

Ludwig Rudolph is introducing an astrological example (case) in the last paragraph of page 13 without displaying the astrological results. He writes (first the original German text followed by the English translation):

Weibl. Geburt 24. 2. 1939 ca. 4h15 MEZ a.m. 53°39' + Br. 9°49' ö. Lg.

Tod 3. 11. 1957 gegen 4h15 MEZ a.m., 53°45' + Br., 9°39' ö. Lg.

Es handelt sich um einen plötzlichen Tod durch Unfall (Schädelbruch). Die Geborene war mit einem Jugendfreund und seiner Braut vergnügt zusammen gewesen. Alle drei fuhren auf einem Motorroller die Braut des Freundes heil nach Hause. Als dann der Freund die Geborene als Soziefahrerin heim brachte, fuhr er plötzlich auf hell erleuchteter Straße gegen eine Mauer, wurde selbst schwer verletzt, während die Geborene sofort tot war.

Um aus dem Lexikon die Formeln zu finden, bilden wir zunächst die Kernstichworte aus dem Ereignis:

Tod, plötzlicher Tod, plötzlicher Tod in der Allgemeinheit, Tod bei Vergnügungen, Tod durch Unfall, Tod durch Auto, Tod durch Gewalt.

Damit entnehmen wir dem Lexikon die Planetenbilder, deren Achsen wir im Geburts-Horoskop untersuchen.

Wer bei dieser Untersuchung jene Achse erkennt, welche die Mehrzahl der Formeln aus den Kernstichworten enthält, darf annehmen, eine Hauptachse gefunden zu haben. Ob das so ist, prüft er dadurch, daß er diese Achse um den Sonnenbogen und auch um den doppelten Sonnenbogen verschiebt, wobei er dann darauf achtet, welche persönlichen Punkte und bedeutsamen Bilder dabei getroffen werden.

Wir stellten oben heraus, daß solche Planetenbilder besonders bedeutsam sind, bei denen der eine Planet die Achse der beiden anderen ist. Wer solche findet, zeichne ihre Achsen in das Horoskop, sie helfen, die bedeutsame Achse für ein so schweres Ereignis, wie dieses, zu finden. Man wird selbst bei solchen Untersuchungen bald erkannt haben, daß trigonale Verhältnisse dabei keinen Schutz gewähren.

Wenn man bei einer solchen selber überzeugt ist, das Planetenbild herausgestellt zu haben, welches das Ereignis durch die Natur der beteiligten Faktoren so anspricht, wie es erlebt wurde, d. h. in unserem Falle: den Tod, den plötzlichen Tod in der Allgemeinheit, durch Verletzung, Unfall, Maschine und im Zusammenhang mit Vergnügen und Geselligkeit zeigt, darf man diese Untersuchung als erfolgreich abgeschlossen betrachten.

Man wird dann davon erfüllt sein, einiges gelernt zu haben, was in dieser Lebensechtheit nur Alfred Witte lehrte.

Female Nativity, 02/24/1939 approximately 04:15 a.m. CET, Rellingen, near Hamburg, Germany

Death, 11/03/1957 around 04:15 a.m. CET, Elmshorn, Germany

It is a sudden death by accident (skull fracture). The native had happily spent time together with a childhood friend and his bride. All three rode on a (motorized) scooter the friend's bride home safely.

When then the friend brought the native as a passenger in home, he suddenly drove on a brightly lit road against a wall. He himself was seriously injured, while the native was immediately dead.

To find the formulas from the Lexicon first we form the core keywords from the event.

Death, sudden death, sudden death in the general public, death during amusements, death by accident, death by car, death by violence.

So, we take from the Lexicon those planetary pictures whose axes we study in the birth chart.

(Those) who recognize the axis in this investigation which contains the majority of the formulas of the core keywords can assume to have (successfully) found the main axis. Whether that's the case he checks it by moving this axis with the solar arc and also (with) the double solar arc whereby he then pays attention which personal points and meaningful planetary pictures are hit.

We emphasized above that such planetary pictures are particularly significant where one planet is the axis of the other one. Whoever finds them, put their axes in the horoscope. They help to find the significant axis for such a heavy event as this one. One will soon have realized even in such investigations that trigons (literally translated: trigonal circumstances) do not provide protections.

If, in such an investigation, one is convinced that one has singled out the planetary picture, which by the nature of the factors involved, addresses the event as it was experienced, that is, in our case: death, sudden death in the general public, by injury, accident, machine and in connection with pleasure and socializing, one may consider this investigation successfully completed.

One will then be satisfied with heaving learned something that only Alfred Witte taught in this authenticity.
