Chad's Chatter

A Father Knows Best When a Father Knows JESUS

What makes a father? What shapes a father's influence on others around them, especially their children? Of course, a father's own past helps shape how they, in turn, influence those around them. Sometimes, if someone had a bad childhood, they may strive to be different and "course correct" as they become adults. Either way, our own past helps to make us what we are today. Our own past is a valuable part of how anyone, but today specifically, fathers, lead their lives and help shape their children and others around them.

So, what about it? What can I do with this information, you might be asking yourself. Why does it matter? The point is, if we're going to say "mother knows best" or "father knows best" or "anyone knows best," what are we basing what is best? Everyone's opinion can't be the best, so what is the best thing to know and how does anyone get this knowledge?

There is, I believe, an increasing problem in today's culture. People all think we can all have a truth, and, therefore, all be valid. "You have your truth and I'll have mine." Well, it does not and cannot work that way. Just because I believe something doesn't make it true. If I believe I am a green dinosaur and I was born on a planet called Blipton, that doesn't change the fact that I'M WRONG. And, that's okay! Wouldn't you rather be corrected and learn to be right than to live your life being wrong? How about, instead of your truth and my truth, we look to the only One who never had a beginning and will never have an end and made us all? The Alpha and Omega. The Beginning and End, and ask Him what truth is! In John 14:6 JESUS says, "I am the way, and the truth, and the life. No one comes to the Father except through Me." He is the best! Don't you want to know Him?
