The Cladianos Family Legacy

Four Generations of Nevada Hospitality

Our family's Nevada story begins with Pete Cladianos Sr., an immigrant from Zakynthos, Greece, whose entrepreneurial spirit led him to build several Nevada businesses and eventually a successful slot machine route. His work laid the foundation for a legacy that would help shape Northern Nevada.

His children—Kathryne, John, and Pete Cladianos Jr.—expanded that foundation into a major hospitality enterprise, creating the Sands Regency, which grew into the third-largest casino in Northern Nevada by the late 1980s. Their own children, including Pete Cladianos III, continued to be deeply involved in the business, carrying the family's vision forward.

Alongside their business success, the Cladianos family made lasting contributions to the community. Pete Sr. built Reno's Greek Orthodox church, named in honor of his wife. He helped establish Northern Nevada Legal Aid, providing office space and staff so the organization could begin serving the public.

In an era when many casinos were financed through organized crime, the Cladianos family broke through that barrier—proving that honest, community-focused families could build and finance major gaming enterprises. Their work helped shift Nevada gaming toward a more legitimate, responsible, and philanthropic industry.

Today Bradley and his wife Rebecca Cladianos represent the fourth generation of Nevada business owners. Whiskey Flats RV Park stands as the newest chapter in a century-long story rooted in integrity, resilience, and true Nevada hospitality.

We're proud to welcome you to our park. When you stay here, you're part of a Nevada family legacy that has served this state for over 100 years.
