PART I – GENERAL

Brief History

1. The National Defence Academy (NDA) has the unique distinction of being the first institution in the world to impart joint training to officer Cadets of the Army, Navy and Air Force. The concept and genesis of NDA dates back to the period before Independence and evolved from the lessons learnt during World War II.
2. One of the major lessons learnt during the World War II was that the three Services had to be fully integrated and functional as a single strike force in order to be effective in war. Although, mooted by senior British military leaders like Lord Mountbatten and Field Marshal Auchinleck, India's far-sighted and visionary political leadership of that period gave its full support to the establishment of a tri-service training facility. Consequently, the Government of India appointed a high-powered committee in May 1945 to prepare a scheme for the establishment of a Military Academy, incorporating the best practices of all such institutions world-wide to conduct Joint Training of the future officers for the Army, Navy and Air Force.
3. Based on the report submitted by this Committee in 1946, the Indian Military Academy located at Dehradun was re-named as the Armed Forces Academy, and split into two wings: the "Inter-Services Wing" (later known as Joint Services Wing) and the "Military Wing". It was Inter-Services Wing where combined training for the three Services commenced in January 1949. This was subsequently re-located from Dehradun to Khadakwasla and known as the National Defence Academy.
4. After an extended country-wide reconnaissance for a site, which would provide adequate space and potential for creating training facilities for all the three Services, Khadakwasla was chosen as the new home for the Inter-Services Wing in 1947. The location had till then, been used as a Combined Warfare School for allied troops and was therefore suitable for this purpose. The foundation stone of NDA was laid at Khadakwasla by the then Prime Minister, Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru on 06 October 1949 and the herculean task of shifting this Institution from Dehradun to Khadakwasla was successfully performed under the able supervision of the then Commandant, Maj Gen E Habibullah. NDA was formally inaugurated by the then Chief Minister of Bombay, Shri Morarji Desai on 16 January 1955. The first Passing Out Parade (POP) held at NDA was reviewed by Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru on 05 June 1955.

5. The NDA has rendered more than 70 years of distinguished service and is proud of having produced nearly 40,300 Officers for the Indian Armed Forces and nearly 970 Officers for Friendly Foreign Countries. These Officers have imbibed Academic and Military training of the highest standards, in a unique Inter-services environment. NDA alumni have been conferred with Nation's highest awards for gallantry and distinguished service, both in peace and war. NDA also holds the distinction, wherein three Cadets from the first JSW Course and three Cadets of NDA 56 Course took over the REINS, of their respective Services in the year 1991 and 2020, at the same time which is very unique and rare. NDA also holds the distinction of giving the Nation its first Chief of Defence Staff, Gen Bipin Rawat, PVSM, UYSM, AVSM, YSM, SM, VSM, ADC who laid down his life while serving the motherland on 08 December 2021. Notably, NDA has also contributed 35 Service Chiefs to the three services.

6. In addition to Service and Joint Military Training, NDA also imparts contemporary education in Engineering, Science, Military Technology, Arts and Computer Science to the Cadets. At the end of their training, Cadets receive a degree from the prestigious Jawaharlal Nehru University (JNU). While young Cadets undergo training to face the challenges of modern day warfare, they also undergo a rigorous physical and mental training regimen including a wide array of activities like Calisthenics, Drill, Swimming, Horse-Riding and numerous team and individual sporting activities. Concurrently, a Cadet's horizon is shaped and expanded through exposure to various cultural activities, hobby and adventure clubs.

7. As we move past the first two decades of the new millennium, we are sanguine that the finest among Indian youth will continue to pass out from the portals of this iconic institution for the service of the nation, and for living up to the Academy's motto 'Seva Parmo Dharma' or 'Service Before Self'.

EVOLUTION OF THE ACADEMY INSIGNIA

ORIGINAL INSIGNIA-1948

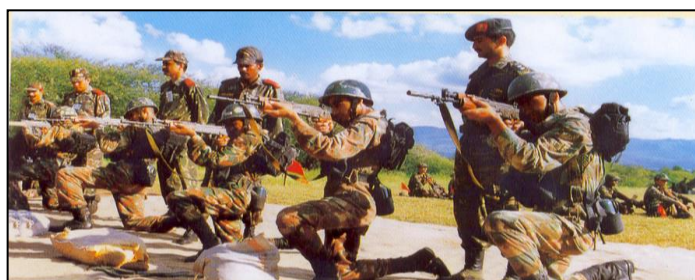

PRESENT INSIGNIA

The Academy Insignia

8. The Academy insignia of 1948 depicts its Joint Services character. This insignia was designed to develop and foster camaraderie between the three services, and underwent several changes between 1949 and 1956. The present insignia depicts the NDA Crest symbolizing the three services; the Cross Swords, the Anchor and the Himalayan Eagle surmounted by the Ashoka emblem on a maroon background. The symbols represent the Indian Army's martial valour, the stability and poise of the Indian Navy and the soaring aspirations and reach of the Indian Air Force. The Ashoka emblem is symbolic of the new Republic and depicts the pride in serving the motherland. The scroll at the base epitomises the ideal of 'Seva Parmo Dharma' or 'Service Before Self' which is derived from the concept of 'Nishkaam Karma' of the Bhagavad Gita.

Philosophy of Service & Academics Training

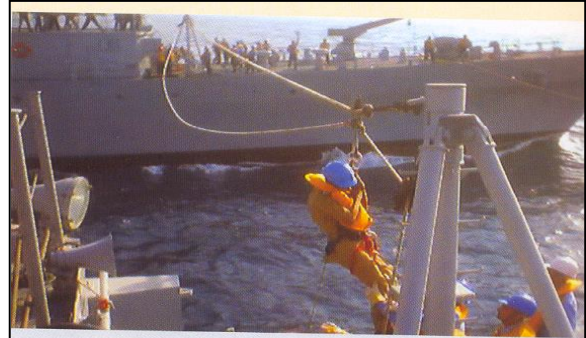

Firing for Army Cadets at the Long Range

9. At the Academy, Cadets belonging to the three services live and train together. This ensures that the Officers of the three services develop camaraderie and broad understanding of the ethos, organisation, capabilities and limitations of their own as well as their sister services. Training is focused towards imbibing Jointmanship amongst Cadets of all services, to enable them to operate as an integrated fighting force.
