Pastor Mackey will be beginning a new book study in the Library after worship. The study will begin on February 1 at about 11:15 am or so. The book the group will be looking at is entitled: Separation of Church and Hate, by John Fugelsang. It can be ordered on Amazon. Here is what the Amazon website says about the book: "A humorous yet informative guide that challenges far-right Christian fundamentalism by using Biblical scripture to expose hypocrisy and advocate for love, mercy and religious clarity." If you have any questions please talk to Pastor.

Annual Congregational Meeting

Part 2 of our Congregational Meeting will be held on February 8 right after worship. We will celebrate all of the ministries here at St. Paul.

As I reflect on the season of Lent, I am reminded of a simple, everyday task—doing the laundry. In my house, I am the one responsible for this household chore. Perhaps in your home, someone else takes on this role, or maybe you share the responsibility. For me, laundry is not just a necessity; it is a chore that I genuinely enjoy. In fact, I even take pleasure in doing my own ironing. You may wonder what does doing laundry have to do with Lent.

So, let’s think about it. Lent is the season of renewal. When we do laundry, we are doing a renewal – are we not? Lent is a time to consider, a time of turning toward something brand new. A turning toward something like developing a structured time of daily Bible reading and prayer. Maybe it is simply seeking to “be kinder in all our relationships”. In much the same way, doing laundry is an act of renewal. We take what is soiled or worn and, through the efforts of the washing machine, the soiled and worn becomes clean and fresh once again.

The beginning of Lent is on Ash Wednesday. This year that falls on February 18. The Ash Wednesday liturgy has an extended time of confession. During this time, we ask for “cleansing”. We receive a reminder that we are forgiven, and this is God’s act upon and for us. God is the “washing machine” for us. This is an act of pure grace and love.

I invite you to be a part of the Lent midweek meals and services. I invite you to consider what this Lent may look like for you as you seek to live your life as a faithful servant of Christ.

May God guide you and keep you through this Lenten journey.

Alleluia and Amen

The confirmation class enjoyed a visit to Dave and Busters last month.

Dear St. Paul Congregation:

First things first. Thank you to all who helped musically enriching our two Christmas Eve Services: Barbara Garnett and the members of the Diehl Bell Choir, the St. Paul Choir, Dr. Alex Malaimare (violin) and Dr. YooBin Lee (viola), Dr. Dan Beals (French horn), Emily and Tim Konzett (Soprano and Tenor, respectively), Katie Dowis, Alex Mackey, and Adriana Bakley (Sopranos), and Jackson Wellman on the organ! Also, thanks to Jill May for preparing the kids for the nativity play on Advent 3. Phew, that's a lot of names... please forgive me, if I forgot someone. More thanks: to Keith Wellman for filling in for me while I was in Germany and to Dr. Karen Becker for playing a beautiful guest solo on the cello during that time.

I thought it might be interesting for you to shadow me in the music selection process for a typical Sunday (in this case, the last Sunday in January, Epiphany 3).

Choral Anthem

The work I always choose furthest in advance is the choral anthem, for the simple reason that the choir needs to rehearse it. We usually have time to practice three anthems each week, so this happens around three weeks before. During the Time after Epiphany, a wintry and darker season, we focus on how Jesus brings light and warmth into the world through his life. As an anthem for January 26, I picked "The Lord is My Light", an upbeat anthem with peppy rhythms.

Prelude and Postlude

The next works I determine are prelude and postlude (that's the music I have to practice!). With a severe winter storm in the forecast, I had to think of Claude Debussy's prelude "Footsteps in the Snow" (the footsteps theme links with the hymn of the day, see below). You may have noticed that sometimes I like to "round off" the service by playing music by the same composer for prelude and postlude. Considering that this is the last Sunday before Black History Month in February, I thought of a little piece by Debussy that is written in the style of a cakewalk or ragtime, IE music that like Jazz originated with African American musicians (and that features the typical syncopated and peppy rhythms found in both, the anthem and the sending hymn, see below). Debussy was of course French, but at the Turn of the Century, American musical influences had arrived in Paris (in part through the World Expo in 1900) that shaped not only entertainment but also French art music.

Hymns

The music I choose last are the hymns (usually on Wednesdays, so we can sing through them at choir rehearsal and make last-minute changes, if necessary). The hymn of the day is called "Will You Come and Follow Me" (ELW 798). In its fifth stanza you can find a reference to the footsteps of the prelude: "In your company I'll go where your love and footsteps show". The gathering hymn is an old familiar opening hymn (Dearest Jesus at Your Word, We Have Come Again to Hear You, ELW 520), and as sending hymn I chose Shine, Jesus Shine (ELW 671) a hymn that relates to the Jesus as light in our world-theme and to the upbeat and peppy rhythms of the choral anthem and postlude. Finally, my two picks for communion hymns include music that is personally meaningful: I gathered from Pastor's sermons throughout the years that he likes the hymn I Love to Tell the Story, ELW 661 (makes sense!). The second communion hymn (Baptized in Water, ELW 456) is set to a melody that evokes happy memories in me, since we used to sing it around the campfire as teenagers in Germany (to the text Morning Has Broken).

Henning

Dear St. Paul Congregation,

I hope this message finds you well. Our youth have been wonderfully active this winter, and I am delighted to share the many ways they are growing in faith, fellowship, and service.

The St. Paul Lutheran Girl Scouts kicked off the year with Cookie Kickoff 2026, welcoming over 40 families for a day of games, crafts, cookie tasting, financial literacy, and even lotion and chapstick making. It was a joy to see so many families learning and creating together.

Our Sunday school class celebrated Epiphany with a special journey through the undercroft, the Narthex, and into the sanctuary—following the bright star to find baby Jesus. Our CCC group also made beautiful lanterns to remind us that Jesus is the light of the world. With Him, all things are possible, and we need not be afraid, for He is always with us.

The CCC youth enjoyed a fun game night with homemade waffles and breakfast for dinner. We were blessed by the musical talents of Jackson Wellman, who serenaded us throughout the evening. Ten of our youth gathered for word searches, laughter, fellowship, and joyfully reciting many of the names of God. Moments like these remind me how powerful it is to simply step back and witness the Holy Spirit at work. It warms my heart and humbles my soul to see these children grow in the love and light of Christ. On a Sunday after worship, the youth went to see the movie David at the theater. I was moved by their reflections as they talked about David's courage—not because of his strength, but because he knew God was with him. With God by our side, we can face anything: a lion, a bear, a giant, or any challenge placed before us.

On January 23, our LYO and CCC groups attended Winter Jam at the Charleston Coliseum. I took a photo of our older youth holding the hands of the younger ones as they walked in—Sisters in Christ, supporting one another. Eleven girls attended, several experiencing their very first concert, and they loved every moment. It was beautiful to watch them sing, dance, praise, laugh, and even shed a few tears together. We left feeling spiritually uplifted and deeply connected.

It is such a blessing to be a child, a disciple, and a servant of God.

We continue to carry the love and light of Christ with us wherever we go.

Lord, help us to continue serving You with joyful hearts. We have come to see, and we will follow wherever You lead.

Thank You, God, for all You do!

With gratitude and joy,

Your Loving Sister in Christ,

Jill
