of twin boom layout. Two jet units were fitted forming the landing ends of the two extremely slim tail supporting booms. There was a long well streamlined central cupola extending well in front of the twin jet units. The wings were tapered and small twin fins and rudders form the tail unit. This type may be the Fairey Weaver.

Note 2 An unidentified 4 motor A/C following very closely the lines of the Warwick except there were 4 motors instead of 2. The motors were quiet and seemed radials probably Hercules or Centaurus. This type may be the Vickers Armstrong Windsor.

Note. 2 Types of gliders were seen being towed by the Tutor.

Farnborough

Type a. has wings of greater span, they are straight taper with square tips. This glider is painted white on all surfaces but has 4 black letters, 2 in front and 2 behind the © on sides of fuselage.

Type b) has curved trailing edge to wing, the chord being greatest half way along the wing. The colouring is blue and yellow for the under surfaces of the wings.

Note. One of the Junkers 52 had British civil Registration letters on top sides of wings. These appeared to be G-AKUA or G-AKGA but they could not be confirmed.
