Meet Former Mayor of Alpharetta and Republican Primary Runoff Candidate for Secretary of State—David Belle Isle

My Priority: “Without question, the first priority of the Secretary of State is voter security, and the front door of voter fraud, the unverified absentee ballot, must be closed. David will work to bring a photo ID requirement for all absentee ballots. He will also fight to enforce the Proof of Citizenship Act, which passed in 2010 but has yet to be implemented, to ensure that only U.S. citizens can vote in Georgia’s elections.

David will work to champion a voter system that uses the latest cyber security technologies, producing both a paper and electronic record of our votes. He will engage in a collaborative dialogue with our county election boards to assure the best training and practices across the state.” www.davidbelleisle.com

Michael McNeely’s life has been focused on service to God and country. He is currently an Assistant Deputy Commissioner with the Georgia Department of Juvenile Justice. Michael earned his bachelor’s degree in Criminal Justice from Georgia Southern University.

As a Georgia Republican, Michael has served as Third and First Vice Chairman of the Douglas County GOP, the Georgia Young Republican’s Political Director, Chairman of the Georgia Black Republican Council, and First Vice Chairman of the Georgia GOP. He is a graduate of the Republican National Committee’s Campaign Victory School, it’s Campaign Management College, and Republican Leadership for Georgia.

Michael is now one of six statewide grassroots advisors for Casey Cagle for Governor.

“As governor, conservative businessman Brian Kemp will create a comprehensive database to track criminal aliens in Georgia. He will also update Georgia law to streamline deportations from our jails and prisons.” Also, Kemp states that Sanctuary cities are dangerous, unlawful, and defy our Georgia values. As governor, our state will respect the rule of law and put the well being of Georgians - not illegal immigrants - first.
