FLORIDA WIND BAND

Our History

Wind bands are an integral part of American history and culture. From circuses to military ceremonies, concerts in the park to concerts in Carnegie Hall, bands have provided Americans with entertainment and artistic enlightenment for generations. From the great touring professional bands of the 19th and early 20th centuries to the outstanding high school and collegiate ensembles that have entertained the country since World War II, wind bands have long captured the hearts and imaginations of audiences across the county.

Outside of our country's wonderful military bands, there are currently no full-time professional wind bands in America, so when John Carmichael moved to Tampa in 2007 to become the Director of Bands at the University of South Florida, he came with the goal of rectifying that situation. He believed that the Tampa Bay area has the unique ability to support such an ensemble, and he spent the next 11 years until his retirement working tirelessly to bring this dream to fruition.

The Florida Wind Band is now Tampa's premier wind band, bringing entertaining and inspiring performances of high-quality music to our vibrant and engaging community. The ensemble is comprised of professional musicians which include K-12 teachers, college professors, and full-time performers who have a deep love for the eclectic repertoire ranging from Bach to contemporary composers. The band is led by USF's Director of Bands, Matthew McCutchen, who is dedicated to programming music that will make audiences laugh, cry, dance, and wonder.

Dr. McCutchen and the Florida Wind Band, Inc. founded Bay Area Youth (BAY) Winds in 2011 as Tampa Bay's premier outlet for middle and high school students to receive exceptional performance opportunities for intermediate and advanced musicians. Student participants come from all over the Tampa Bay Area including Hillsborough, Pasco, Pinellas, Polk, and Hernando counties. A few years later with the excitement and opportunities provided through BAY Winds, Summer Breeze was founded and meets annually in the month of June to provide an opportunity for BAY Winds students and alumni to rehearse and perform in the summer. Summer Breeze regularly welcomes 60-80 musicians back to their joy of playing an instrument in a relaxed and enjoyable setting. This opportunity offers musicians the unique ability to rekindle old friendships, dust off their instruments, be surprised at how many fingerings they remember, and return to the joy of making music purely for fun, culminating in a joint performance with the Florida Wind Band on an annual Independence Day concert at Carrollwood Village Park.

Since its debut in 2008, the Florida Wind Band has entertained thousands of people, including prestigious performances for the American Bandmaster's Association, the College Band Directors National Association, and the Florida Music Educators Association Convention. We look forward to many more years of inspired music-making and hope you will join us in these endeavors.

Our Musicians

The Florida Wind Band is comprised of many of the finest wind and percussion musicians in the Tampa Bay Area. All of our members have music degrees, and the vast majority of our musicians work as full time musicians either teaching in the area's public and private schools and universities, or as freelance performers throughout Florida. The musicians volunteer their time and accomplished talents to our organization for their love of wind band repertoire, live performances, and the camaraderie that comes along with making music at the highest level for our community.

About Our Conductors

MATTHEW MCCUTCHEN, ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

Matthew McCutchen has served on the University of South Florida's music faculty since 2009, first as the Director of Athletic Bands for nine years and then as the Director of Bands since 2018. His responsibilities at USF include conducting the Wind Ensemble, teaching graduate and undergraduate courses in Conducting, Wind Band Literature, and Music Education, and serving as the Assistant Director of the School of Music.

McCutchen earned a Ph.D. in Music Education with an emphasis in Instrumental Conducting from Florida State University, a Master of Music degree in Conducting from Virginia Commonwealth University, and a Bachelor of Music Education degree from Furman University. Before coming to USF, he taught middle school in Georgia, high school in Virginia, and served as an adjunct instructor at Virginia Commonwealth

University.

McCutchen is active as a guest conductor and clinician. He is the Artistic Director and Conductor of the Florida Wind Band and the Founder and Conductor of the Bay Area Youth (BAY) Winds, which features many of the finest high school musicians throughout the Tampa Area. He has been published in the National Band Association's Journal, the 7th and 8th editions, and the "Solos with Wind Band Accompaniment" editions of the Teaching Music Through Performance in Band series, The Instrumentalist, VMEA Notes, and The Florida Music Director. He is the Chair of the National Band Association's William D. Revelli Memorial Band Composition Contest Committee, is a member of the John Philip Sousa Foundation Legion of Honor Selection Committee, and holds memberships in numerous national and statewide professional organizations. In 2022 he was elected to the prestigious American Bandmasters Association.

Phi Beta Mu

Phi Beta Mu was established as a result of the respect and appreciation our founder, Colonel Earl D. Irons, had for his professional associates, school band directors. Col. Irons was Bandmaster and Chairman of Fine Arts at the University of Texas at Arlington, then known as North Texas Agricultural College. He envisioned an organization that would honor outstanding band directors whose dedication and devotion to their profession was paramount, but whose admirable traits and services were not necessarily known nationally. Col. Irons sought to honor deserving individuals on a state level similar to the manner in which the American Bandmasters Association had honored him in 1936.

FRANK HOWES

Frank R. Howes retired from Polk County Schools in June of 2010. His varied professional background includes positions as band director, principal of the Harrison School for the Arts in Lakeland, Florida, director of magnet, choice and charter schools and as the Senior Director of Fine Arts for Polk County Schools.

Mr. Howes completed his undergraduate work in music education at the University of Florida and received his masters degree in educational leadership from the University of South Florida. Mr. Howes has directed the Florida All-State middle school band, as well as band camps at Florida State University, the University of Florida and Florida Southern College. In December 2011, Mr. Howes served as conductor/clinician for the Tri-State Band Festival at Florida State University.

Mr. Howes has served as an adjudicator, clinician and conductor for the FBA and various All-County band activities. Additional service opportunities included FBA as a district chairman, middle/junior high school representative and president. Mr. Howes is a past president of FMEA. Mr. Howes was recognized in 1987 by the University of Florida with the initial College of Fine Arts Alumni Achievement Award for his work in music education. He has received recognition from the John Philip Sousa Foundation, earning the Sudler Cup; the National Band Association for the Citation of Excellence award; Phi Beta Mu as Outstanding Band Director; induction into the FBA Hall of Fame in 2003; June of 2010 the Florida Alliance for Arts Education ACE of Hearts award for leadership in fine arts education and in January of 2012 he was inducted into the FMEA Hall of Fame. In April of 2009, under Mr. Howes' leadership, the Polk County School Board was recognized by the Kennedy Center and the National School Board Association as among the finest school districts in the nation for demonstrating exemplary fine arts programs in a public school district. Upon Mr. Howes' retirement, the Polk County School Board named the theatre complex at the new Davenport School of the Arts facilities in his honor.

In October of 2018, Mr. Howes was awarded the initial Pride of the Sunshine award for exemplary service to the Gator Marching Band. His community service includes serving on the Board of Directors for First Step, whose sole purpose is to provide financial aid and material resources for probationary felons upon their release from incarceration. He also serves on the school advisory board for the Harrison School of the Arts.
