We collect, use and disclose your information only with your consent, unless we are obliged to do so by contractual requirements, by law, or in order to provide our financial services to you. When you become a member or customer, or when you apply for a new product or service, we will obtain your consent in writing.

We may possess personal information that we collected prior to implementing our Privacy Code and for which we do not have your express consent to use. We will continue to use that information if consent can be implied or as permitted by law, unless you ask us to stop.

You may change, limit, or withdraw your consent at any time by completing the Withdrawal of Consent form on this brochure and returning it to your credit union.

Withdrawal of your consent to use your personal information is subject to legal or contractual obligations. Further, if you have been granted a credit product, your credit union is required to collect and exchange your personal information on an ongoing basis with credit bureaus, credit insurers, and other lenders.

If you do not withdraw your consent, your personal information will continue to be used for the purposes described in this brochure, including disclosure to affiliated organizations.
