

A Testimony from Vince Nelson

I was testifying to my best friend about the idea that we have a charge/ commandment from God to be happy; that it's ok to remove things and people from our lives that no longer bring us joy, and to replace them with happier pursuits.

I remember a time when I prayed for a group such as ours and was led to your group and I reached out and learned more. Best decision I've ever made in my life. I remember when I first joined the class and was so shy and "little" in my own site.

Working with you over these years has changed my life.

Being able to tap into Spirit, feeling led to connections with my ancestors, spirit guides as well as Brother Jesus, Mother Mary and a host of angels with the Holy Spirit, has set into motion my passion to heal and love others.

It is my thought that when given such gifts, we can't afford to be unhappy, anxious or depressed. Not with the God I serve. There is a great deal of heavy lifting, of balancing my own life, to minister to those I am led to work with.

Your messages have been spot on and the more I release control, power or stubbornness I get so much better, I heal quicker. I feel lighter and led by Spirit. Truly learning from your classes and the messages given to me freely by your channel has brought so much happiness into my life. I meditate in gratitude everyday for about an hour.

Through your teachings, guidance and compassion I have been able to easily manifest things needed for my life. My living requirements, the job I have and the car I'm driving. All of this time believing in your words and messages given. I was able to further secure my faith and improve my life. Your words matter are God-sent and are heeded.

I want to say Thank You and say that I love you, the ministry and classes. You are a special mentor to me and I'm inspired every time I am in class or see you. I would love to book a one on one session with you as soon as my money isn't tied up. I am at a precipice in my life and would love guidance and/or confirmation I'm at the right stage in my life. Thank you as always for your kindness and letting me attend classes.
