COMMUNITY

COLLABORATION

POST 16

Everyday Lessons partners with community providers to deliver workshops, exploratory pathways, and entry-level opportunities for post-16 learners.

Programmes provide a supportive, low-pressure environment to help learners re-engage, build confidence, and develop essential life and work-ready skills.

A wide range of funded activities are available.

For learners not ready for the exploratory pathway, the Flexzee Programme will be a better entry option, offering personalised support for learners with EBSA or SEMH needs.

ENTRY QUALIFICATION

We offer a variety of entry-level, regulated qualifications, developed in partnership with local community organisations to address specific local needs.

Learners are supported to take ownership of their learning journey through guided learning hours (GLH) while developing transferable skills via a blended learning approach.

Options include qualifications such as the LI Award in Progression and the LI Award in Work Skills, among others, where learners demonstrate dedication by creating portfolios and being accountable for their progress.

IMPACT

Our community collaboration model creates a learner-centred support network that promotes inclusion, engagement, and belonging.

Learners build confidence, resilience, and aspirations while accessing meaningful opportunities that broaden their experiences.

This leads to positive progression routes, including further education, employment, and vocational pathways.

PROGRESSION

Learner progression includes re-engagement in mainstream education, further education, employment or self-employment, vocational qualifications, volunteering, and work experience, while also finding joy in everyday life and education.
