

Happy American Thanksgiving !

The Placencia Peninsula is home to many American Expats and welcomes hundreds of American visitors every year.

Some of the best local restaurants offer hand-crafted traditional feasts on Thanksgiving Day – many of which include multiple seating times so that you can celebrate at your leisure.

Spend the holiday at Placencia Beach Club, Brisa's Tapas, Azure del Mar, Maya Beach Bistro, Anne's Kitchen or others and enjoy all the treats from home. Reservations are required.

Maya Beach's Bike / Pedestrian Path!

It's a simple fact that the Placencia Peninsula is experiencing overwhelming growth these days. The pros and cons of this reality are much debated but everyone seems to agree that the increased traffic along Placencia Road is a nuisance, if not an outright danger.

Fortunately, construction of a new concrete sidewalk that runs the entire length of Maya Beach, to Seine Bight and (eventually?) all the way to Placencia Village has been underway for a number of months.

At the moment, sidewalk installation is taking place at RV Belize's road frontage and we are happy to endure the added noise and material pile up for, what promises to be, a huge long-term benefit.

Reef and Flats Fishing Placencia!

One of Belize's biggest tourism draws is the AMAZING fishing that can be found along the world's second largest barrier reef.

It's difficult to drop a line into the water and NOT catch abundant snook, snapper, barracuda, jack, sailfish and so many more.

But, for an unforgettable experience, spend a day on the water with one of the many knowledgeable local fishing guides who have been doing this all their lives and can share the best cast and fly fishing spots less than 30 minutes from Placencia.

Our favorite is Captain Martin Westby and we highly recommend an outing with this expert fisherman. See the office for contact info.
