

TWO GROUPS OF WLCS STUDENTS PLACED AT TSA STATE CHAMPIONSHIP IN LOUISVILLE

WLCS students displayed tech skills learned in their WLCS classes and won awards at the Technology Student Competition in Louisville:

1st place in Video Game Design competition
3rd place in the Webmaster competition

Lizzy Newell, a WLCS student and an Owen County sophomore at iLEAD Academy, was awarded honorable mention for the NCWIT Aspiration in Computing at the KY Computer Science Teachers Association's state meeting.

HERE'S WHAT WLCS IS UP TO THIS MONTH:

During April, We Lead CS students will be participating in the STLP competition, a GitHub training and the leadership council is putting together an event for our students to meet tech professionals.

We're looking forward to another month of teaching tech classes throughout Kentucky! Thank you for being a part of We Lead CS!

iLEAD Academy

Meet Elias Cardoso-Ortiz, a sophomore at iLEAD Academy. He is the president of the WLCS Leadership Council. He is planning on going into computer science and is on track to earn an associate's degree with help from his WLCS dual credit classes.

"WLCS helped me a lot, especially with looking into what I want to do. Specifically I now want to go into computer science, but they've helped me see different places or different work jobs areas with their virtual field trips."
