

Secret Desires

Words & Music
By Johnny Reed

You've got a secret life, you got secret desires
You know you're never want to let go once you've touched the fire
Well you live in certain circles, secret places, special times
Your thoughts spin freely, in your secret mind

Are you the master, or are you the slave
Or is there a poser, and have you been betrayed
You've got secret desires

You're not a hostage tonight, you've signed a deal
If Freuds' alive on Folsom, have you been revealed
You've got whips and chains, they bring you Joy and Pain
You said it hurts so bad, but please do it again

Are you the master, or are you the slave yeah
you could be a poser, and have you been betrayed
You've got secret desires, you've got a secret life

Who are these people you see, you know it's you and me
You know it could be anyone,
They could be doctors, lawyers, fathers, wives
Just seeing life through a different set of eyes
Yeah it could be anyone of us
It's someone searching for love, in this crazy world

You wear masks and leather, do they accent the pleasure
Nobody's gonna know you, for an hour or two
Those secret desires, burn like eternal fire
And no one's ever gonna stop you, you're gonna do it again and again

Are you the master, or are you the slave
Or is there a poser, and have you been betrayed

You've got secret desires, yeah, you've got a secret life
No one's gonna stop you, you've got secret desires
Nobody's gonna change you, you've got a secret life
Yeah you know you've got secret desires
I know your secret, but I'm not gonna tell

