

Redheads Unite! The Book Project

End Bullying. Fight Human Trafficking.

Congratulations! We want you to be published in a book! We've recruited volunteers worldwide to photograph redheads wherever they can find willing participants. Men, women and children* are encouraged to participate. All proceeds from the published book will go to help rescue children worldwide from Human Trafficking. We want and need people from all walks of life. Our youngest participant so far is only two while our oldest is 74 with brilliant red mixed in her shining silver hair. If you have an interesting story you'd like to submit for the book (very few will be published) please feel free to email them to info@redheadsunite.org and tell us why you wanted to get involved.

*Parents must be present for any shoot involving a subject under 18 years old. Model release forms are required for participants. All submissions are due September 1st 2018 at 11:59pm. More information on The Book Project can be found at RedheadsUnite.org/the-book-project.
