About Us

Gameplan Apparel is a UK-based streetwear brand that blends bold, sporty aesthetics with urban fashion. The brand focuses on creating stylish and functional pieces, often featuring graphic-heavy designs and a mix of street culture with athletic influences.

History

Gameplan Apparel is a brand founded by Philip Asante in 2019. From humble beginnings, Philip started the brand as a consumer of high-street fashion and decided to create a label that reflected his personal style and principles. He envisioned a brand that not only looked good but also conveyed the idea that success requires careful planning and a well-thought-out strategy.

Struggling to come up with the perfect name for his clothing brand, Philip drafted a detailed business plan and coined the name "Gameplan Apparel." He felt this name best represented the trials and triumphs of creating a strong brand and a solid business plan. It encapsulates the journey of entrepreneurship — from conceptualization to execution — and the importance of planning ahead to achieve success. but also conveyed the idea that success requires careful planning and a well-thought-out strategy.
