

Annie's Star Quilt Guild

October 2023 • Volume 46, Issue 4

From Your President by Peggy Arms, President

From the October meeting on, we will be meeting at Little Chico Creek Elementary.

You don't have to come in costume like these crazy teachers (I'm holding the purse), BUT I do encourage you to wear A HAT to our October meeting for a little Halloween fun!

Unless we have a quilt show, we will be in the hole for the $11,000 we have budgeted for this year's expenses! How else can we make money??? Last quilt show, of our 259 members, only 68 exhibited. Not all are judged. It is a fun way to share. We need a chairman to check on the committees. PLEASE!

Consider shadowing me this year and becoming President next year!

Sign up for the Orland holiday fair in November to sell boutique items and Opportunity Quilt tickets.

The Boutique can use more items from individuals and small groups!!!

As of mid September only 72 members had paid their dues!!! Have you??

REMEMBER WE ARE NOW MEETING AT LITTLE CHICO CREEK ELEMENTARY SCHOOL!

Scoop from the Coop

To prevent scratches from sharp talons I've begun wearing leather arm gators.

April has been released from ICU where she was healing a sore on her foot. The 'saddle' I sewed for her to allow feathers to grow in on her back (roosters mounting regularly took a toll!) did the trick!

Coop discipline is swift and strict!!! Todd was caught in the act of biting hens by the neck and literally dragging them across the farmyard!! He has received the 'death sentence'! A neighbor boy (who also raises and butchers chickens and lambs) came and got him off the roost Thursday, Sept. 14 after I got home from the ASQG Board Meeting! Now we have HAPPY HEALTHIER HENS!!

Peggy, with arm protection, and her flock

Vice President's Report

Laura Yanez, Vice President

Greetings ASQG members. Thanks to all who submitted quilt squares for Peggy. They were adorable and I know how much love went into making them.

Grace Crocker, our very own member, has graciously agreed to be our October speaker. She will be sharing art quilts. While there won't be a workshop the next day, I hope you will pepper her with your quilting questions at the meeting.

If you haven't signed up for the workshop in November, please bring your checkbook before the class fills up! The subject is walking foot quilting. So fun!

Warm quilt wishes,
Laura

Small Groups

Betty Volker

Being in a small group adds so much to your life. Sharing your art, learning new things, being challenged to learn new things, and sharing your life. Are you in a small group? Is your group open to taking in a new member? Or are you a new and returning member and want to find new friends in your fellow quilters. I'm willing to help coordinate the forming of a new group or help find an established group that is willing to take a new member. Please contact me if you're interested.

Workshops

by Teresa Yocum, Workshop Chair

Please join us and learn a new skill or improve your technique.

October workshop with Karla Alexander has been canceled by the speaker.

November Workshop

Daisy Woodhams: Learn machine quilting on your machine

Friday, November 3, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Honey Run Classroom, $40

Daisy writes: For quilting, I enjoy ruler work and stencils. I do some free-motion quilting, but it is still an adventure! Of course, I still like using a walking foot. I enjoy making pieced quilts using my own patterns, or I choose patterns where I can learn new techniques or hone my skills. These quilts are usually donated to the community. But, I really enjoy creating art quilts which usually involve appliqué combined with piecing, paints, and inks.

December: No workshop

A Message From Past Quilt Show Chairs

by Chris Gullick

As most of you have heard, we are again without a chairperson for our 2024 Quilt Show — a most disappointing place to be — with just over a year before the next show. As one of the co-chairs for our last show, I want to encourage two or three of you to step up as a team and organize this for the Guild. We have a lot of members who have already agreed to take on various committees, and the key responsibility of the chairperson is to just make sure everyone is doing what they agreed to do. You do not have to do everything yourself! Sue Good, Beth Carlson, and I—the three co-chairs for the 2022 show—will be on hand to help, give advice, or chair a committee. I can act almost as a co-chair for the wonderful person who would take this on. (With the caveat that I will be away traveling several months during the next year.) All that said, at this point we are in a dire situation. If we don't have a chairperson, we can't have a quilt show. If we don't have a show, our major funding mechanism is gone and our guild will use up all funds within a couple of years: then no guild.

North Quarter and So Much More!

by Sue Good

First, a very late but very sincere thank you to everyone in the guild who volunteered to make our July gathering a success. There are many pieces, large and small, to putting on such an event. I never had to beg, whine or nag for help. In fact, I didn't even really have to ask. Guild members just stepped up to offer their ideas and help in so many ways. And we got it done! Thank you all! I truly felt supported. Your generosity of spirit made putting on this event fun. I suspect the 58 attendees would agree with me. Thank you! Thank you! Thank you!

Hayfork is hosting the North Quarter on October 28th. I bet that their guild will experience some of the same generosity of spirit. Quilters do know how to get things done.

ASQG General Meeting Minutes • Thursday, September 7, 2023

by Missie Carpenter

The meeting was called to order by President Peggy Arms at 7 p.m. Six guests were welcomed.

The minutes from the August meeting were approved. M: Grace Crocker, 2nd: Sue Good.

Old Business: Evaluating meeting places, Marsh vs. Little Chico Creek. A show of hands marked approval of the parking at Little Chico Creek Elementary.

There will be no Library tonight as our Librarian is absent, due to other commitments, plus our change of venue kept us from having access to the Library.

The Durham Harvest Festival is Sept. 17. We will be having a booth there with our Opportunity Quilt as well as items from the Boutique. We need a volunteer for Sunday, Sept. 17 from 12-2 p.m. to work.

We still need items to sell at the Boutique as well as a chair to head up the Boutique. Sue Good mentioned her small group is having a sew day to make Boutique items and suggested other small groups might want to do same.

We are also signed up to work the Orland Craft Fair in Nov. (week-end after Thanksgiving) and need volunteers to work there.

Pick up Opportunity Quilt ticket packets from Kristy Thomas. She handed them out to tonight's meeting attendees.

The mini OQ (prize for selling the most tickets) is currently being made by the Applique' Group. It will be on display at the Jan. meeting.

Challenge Quilts, "Doorways" (20" x 30"), are due at the Nov. meeting, tentatively to be shown at the Dec. meeting.

At the Oct. meeting, in honor of Halloween and dressing up, it is suggested we get into the spirit of the holiday and wear some sort of hat (purely voluntary, but let's have some fun!).

Newsletter Chair, Carla Resnick, asked if anyone didn't receive their newsletter, to see her so she can make sure she has your correct email.

BOM: Judy Riley and Carol Golden. Kaffe fabric packets, $2.

Newsletter Block: Frances Perata, Karen Crabtree, Nancy McCartney. B/W turn in tonight; pumpkins for Oct.

Frances P. also is in charge of place mats for Meals on Wheels and I Spy for C.S. Kits are available for both.

Our new front entry hostesses were introduced: Betty Dimmitt and Judy Noble.

Visiting Opportunity Quilt, from Roseville, "Colorful Tropics", to be raffled at their show, Nov. 10-11.

Community Service/Kathy Thomas announced that we donated 40 quilts to the fire survivors in Maui.

This has depleted our stock of finished quilts. There are tops available to be quilted, labels to attach.

Need workers for monthly sew days; the last one was very successful.

VP Laura Yanez presented Pres. Peggy Arms with President's blocks, made by members in appreciation for her past year's service. The theme was chickens, as Peggy is our own "chicken lady". She was thanked and applauded for agreeing to a second term!

VP Laura Yanez introduced our speaker, Merry Kaywood, from Orland.

10 minute break after the speaker.
