

MOTHER WE HONOR YOU

“Honour thy father and mother; (which is the first commandment with promise;) That it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth.”

Eph 6:2-3

Honor—any expression of respect or of high estimation by words or actions; exalted rank or place; distinction; reverence; dignified respect for character; Privileges of rank; to adorn; to revere; to respect; to treat with deference and submission, and perform relative duties to.

Every time a child is born, there is an opportunity to teach and inspire a human being to be a loving, productive, and honorable Christian. Some women have lived up to this great challenge by giving their all to the children.

It is to these remarkable women—those with children of their own and those who have never physically given birth—that we give honor.

We appreciate the fact that mother nourished us into physical health, but we also realize that being healthy in our bodies is not enough; we need mother to nourish us spiritually.

Thank you for every prayer you prayed. Thank you for every encouraging word you gave. Thank you for never giving up on us. Thank you for loving us when we were unlovable.

Thank you for caring enough to be an holy example!
