

Rules and Bylaws
For Special Event Days
Revised May 8, 2025

1. If vendors wish to sell items that are regularly sold at the market such as produce, baked goods etc. they must follow the rules and bylaws of the market. Those wishing to do this, should request a copy of these by contacting one of the market officers before attending.
2. The vendor information form must be filled out properly. Vendors must read, understand, and adhere to ALL bylaws, rules, and regulations.
3. Only on special event days will items such as garage sale items and antiques and collectable, that are not hand made, be allowed to be sold at the market.
4. Stall areas must be clean at all times. Each vendor is responsible for clean up in his or her rented stall before leaving the market. Each person selling at the market should also present a clean and friendly appearance at all times.
5. All items for sale at the market shall be open for inspection by the Market Officers, Federal, State, and County inspectors at all times and each vendor is solely responsible for his own merchandise.
6. Complaints against vendors showing reasonable, conclusive evidence that such a vendor has practiced deception or misrepresentation in the quality or condition of his product or provided false information regarding origin, variety, quality, condition, or value of his product shall be just cause for the Market Board to bar that vendor from any future market privileges.
7. Organizers have the right to reject vendors and refund stall fees at their discretion if items do not conform to the event day criteria, are not wholesome and community oriented, or if the rules listed above are not met.
