ADDITION OF NEW MEMBER COUNTRIES IN BRICS

As of January 1, 2024, five nations, namely Egypt, Iran, Ethiopia, UAE and Saudi Arabia, officially joined the ranks of BRICS, the dynamic coalition of emerging economies.

EGYPT

The prosperity brought by the yearly inundation of the Nile River, combined with partial isolation due to deserts on the eastern and western sides, facilitated the growth of a significant civilization. Currently standing as Africa's second-largest economy, Egypt boasts a GDP of $1.471 trillion as of 2023. With a total population of 109,546,720, the country is governed by President Abdelfattah ELSISI and Prime Minister Mostafa MADBOULY.

Egypt has been mired in an economic crisis since the past few years due to the Coronavirus pandemic and Russia's invasion of Ukraine which has resulted in rising inflation, currency depreciation and borrowing sprees. The country is in need of foreign currency and vigorous economic growth through investments, both foreign and domestic.

Egypt hopes its imminent inclusion in the BRICS bloc of developing nations will help ease its shortage of foreign currency and attract new investment.

IRAN

Iran became an Islamic republic in 1979. Conservative clerical forces established a theocratic system of government with political authority vested in a learned religious scholar referred to commonly as the Supreme Leader. Iran holds a strategic location on the Persian Gulf and Strait of Hormuz, which are vital maritime pathways for crude oil transport and amounts to a GDP of $1.726 trillion as of 2023. With a total population of 87,590,873, the country is governed by Supreme Leader Ali Hoseini-KHAMENEI and President Ebrahim RAISI.

Iran is traditionally a state-controlled economy with a strong oil/gas, agricultural, and service sector. The country has faced massive inflation in the past year reaching its peak in November amid failed policies. With all this, the country's currency has depreciated, international sanctions imposed on it, leading to investor uncertainty. Iran also is facing the challenge of rising poverty as the wealth becomes concentrated unevenly.

Iran hopes its imminent inclusion in the BRICS will help with the country's business transactions and international trade despite imposed sanctions.

ETHIOPIA

Unique among African countries, the ancient Ethiopian monarchy maintained its freedom from colonial rule with the exception of a short-lived Italian occupation from 1936-41. With a population of 116,462,712, the country is being governed by President SAHLE-WORK Zewde and Prime Minister ABIY Ahmed Ali. The country's GDP as of 2023 stands at $312 billion. Ethiopia with second largest labor force in Africa is the growing Horn of Africa construction and services-based economy.

Source: cia.gov

Ethiopia is the second most populous nation in Africa after Nigeria, and one of the fastest-growing economies in the region; however, it also remains one of the poorest, with a per capita gross national income of $1,020 as of 2022. The country has an underdeveloped private sector with scope to increase job creation. The major issue of food insecurity continues to persist in the country due to adverse weather conditions resulting in food inflation.

Ethiopia's involvement in the BRICS bloc is a big step in globalization for the country and might result in accelerated growth opportunities

UNITED ARAB EMIRATES

In 1971, six states - Abu Dhabi, 'Ajman, Al Fujayrah, Ash Shariqah, Dubayy, and Umm al Qaywayn - merged to form the United Arab Emirates (UAE). They were joined in 1972 by Ra's al Khaymah. With a total population of 9,973,449, the country's GDP amounts to $895.17 billion as of 2023. The states are governed by President MUHAMMAD BIN ZAYID Al Nuhayyan.

Source: cia.gov

United Arab Emirates is categorized as a high income developing country. It is a historically oil-driven Middle Eastern economy which is now diversifying into a trade-oriented logistics and supply chain leader. The country is now facing a weak domestic business growth and a declining real estate sector. A slower growth rate is a hindrance for the country to grow economically.

UAE's entry in the BRICS geopolitical bloc will strengthen its economic and trade relations with countries like China and India.

SAUDI ARABIA

Saudi Arabia, home to Islam religion was founded in 1932 by ABD AL-AZIZ bin Abd al-Rahman AL SAUD (Ibn Saud) after a 30-year campaign to unify most of the Arabian Peninsula. The country remains a leading producer of oil and natural gas and held about 16% of the world's proven oil reserves as of 2015. With a total population of 35,939,806 and GDP amounting up to $1.807 trillion as of 2023. The country is an absolute monarchy governed by King SALMAN bin Abd al-Aziz Al Saud.

Source: cia.gov

Saudi Arabia, the OPEC leader, is a high income country with a diversifying portfolio. Despite all this, the country is facing the challenge of substantial poverty, increased bureaucracy and corruption. The nation is a low innovation economy with key human capital gaps.

Saudi Arabia's inclusion in the BRICS bloc will help the country to increase trade in Asian countries and benefit from the Emerging Market Economies.

Ques. In your opinion, what are the key challenges hindering youth entrepreneurship and innovation in BRICS nations, and how can they be addressed?

Ans. Inadequate infrastructure, regulatory obstacles, restricted financial access, and a dearth of entrepreneurial education are the main obstacles to youth entrepreneurship in the BRICS countries.
