I've never chased the CED model cattle. They're generally frail, fine made, harder doing, and are proving to have inadequate pelvic area with uncommon regularity.

Talk to any cattle feeder. These types of cattle are only profitable when a feeder can purchase them cheap enough because they already know that they aren't going to gain and convert. Why go there?? Yes, heifer bulls are a necessity. After that, there's a reason they are called cow bulls.....and that reason is dollars in your pocket.

I've never chased marbling. When did we-as a breed-wake up and suddenly become short on marbling?? All kinds of magazines were touting that 85% of the cattle fed last year graded choice. Gary Fike would be happy to tell you that he has the data to back up the claim that Red Angus hit choice at a 90% clip. So why chase one trait at the expense of fertility and fleshing ability?

Why do I bull breed instead of comprehensive AI?? Is it worth anything to you knowing your herdsire was sired by a bull that survived a multi-sire pasture in the heat, the flies, didn't get footrot, didn't wreck himself, and fleshed back up for the winter?? To me it's priceless.

As for the bulls this year, it's bred into them. They were weaned the 10th of October, kicked back out to aftergrass the 14th, weather finally cooled down and they went into the development pen November 1st, and they have not looked back all winter. By far and away the deepest, stoutest set of bulls I've ever brought to town.

Pre-sale inspections are always welcome and encouraged. I'm not afraid or ashamed to show you any of their mamas.

Hope to see you March 5th in Bassett.

Brad

- Face Off continues to be a solid sire, no matter how he's plugged in. The calves this year are a bit bigger set as he was washed across a larger framed set of cows. His first daughters did a remarkable job in a drought last year and his second set is doing a tremendous job with their Tactic babies.

- Maximum 165B continues to do what he does. He moderates frame, adds tremendous muscle, udder quality and a flawless structure.

- 254B was the second target in the 2015 SSS sale. From my first trip north to go through the SSS program, the #1 cow for me was 612P. Now in the age of political correctness, not many breeders are brave enough to tightly line-breed anything. Already knowing what his sire, 639X could do, and having him stacked on his half sister 3425, I was pretty confident what the females out of this guy were going to be. The first crop of 254 daughters is already making a solid impression. They're soft, deep made, bold sprung, beautiful uddered females.

- From my earliest ventures north, I fell in love with a bull called Flying K Max 159Y. Since semen wasn't available on daddy, the only option was to buy a son, so Hank the Tank became target #3 in 2015. The combination of the shape, structure, muscle, feet and udders I knew were stacked in his sire crossed with a dam who topped the Chickadee dispersal made this little meatwagon irresistible to me. If you like frame 4.5 to 5.2 cattle that are wide deep and packed with muscle and maternal, check his sons out.

Commercial Red Angus Heifers

It's heart warming every year to see the interest in the commercial female portion of the sale. Calls so far are ranging from North Carolina to North Dakota to Texas and points in between, and on behalf of myself and all of the customer/consignors, we'd like to thank you all in advance for the calls and emails and messages of interest in this offering.

As always, we do everything within our ability to ensure a viable set of heifers. They all will be bangs tagged and palpated by each producer's vet, they all will be in town Saturday morning before the sale to be sized, sorted, and penned as uniform and consistent as we can make them...and have them filled back up on Sunday for those who are unable to attend the sale on Monday. All groups of heifers will be offered 5 or more to accommodate everyone's needs. Feel free to call myself, Shane Kaczor, Terry Cone, or any of the individual producers to discuss the offering this year. They are all 100% home raised, reputation quality heifers from some of the top commercial programs in the Sandhills of Nebraska.

As a side note, for anyone needing to buy some time until you're ready at home, give myself or Terry a call and we can help assist with arrangements that will work for you...feeding, synchronizing, breeding...we're happy to accommodate your needs.

And by all means, contact me next fall if you need any help in remarketing bred females. There is always someone looking for a set of quality bred heifers.

Terry Cone 308.750.1681
Shane Kaczor 402.376.7011

The offering this year includes:

120 head of high performance heifers from Jim & Scott Boettcher, Atkinson, NE, 402.925.2238 or 402.925.2503.

There will be a solid potload out of the middle and a short load of larger framed, higher performing heifers in this consignment.

80 head from Arrowsmith Red Angus, Bassett, NE, 402.684.2539 or 402.760.0307.

A short load of moderate reds, a trailer load of larger reds and blacks and a trailer load of baldies.

40 head of reputation heifers from Neil and Mary Ammon, Newport, NE, 402.244.5313.

Neils needs no introduction to this, nor do his heifers. He brings great ones every year.

40 head of straight reds from Glen May, Bassett, NE, 402.684.3744.

These heifers may be a tick greener, but they do not lack genetic quality in any sense. He's been buying great female making bulls for years.

And last but certainly not least,

80 head of heart of the Sandhills reputation heifers from Gary and Rose McLeod, Valentine, NE, 402.376.1899.

There will be a load of right where you want them replacement females sired by Arrowsmith, Feddes and C-T Red Angus bulls out of one of the top commercial herds anywhere.

- A larger framed 254 son with extra performance and maternal strength. His birth to yearling spread is pretty impressive. The Unos have made great cows, and the 254's are sure not disappointing me.
- Retaining in-herd use semen interest.

- ♦ Take a second and a 3rd look at this calf and really analyze him. His dam has been one of my all time high producing cows and was selected by Jared Namken and Jared Dick to be flushed last summer. He spent all summer at the ET center on a bale of hay. His post weaning gain is just off the charts. Sons will be huge topped and his daughters will drag in some big calves.

- This kid has stood out from day 1. He's moderate framed, long and has rib shape and middle second to none. In the world of fake news known as EPDs, what are you going to put your faith in? A dam with a 6 Milk EPD or her 122 Weaning Weight Ratio?
- Retaining an in-herd semen interest.
