Introduction

The world's collection of Table Top Role-Playing Games (TTRPG) has become a mainstay of rest, relationship building, and entertainment all over the world. In every RPG it is the Magic and intrigue that makes the games inspiring and entertaining as well. To that end, it is often the practitioners of magic that add to the mystery and intrigue that draws many to RPG games and are fundamental to RPGs' successes.

In the Referee TTRPG System, it is no different. There are many forms of mystic characters to play, from the Wizards, Sages, Sorcerers, and the like, to the Druids and Myst Gazers. Collectively, they are called the Magic Using Classes (MUC). The Participant's Guide or Player's Handbook, as many games call it, gives all the necessary information required to play a MUC. In this tome, you will discover in-depth ideas and understanding of magic and how it works in the Referee System. We will describe many characteristics associated with schools of magic, bases of magic, what it is to be an Elementalist, styles of magic, and so much more.

For the Gaming Master, there are explanations of diverse possibilities that they can apply to their games in this tome. Focus use and creation, spell creation, variations of spell applications, places, and associations that occur in the realms of magic in the Referee System are included.

Preface

To wit, I have compiled the words of Elmon the Magus of Trilias Mordead in the Celestial Highlands. To whomsoever follows his ways, take warning; his means are neither for the faint of heart nor for the troublesome stranger.

In this tome, lies the vast knowledge of the realms of magic, their sources, and risks involved. He has gathered this information from the alcoves of Trilias to the depths of Koran's Deep. Hard lessons and harder choices of those lost along the way all lie within.

In this book, at times, Elmon's words will be to your person directly and, therefore, are duly marked by his personal symbol.

Elmon started as an apprentice under Garick Ulman of Wense Shire of Firnland. Garick was a harsh mage and unbending in his structure of magic studies, giving no leniency in anything he did. The scar on Elmon's shoulder spoke much of his dedication. His missing finger reminded him to trust only what he could kill. The brace on his leg, to be careful of his path and mindful of the environment. He could have had all these mars on his body removed or covered by magic, but instead wore them as trophies and reminders of mistakes once lived through.

Elmon's training was hard and long, but when he struck out on his own, he survived his first escapade with no pain to show for it. Elmon was no average person, but an Elvin Catar Gelfling with a nasty sense of war.

To his merit, he never lost a student to stupidity or brash arrogance. The worlds all know him through his travels, struggles, sorrows, and accomplishments. However, herein, I serve to educate any creature still ignorant of Elmon's wisdom and ways.

These words are penned by Master Gaylord, a chief mage of White Mountain Shire.

This Book

...is a gathering of all the Magical knowledge in the Realms of Asherin from the celestial city of Aseal Usar (Dawn Star) to the primal worlds of Cragnearth.

The first couple of chapters describe the structures and fundamentals of the worlds of magic, MANA and its physics, the why and how of manipulation, why spells and not dweomers would be used, and the sense of it all.

This is then followed by: spell understanding, time and rests, creation of spells, implements and tools, enchanting and the mystic arts.

At the end, spell tables for bases of magic and study, including tables of runes and spell marks are provided.

Section 1 Engagement of Creation

From the 'Book of Ages' to the 'Tome of Whiteheart', many assume magic is a gift, but it is as much a curse as a gift. All were led to believe that magic was not forbidden from the beginning.

It is a harsh reality to learn that indeed, it was so. Those that use magic, it will master them. Those who seek magic in heart will burn with magic.

In my journeys, I have discovered the sorrow that the use of magic brings; from deformities, curses, and wars to the death and destruction of the soul. I have found that Magic is the essence of Love. It is the pinnacle of tools for the mortal and an ending for the damned.

I have found the lands of Eyona, guarded by the High Celestials, that no creature may enter but he whose heart is true. True to what I say and still I seek what is true. Time is our enemy. It steals our chances, our options, our goals, only leaving us with no answers for that which is true.

Only he whose ways do not seek magic may understand its premise, purpose, and gifts. With magic, there is a pride, a passion, a longing, a thirst for more. To be true, it is a tool that only the humble may grasp.

According to the Book of Ages, Adama took fruit and substance from the sacred tree of Knowledge, Power, and Might. He was removed from the holy lands where he planted the essence of the Tree. He knew not what he had done by its planting. The heart of it grew to every corner of the world, unseen by man. It brought forth all manner of things Good, Evil, Powerful, and Knowledgeable in Magic. Dragos took of this substance and created the Cendarus (Demons) to serve him. Some did serve, others revolted, and wars began amid the heavenly domains.

To this day, there are doors and gates to other realms and places where one should never venture.

There are 5 lands of the Heavens

- First, are the Celestial Highlands, where the Angels dwell: Guardians, Watchers, and Law-binders.
- Second, are the Crimson Depths where the forsaken go.
- Third, are the Planes of Darkness and Shadow.
- Fourth is the Great Expanse of the Ethereal.
- Finally, are the Lands of Whiteheart (Heaven)

There are 3 Planes of the Prime

- First and foremost is the MANA plane, which encompasses all of Creation.
- The Elemental Planes: Defined Later on
- The Gates plane

There are 8 guardian Realms

They exist in the vastness of the Ethereal

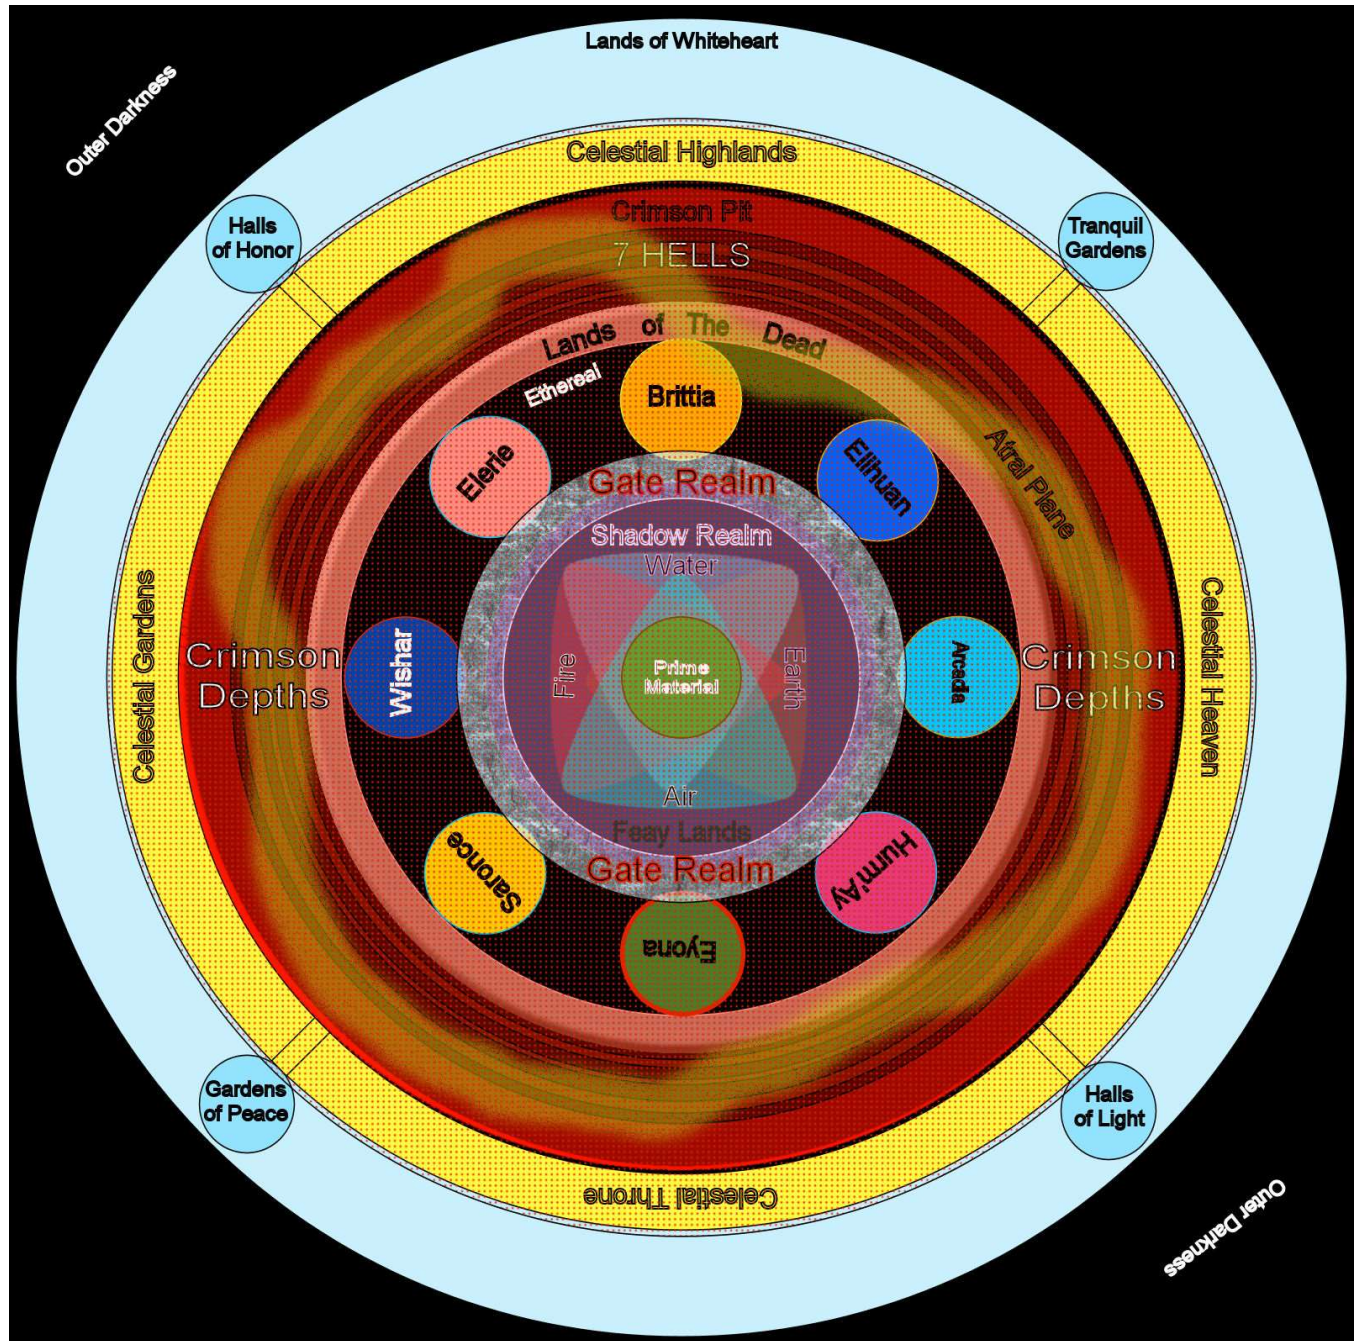

- Brittia
- Elihuan
- Acadia
- Hurm'Ay
- Eyona
- Saronce
- Whishar
- Elerie

Each one of these Planes, Realms, or places is a world unto its own, and as such, magic is similar but different in these various locations. Some forms of magic work the same, while others do not.

The Prime Material Plane consists of the Three Planes of the Prime listed in the bullets above. Only in specific locations can one pass between planes safely; these areas of passing are merged. The barriers that keep the worlds separate are also highly magical. The passages between dimensions and planes are called Spectral Gates. It is possible to force an opening, but that is risky given that where you enter will be unknown and could be very deadly.

The Worlds of Creation

It is perceived that the plane is a twilight world, with fireflies and mystical lights providing additional, haunting lights. When one arrives in the opportunity to be in the plane of the Faie it is mesmerizing. Things seem so much more alive, vivid, and dangerous. For many it causes a sensory overload as emotional understanding and reactions can become somewhat out of control. Smells are stronger, colors are more vivid, and sounds were clearer. A peculiarity is that the shadows and darkness seem so much more physical and darker. Emotions seem to cause changes in the fabric of the plane. Making a visit dangerous and unpredictable. This is the place where mythical and mystical creature dwell. Faeries and woodland spirits call this home.

Outer Darkness: A vast expanse of nothing. This is where to unholy are cast into.

Section 2 What is Magic

Refined magic is available in a variety of formats, such as in a memorized spell, a spell read from a tome or scroll, a unique enchantment on an object, a conjuration of the mind, or even an emblazoned implement. In any case, magic in the Referee system is performed via the manipulation of an essence called MANA.

MANA is a unique form of essence which intermingles with the entire universe. It is the soul of man, the lifeblood of the world, and the source of existence beyond the physical realms. MANA exists everywhere in every element of the cosmos. It can be called upon as a tool, cast as a spell, weaved in a dweomer, and be something to simply marvel over. As an essence, it is something like energy and matter at the same time. Its form can be altered to change the material world, and in rare cases, the spiritual--therefore the environment it is in. MANA, like energy, can never be destroyed, and unlike matter, it cannot be permanently changed. MANA was created in predefined formats and thus serves as different bases of magic.

We are thankful for those legendary wielders of Magic: the Sorcerers, Clerics, Wizards, and Witches of myth. They forged a path that we could follow and make better.

The ability to manipulate or use MANA depends on an individual's mental skills and their spirit. Most importantly, the levels of inner MANA are the final determining factor of one's magic abilities. The higher the concentration of MANA in an individual, the greater the strength of that individual to perform magic.

It is possible to shift MANA up and down an elemental base for a limited scale. The more substantial an individual is in understanding the principles of MANA manipulation, the higher their effects upon MANA will be.

MANA exists in parallel and in proportion to all thing's material. The essence of a spell caster's power comes from the manipulation of 'personal' MANA to affect an alteration in the physical or 'World' MANA. When MANA is modified or altered, anything aligned to the MANA in the physical world will be changed in a parallel fashion. Alterations in the physical world, which do not change MANA, are short-lived at best and occur as a shapeshift or as an illusion. Morphing-type spells alter the MANA configuration of the target to cause a form change. Disintegration and destruction spells cause MANA to disband and become something new, like a nuclear explosion or a caterpillar's transformation, but with no energy. In some cases, it can cause wild and uncalculated events.

The five primary MANA forms are Earth, Water, Air, Fire, and Gravity. They can be mixed with some exciting results which are discussed later in this chapter.

How do Stats affect Magic

Magic in the world of Referee is based on the understanding of MANA. The capability to work with and manipulate MANA, and how to understand the process of spells and dweomers is reliant on one's stats

Every class that can cast spells has two stats that give them their abilities in dealing with magic. The Class Stat Listing chart, show MANA skills are gained or lost, and the types of earnable Magic Using Class (MUC) skills are discussed later in this tome.

. Let us first look at the base stats and how they play into all of this.

The higher the primary and secondary stat values, the more MANA one can possess or utilize.

INTELLIGENCE:

Definition: The ability to acquire and understand knowledge and skilled use of reasoning. To deal with new or trying situations, to apply knowledge, to manipulate one's environment or to think abstractly as measured by objective criteria.

Intelligence for MUCs is essential. It is the Primary stat for Wizards, Alchemists, Wards, Mystics, Rangers, Sages, and Selarian Knights.

Intelligence is a Secondary stat for the Elemental Ward, Enchanter, Fili, and the Blackguard.

WISDOM:

Definition: The ability to discern or judge what is correct, right, or lasting; insight based on accumulated philosophical or scientific knowledge or gift from a higher being.

Wisdom is the Primary stat for the Cleric, Druid, Mist Gazer, Healer, Magus, Blackguard, and the Shadow Hunters.

It is a secondary stat for the Alchemist, Celestial Cleric, Cleric, Hunter, Mage Ward, Sage, Warlock, and Wizard.

CHARISMA:

Definition: A personal magic of leadership that arouses popular loyalty or enthusiasm for one's self. A magnetic charm or appeal that affects environments or souls. It is also a divinely conferred gifting or power that can bestow virtues and authority on an individual.

Charisma is the Primary stat for Enchanter, Fili, Paladin, Sorcerer, and the Warlock.

Charisma is the secondary stat for the Druid, Healer, Holy Blade, Magus, Mystic, Paladin Knight, Ranger, Sigil Sage, Selarian Knight, and the Shadow Hunter.

SPIRIT:

Definition: Spirit is a pervasive or essential attitude, quality, or principle. It is the unstated representative force of oneself. Spirit is the source of extraordinary power, such as the ability to perform miracles.

Spirit is a Primary stat for the Celestial Cleric, Elemental Ward, Holy Blade, and the Manija.

Spirit is the Secondary stat of the Manija, Mist Gazer, and the Sorcerer.

ENDURANCE:

Definition: The ability or strength to continue or last, especially despite fatigue, stress, pain, or other adverse conditions, is one's Endurance.

Although endurance is not utilized directly in stats dealing with magic, it plays a significant role in understanding one's own mortality. It is one of the fundamental stats that one must watch, as it indicates potential exhaustion and physical damage that can occur if one goes too far.

Table 1 outlines the Primary and Secondary stats for each class that deals in magic. Later in this tome are other tables that allow these stats to cross to identify MANA and Other items.

Table 1 Class Stat Listing

Class Names	Stats
	Primary	Secondary
Alchemist	Intelligence	Wisdom
Blackguard	Wisdom	Intelligence
Celestial Cleric	Spirit	Wisdom

This chart is found later associated with the MANA gain and Skills gain charts.

Races and Magic

Under each racial chart found in the participant's guide (Chapter 3 and 5) are tables listing all the modifications that may occur within a racial group. The racial selection may give bonuses or detriments to Primary and Secondary stats. Likewise, there may be bonuses or drawbacks to MANA values depending on race. Skills may thusly either be benefited or harmed, if associated with magic or MANA. One should take into consideration all these factors when selecting a MUC.

Classes and Magic

Each MUC has a certain amount of MANA based on their understanding and the tuning of their being with respect to MANA. Their various stats play a significant part in the calculation of MANA.

In the previous Class Stat Listing chart, there are classes that are highlighted in blue. These Classes are those for which Magic is a secondary facet, not the primary. Classes highlighted in orange have magic as its primarily form through prayer and ritual.

Classes which have the same primary and secondary stats are called pure MUCs. There is nothing special for them other than they are always squared to the chart and their MANA levels are always in the middle of the road refer to Stat Chart from earlier on page 40.

Bases of Magic and the Why

Every element in the cosmos is made of some form of MANA. MANA was created in predefined formats and thus serves as the differing bases of magic.

Some spells can change the formation of MANA and thus affect the environment. It is possible to shift MANA up and down the base tree for a limited amount in each direction. The stronger one's understanding is of the principles of MANA, the more one can shift and alter the reality in which they dwell.

Magic comes in many forms; some forms are common, while some are unique. Some require special attunement to specific environmental occurrences. The ability to reach into the essence of an element and manipulate results, as in a spell or dweomers, is the guise and training of the Elementalist. Those that specialize in this class of magic are called Wards as well. There are the Elemental Wards (Wards), Environmental Wards (Druids, Shadow Hunters), and the Essence Wards (Mystics).

Magic bases are broken down into the four (4) physical elements, Earth, Wind, Water and Gravity

The three (3) nonphysical bases, or spiritual bases, are Celestial, Ethereal/Shadow, and Mythical/Light.

The two (2) dimensional or environmental bases are Time and Gravity. This results in a total of nine bases of magic.

Any MUC can choose to either study magic generally or to focus only on a singular elemental base. Only a handful of MUCs have successfully mastered five or more bases completely in the Referee world: Master Ulrick, Ezmienda, Caligarde, Echmalistol, Fnage, and Arialosas. In the Worlds of the Multiverse other realms have their greats as well.

If a choice to follow a distinct elemental path is made, the player must declare this to the Game Master (GM). The choice of a path will limit the available spells and skills the character can use to that path, however taken the narrow path enables one to gain skills or abilities that a general MUC does not learn that enhances the spell results they do have. The Referee system supplies a list of spells and their respective paths in Section 11 from which to choose.

The five prime MANA forms (Fire, Earth, Wind, Water, Gravity) can be mixed with some exacting and exciting results.

Fire

The element of Fire is one of the 5 prime MANA forms. It comprises almost every form of fire, whether it be elemental or spiritual to shadow or air.

When combined with one of the other 5 base material elements, desired results may be as follows:

Fire and Earth: lava, hot rock, fiery stone, explosive earth and fire shard, as examples.

Fire and Wind: Flaming air, Dancing Fire, Hot air, Flaming gases and other such compositions.

Fire and Water: Boiling water, hot water, Steam, Steam jets, Explosive water, Acid water as well as many others.

Fire and Gravity: Meteors, Flame Strike, Fire Well, Fire Send, Acceleration and many other such fun effects.

Earth

The element of Earth is one of the 5 prime MANA forms. It is comprised of all forms of solid substance from Celestial to Shadow.

Earth and Wind: Sand Storm, invisibility, meteors, shards of various forms, Flying, Storms and so much more.

Earth and Water: Water Blade, Mud, Pools, Quicksand, Sundering Water, etc.

Earth and Gravity: Floating, levitation, Flying, Reverse Gravity, Gates, and Invisibility to name a few.

Wind

The element of Wind is one of the 5 prime MANA forms. This one is tricky as it can represent all forms of air but it does not include poisonous vapors or shadow.

Wind and Water: Water Blade, Walls of water, Part water, Sundering water, Water Weird, Water Shard, Cutting Streams and a few others.

Wind and Gravity: Flying, Throwing, Sending, Gates, Dense air, Force Walls, and Cyclones.

Water

The element of Water is one of the 5 prime MANA forms. As long as it is water, it falls into this base of magic. Compounds like solid Ether or Shadow Rivers are not water and thus are not affected by this base.

Water and Gravity: Sundering Water, Heavy Water, Water Weird, Storms, Water Twisters, and Piercing water.

Gravity

The Element of Gravity is one of the 5 prime MANA forms. This base is different in that for each of the other 4 physical bases, gravity is tied into their natural physics for how they function. By changing the gravity constant, you affect all material in an area tied to MANA. That is why you can reverse gravity in a selected area or even redefine some physics in a selected environmental space.

Time

The element of time is nearly impossible to mess with. It is not intrinsic to MANA but instead controls MANA functionally. It requires a great mind to really learn its functional control and therefore is widely studied. There are few spells that affect time.

You can extend or shorten its effects and, in some rare cases, slow and even hold time. But it cannot be altered structurally like the 5 prime material bases can be.

Spirit (Celestial)

The house of celestial magic is unique in every way. It can affect all other forms of MANA except time. In its uniqueness, the Spirit cannot be altered at all. No form of spell, dweomer or such has been found to cause it to change. It appears to be eternally locked in its state.

Thus, even in death, it does not change. When a creature dies, three things occur; First, there is the memory of the event that is stored somehow in the Celestial order. This can be used to produce ghosts and the likes and can be manipulated in some fascinating ways.

Second, the Spirit leaves the material existence and enters a Celestial home: good to the Celestial Lands and bad to the lands of Crimson Depths. In the Celestial Lands are the Celestial heavens, Halls of honor, and the Lands of Whiteheart (Heaven). The Crimson Depths consists of the seven layers of hell, the aboussos and the Shadow Lands. These are discussed in depth in the book Realms of Reality.

The celestial sphere is also the realm in which one's Race is determined. These define such characteristics as what you look like. Even some of the skills one has are related to the Celestial base of Magic.

It is possible to give a skill to someone using a celestial base such as; Spider Climb, Gravity Walk, Diving, Flying, Striking and many others, including effects of the five senses.

Lastly, there is an absolution of the physical realm—that is, being set free from the “material self.” In some cases, the separation is permanent and the corporeal body is left behind. In other cases, the Material can be possessed by something else and utilized for its gain. Vampires are a prime example of this occurrence. There is also the manifestation of another spirit taking control of the body. In some locations and under certain circumstances, protections need to be made to dead bodies to keep some of these aspects at bay.

Ethereal/Shadow Base

The realm of the Ethereal is closely associated to the realms of shadow. In fact, it is hard to separate them, so they have been categorized together.

This base of magic is very different from the material and spiritual realms in the fact that MANA is almost physical in this realm. Thus, in some situations, the realm of the Ethereal is a far deadlier place to deal in magic. For instance, Echmalistol was a master of this magic base. He once proved that he could draw in almost twice his normal MANA for some types of spells and was quite devastating. He said that he learned the trick from a Gorgon. Not my kind of mentor. mark

Ethereal magic affects things a little differently. It is far too dangerous to manipulate MANA in a direct assault as it can cause reactions that are hard to stop. One must build barriers and paths for better control before initiating a spell. Therefore, linking and binding are very prevalent in this magic unlike many other MANA form-based spells in the material world.

Mythical/Light

The Realm of Light is so pure and so Holy that few can exist in it. In the past, one individual tried to completely enter the domain of light but was never heard from again. They found only remnants of him in a pile in his study.

The magic of light is very attractive to clergy and those dealing in the hunting of the dead. Sunlight, Sunbeams, Star light, Holy light and Binding Light are all such spells originating from this realm and they are devastating to many of the undead and evils that exist.

There are two group of beings that light torments and, in some sense, destroys them by energizing them far beyond their handling capacity. They are the Dispikable and the Lacrea. Another group are the Fallen are not destroyed by most of the light-based spells, it does bother them immensely.

Now that we understand the bases of magic and how stats affect character creation, let us get into the aspect of spell casting and the associated logistics of it.

Types of Checks

When dealing with events in a game, there needs to be a way to validate successes or failures of something that is occurring and not just leave it up to someone's choice. With that in mind there are different checks used to determine the outcomes of these events.

D°C or Dilemma of Circumstance

The Dilemma of Circumstance or DoC tends to be used for physical realm resolutions, but is not restricted there.

Whenever a creature attempts to perform an action, whose success is not guaranteed, he must make some sort of check (usually a skill or resolve check). The result of that check must meet or exceed the DoC of the action that the creature is attempting to perform for the action to be successful.

If an event or situation is not predefined, the chart below can be used to determine what level or hardship the Non-Playable Character (NPC) or Playable Character (PC) must overcome to be successful.

As stated in other books and chapters, the D°C is the level at which a roll must be greater than or equal to for the challenge to be overcome. It is determined by the rolling of a d20 and adding any required stat or skill bonuses to the roll. If an event does not have a D°C assign to it Table 8 will allow you a basic selection chart for definition.

Task Level	D°C	Task Level	D°C
Simple	4	Very Easy	8
Easy	12	Medium	16
Trying	20	Hard	24
Very Hard	28	Impossible	32

Table 2 D°C

Target Achievement or TA

The Target Achievement (TA) is used primarily for magical application type checks and links.

TA is used for spellcasting, enchanting, specialty magic, and mystic skills. These skills are rolled on a die for a success or failure similar to the previously discussed D•C. The skills are varied and fall under the guise of one of the following and thus require a TA roll, but a TA roll also affects checks in utilizing magical aspects. The TA roll comes in three forms: Chance roll with a d100, labeled as ##%, a Task check or Link, with a d10 and labeled as ##^ or as a Difficulty roll with a d20, labeled as ##. Examples on how these appear in following charts are 45%, 5^, or 14, respectively.

The Natural Skills that necessitate a TA roll are Arcana, Crafty, Mystic Lore, Magic Lore, and Stone Lore--all discussed later in more detail.

Below are several MUC skills that require the TA roll and the type of roll needed. This information is mentioned here for illustration purposes. More complete spell charts may be found in Spell Notes Tables.

Table 3 MUC Class Skills

Skill Area	TA	Die Type
Read Mystic Rune	%	d100
MANA link	*	d20
Spell Target	^	d10
Mystic Lore	*	d20
Gate (link)	%	d100
Magic step	^	d10
MANA Shift	*	d20
MANA Bond	^	d10

TA rolls are used primarily by MUCs. The skill areas stated above are also affected by Spirit, MANA, and Spell link values. Details of all that affect a spell are covered in the Spell description or Event.

Failure Mark (FM)

Finally, the Failure Mark (FM) checks are used in destroying things and anytime a spell, misfires, disastrous magical events resulting in general. All of these are discussed in detail that can be used for various circumstances in a game.

Failure Marks are not to be trifled with. It is a life saving roll against a failed magical aspect or a combat awareness during dire consequences. To succeed, the roll must be below the stated value. If the roll is over the value, the failure is checked against the chart below for the resulting consequences.

Taking the Path of the Elements

When a MUC chooses to forgo the general studies in magic and instead seeks to master a Single Magic base, their understanding and their abilities in this area of expertise become refined.

When one chooses to master a base, they must really learn how that base works down to the fine details. This type of study and research, however, will open them up to abilities that the general MUC does not know since this takes the character into deeper study and precision learning of the base.

Once one chooses to take this elite path of magic, they will gain increased understanding in how basic spells can be modified and tuned to be more than general spells or tools

The first proficiency that is usually learned, is the ability to alter the consistency of the element or base (see Consistency chart below). This means the ability to change an element or base's density, temperature, energy and shape. Examples include bowing a wall, holding a spell effect to a shape like a sphere, or to that of a whip. This is usually mastered by the 6th level of study and is restricted by the ounces of matter equal to MANA used.

The second proficiency that is generally learned is how to combine features of an element, i.e., having a spell exert two forms of itself simultaneously (see Combining chart below). A diamond wall and a mass wall of stone being present at the same time is an example. This proficiency comes somewhere around the 14th level of study.

The third proficiency that is generally learned is how to alter the features of a spell itself in duration or targeting type (see Spell Features chart below). This is learned this after mastery of the other proficiencies noted previously.

You can cause the result to shift up or down a scale with study and practice and utilizing additional MANA. By using half as much MANA, you drop it down one effect. By using half as much more up one level of effect. By doubling MANA, you can push a spell's effect to the extremes.

Table 4 Consistency

Earth	Fire	Wind	Water
Mud	Radiant heat	Light breeze	Mist
Sandstone	Flowing heat	Breeze	Light rain
Shale	Red flame	Light wind	Rain
Granite	Yellow to White flame	Storm wind	Heavy rain
Compressed Granite	Blue Flame	Hurricane	Monsoon
Crystal	Solar Flame	Tornado	River of water

Utilize the previous chart and combine any two consistencies next to each other vertically as well as with the items below to create combinations.

The Wards are watchers of their realms and the Elementalists are like the special forces. The Mages seemingly tend to be political facets of each realm.

Rituals of Affairs

There are 4 rituals that each of the specialized MUCs will be given the opportunity to complete in their studies. They must complete the Ritual of Craft and the Ritual of Dominion.

Ritual of Craft

This ritual is not anything special. It does, however, have to be performed in the presence of at least one Master Ward, Magus, or Elemental of the desired path of specialization. The ritual is an oath of warding to that element and all for which it stands.

It comes with a set of requirements:

1) You can never turn your back on the path you have chosen in the future. There is no going back. The MUC becomes a member of a sect council. See Elemental Council.

2) What you are entrusted with will always be yours until you are dead.

3) No one must know of your bindings, masters, or any preferences you take.

4) What you learn is yours but never turn your back to a wanting learner.

You will usually be given a Charge as a trial of devotion and the location of your demise.

Mage

For the Mage, it is a simple act of claiming allegiance to a particular group. There are 9 groups that are known: Sons of Light, Dark keepers, Foresters, Soul miners, Deep ones, Oracles of Power, Arm of Power, Barrier's Hold, and Vehement Hand.

Each of these groups is found throughout the world. It is usually through them that new Ageros are recruited. These groups are merely doorways into the depths of caustic power. Once in, few return to their old ways and if they do they have a memory that they must live with if they speak of it.

Sons of Light

Those that claim allegiance to holiness or are Lawful Good may belong to this group.

Dark keepers

These individuals are of an Evil nature or are Lawful Evil in alignment. They purpose in themselves the guardians of evil.

Foresters

These individuals tend to be neutral to the ways of man. Those with alignments that are neither good nor Evil may belong to this group.

Soul miners

Those individuals take to the Celestial or Time bases as a standard for their beliefs and actions.

Deep ones

These are the Earth binders and Gravity Wards.

Oracles of Power

These are those who are of one of the 4 physical elements.

Arm of Power

Those that are bound to the call of Fire and Air

Barrier's Hold

This group tends to have anyone who willingly believes that Cragnearth should be governed by man and not the elements.

Vehement Hand

Those that believe that the world must be protected from the creatures that roam on it.

Wards

Wards are trained in an element's sight and in the power of transformation. Once per Long Rest they may transform into an elemental being of their choosing; maintaining their life points and all their mental aptitudes and inheriting the primary skills of those elementals for up to 1 hour. Any magical weapon bonuses are added to your physical attacks and armor bonuses to your AD. If you encounter an elemental core, you can heal 1d6 per round. All elementals have a +4 to hit a target. Water and Air elementals can move through openings as small as 1-inch. At level 10 or more of experience you can cast the 1st through 3rd level Elemental spells.

Fire:

AD 14. MR 50. When in a fire, you can double your MR. Immune to Fire, Poisoning, Exhaustions, Paralysis, Petrification, Grappling, and restraining: Water attacks do double damage to you. When within 5 feet of anything combustible, it will catch fire and continue to burn taking 3d4 + Spirit Mod in damage. Gain 2 touch attacks doing 4d4 + Spirit mod in damage.

Water:

AD 15. Resistance to Bludgeoning, Acid, Piercing, and Slashing damage. Immune to Exhaustion, Grappling, Paralysis, Petrification, Poison, Restraining, and Knocked Prone: Cold damage is temporary for 1 round. Gain 2 slam attacks doing 3d6 + Constitution mod: Engulfing attack causes Restraining, requires D°C15 to break free. No attack is possible until free of engulfing.

Elemental Sight:

Once per hour, up to 1 minute under full concentration, the character may gaze through the element itself to other locations. They can investigate the element and in any location that the element is present within a day's journey they may look out of it. Those with True Sight can see the eyes of the gazer peering out from within in the element. Those with True Sight can see the eyes of the gazer peering out from within the element.

Elementalists

Elementalists are trained to be extreme aggressive skills and abuse their power. They are taught three primary abilities that are caustic to their bodies but are devastating to an enemy.

Soul Forge

The Soul Fire ability will enable the caster to convert 1/3 of their Spirit Points into MANA and add to an Elemental Hail Storm of their base. This allows them to Round a 60 feet circular area with hail of their base doing 6d8 + Level of Elementalist + converted MANA Points in damage. This does create a level of exhaustion each time it is performed. If it is done 3 consecutive times in less than 2 hours, the character will have 0 Spirit Points left. With 0 spirit, they go unconscious for up to 10 hours and then will gain 2 spirit back. Many dies in this state since they have no protection.

Foundations Forge

The Elementalist can summon one primary elemental being of their base once a day, casting 6 MANA Points in a sphere of protection spell on the elemental. The Elementalist's charge is to keep the "prime" alive that they summoned at all cost.

The Elemental being can elect to perform a merge with the Elementalist. By combining their powers and all their resources, the Elementalist is now in the hand of the Prime Elemental. The Elementalists tend to be used up and die since the Elemental sees them as servants in their eyes which are willfully sacrificing themselves. If the Elementalist lives, per chance, they will gain 1 Spirit from the Elemental permanently in the separation.

Chaos Forge

The caster basically expends all the MANA they can muster, 40 + 1d100 MANA, to turn a 60 x 60-foot area into a solid realm of their base if Fire, Water, Air, Earth, or Light for 5 Minutes. Any creature caught in the area must make a D°C 16 Dexterity and Endurance checks to dodge this area. The dodge will enable them to exit the area, taking damage for 1 round.

If they fail either one of the checks, they are caught in the area and take full damage as long as they remain. They must make a check vs Intelligence or be stunned 1d4 rounds in the area of chaos. Each round that they are in the area, they will take 6d8 + the MANA points expended to make the area in damage.

They must dig, swim, run, or flee out in 1 minute or suffocate in the area. Celestial light/malice will cause those caught in it to be stunned unless they are Lawful Good/Lawful Evil respectively. If they are of the opposite alignment, they will take damage in Purification or Corruption.

Ritual of Insertion

This ritual is a binding to the element itself. Many do not survive this. For those that do, they are no longer what they used to be but are something else new. They become an Agranose. Roll in Appendix C for changes to the individual.

The Character must make a check against each of their stats on D°C 12. If Strength, Dexterity, Constitution or the Endurance stat rolls fail, that stat is limited to a 1d10 value when rolling new stats.

The GM will roll a check +2 for D°C 15. If that fails, the character dies. A player can attempt to resurrect, reincarnate or raise the dead each time the character loses 5 points of Spirit.

The benefits of this insertion of the element into the caster is that it gives the caster free movement and a new home/world.

Air:

Flight ~ MR 90. Resistant to Lightning, Thunder damage. Immunities to Paralysis and Poisoning. Gain 2 slam attacks 2d10 + Strength mod. With 5 levels of experience, you can use one cyclone attack per day at 4d8 + Strength mod damage. Throwing- 1d8 per 10 feet based on Strength.

Earth:

Earth shifting. MR 30. No trace will appear on surface of movement underneath during earth shifting. Resistant to Bludgeoning, Piercing, and slashing damage. You receive 1 die extra damage from Thunder attacks. Immune to Poison, Petrification. Gain Tremor Sense 60'. Combat attacks ~ 3d8 + Strength mod, reaches 8 feet. Your attacks do sunder damage to all physical structures ~ 2d10 on chart below.

When within 2 feet of anything combustible, it will catch fire and continue to burn taking 3d4 + Spirit mod in damage until you distance yourself or someone douses the fire. Gain 1 touch attack doing 4d4 + Spirit mod in damage. 1 swarm attack ~ Breath Weapon 3d4 + Endurance mod in damage once per conflict or 1 hour.

Water:

MR 30 ~ Swim. MR 60 ~ Breathe Water. Resistance to Acid, and slashing damage. Immune to Petrification, Poison, and Knocked

Ritual of Power

This Ritual will super-charge the Elementalist. It will increase the Elementalist's MANA manipulating abilities (of that element base) by increasing their MANA by a factor of 0.18

Factors in Magic

Components of Spells

Some spells require tuning and objects on which to function. This tuning is achieved in various forms that give synergy to function properly. Special devices have been found in ancient ruins, of which some have taken up studying and have found many secrets.

There are common items and then there are special items found in Appendix A.

Somatic or Inurement

The terms Somatic or Inurement describe the actions of a caster's body in attunement to the nature of the Magic. These actions can be certain gestures, definitive actions, rhythmic motions, or many other various forms. These are necessary when a spell, prayer, dweomer, or ritual requires some physical action to align or attune the MANA to the character first before performing a function.

Verbal or Utterings

Many spells need tonal resonations of MANA for desired results. Songs, humming individual tones, or words can all be used depending on the need or objective. Some spells and the like require special languages for them to work. Toreaz (Tor -AZ), Olien (O -le - An), and Krindish (Creen - Dash) are examples of such languages that might be used. There are other languages, such as those in the Outer lands, but these are the most notable in the common lands (Cragnearth).

Material Components

Some forms of magic need objects either to take on the characteristics of such to create in some form, take on the essence of its form to give a similar effect, or need the concentration of MANA found therein to fully produce the desired results. If MANA is required, the material is consumed by the spell. Sometimes in rare occasions there is residue that is left behind by the spell. Always of great value to someone.

Cast Time

This is the amount of time it takes to charge a spell and cause the results. Cast time may spread the breadth of a normal reaction time, 1 physical action time, a bonus action time, minutes, hours or even days. Some magic can be cast as a ritual as well as a simple spell, requiring more cast time than the base spell alone.

Range

The range of the spell is how far a target position may be from the caster. Some spells require direct touching, others may be positioned on the caster themselves, a radius from the caster, or have a range of several feet, hundreds of feet or miles. Some spells have definitive shapes to their spell range, as in a straight line, a cone, a sphere, a block, a point of origin, links or special ranges.

Duration

Duration is the definition of how long a spell's effects persists. Some durations can be nearly permanent while others are instantaneous and short lived. Some spells require some level of concentration to maintain the effects. This concentration can be a simple awareness of the spell's effect to a full-on, can-do-nothing else but concentrate on the spell type of focus for the effect.

Some spells can alter the duration of others by lengthening, shortening or countering the duration time altogether.

Duration can be instantaneous, 1 melee round, minutes, hours, days, months, or indefinite until dispelled or ended.

Area Of Effect (AOE)

This aspect describes indirect effect type spells. These are spells placed at a point that affects the environment. Anyone in that environment will have to deal with the area effects. They may be good or bad, as in Mass Healing, Shard Storm or perhaps Fire Ball.

Elemental Council

The Council consists of individuals of level 19 or higher in a particular element. They come together to discuss paths for the council to take with consideration of current events in the location and world. On occasion they will accept new members. The types of councils are listed below.

Fire

Europiasal's Fire Council Assembles twice a year when the Three Moons Rising occurs in Raven Major and Brinkwater.

Galishole's Fire Council Assembles once a year on the Midnight of Moons in the hovel of Wishdoary.

Adanar has no council of Fire.

Arora's Council gathers in the Bridge of Seas when the entrance is known.

Freeland's Council is with Norister.

Norister's Council meets the same day as the Sacred Day of Autumn's fire ceremony.

Rhinland has no council of any element. They have strictly forbidden such councils and hunt Elementalists in their lands.

The Picture Island's Fir council gathers when the Maw of Fire opens in Crag's Peak.

Water

The Council of Many Waters meets in one location on the islands off the coast of Rhineland. During the Season of the Tri-moon, the force of the moon opens a door to a place called Orellis or (City of Water), where the council meets. It opens every 4 years and 9 months.

Earth

There are so many Earth Councils that they tend to go to war with each other for hierarchal positions frequently.

On Europiasal, in the city of Drenar and Lofty Raven, the Council has a chamber under the city found only by a hidden entrance. Unless you are invited, you will never find it. They meet at least once a year on months with Witch moons.

Air

Atop Mount Endersol, the winds often cause cyclones and other weird anomalies in the weather. On the day when there are dual full moons, the weather is particularly nasty there. This is when the Air Council meets.

Celestial

Given that Celestial magic is the power of purity, holiness and divine power, those in this sphere come when summoned to the Celestial Highlands.

Ethereal

Europiasal has the only known council of the Ethereal. It meets when the shadows dance on Volnagar.

Time

On the Tri-equinox, this council gathers in the valley of Saith in Galishole, the Crystal Chasm in Europiasal, and Engander's Bluff in Rhineland.

Styles Magic

Magic comes in three forms: Contagious, Imitative and Sympathetic Magic.

Contagious Magic

Magic that attempts to affect a person or creature through something once connected with him or her, as in a shirt once worn by the person or a footprint left in the sand. This branch of magic is based on the belief that things once in contact are in some way permanently so however far the object is separated geographically from the individual.

Imitative Magic

Magic that attempts to control the universe through the mimicking of a desired event, such as by stabbing an image of an enemy to destroy him or her, or by performing a ritual dance imitative of the growth of food to secure an abundant supply. A branch of magic based on the belief that similar actions produce similar results.

Sympathetic Magic

Magic predicated on the belief that one thing or event can affect another at a distance because of a sympathetic connection between them.

All MUCs must be at least 1st level and no greater than 3rd level to choose a specialization. They cannot abandon this specialty as it will cause them great difficulty to their careers if not make it impossible to advance with any real meaning or power.

Specialization in a particular school or house of magic gains one a +1 per every 8 levels to checks against that house of Magic cast at you. Whatever level you start your specialization at that is your 1st level of specialization and you will need 8 more levels of specialization to gain the next +1 giving you a +2 on checks from that house of magic. The target also has a penalty of -1 on checks from your specialization magic per your 8 levels as well.

All Specialized MUCs must have at least half their spells in the specializations. When leveling the specializing MUC must learn 1 spell from their House of Magic. The MUC needs to succeed at a check of D°C 14 to be able to learn one additional spell that does not need to be of their specialization.

Studies in Magic

There are various schools that have become defined and structured in their teachings of these three forms of magic.

Abjuration

This school of Abjurers, as they are called, work on Repudiating, Blocking, Banishing, and Protecting type spells, as well as spells which cancel or interfere with other spells, magical effects or supernatural abilities.

Specialization: Humans, Knoolgal, Norgan, and Orc are the only racial groups that can specialize as an Abjurer.

The Primary and Secondary stats must both be at least a 14. The MUC must reach second level before they can specialize as an Abjuration.

Many that learn the house of Abjuration find it a need to protect people and cultures. The Abjurist cannot learn any alteration or illusion magic as it is a negative magic to them.

Alteration or Transmutation

Transmutes are those individuals who learn magic that alter the properties of their target. Examples include transmuting flesh to crystal, or spells like Polymorph, Living Steal, and Plant Growth.

Specialization: Darkling, Human, any Race that is partially Human, Dwarvin, Norgan, and Knoolgal are the only races that may specialize as a Transmuter.

The Secondary Stat must be equal to or greater than your Primary Stat to be a Transmuter.

The Transmuter cannot learn magic from the house of Abjuration or Divination as these are Negative to them.

Conjuration or Summoning

Conjurers focus on the use of supplication to receive things, calling things into existence, instantaneous transportation, conjuring creatures, energy or objects, and object creation. Teleporting objects to the caster's location and/or causing creatures to physically manifest at the caster's location are also included. They learn the nuances of channeling and gating to their skills.

Specialization: Humans, Norgan, Catar, any Race that has Human blood in them, Ildrol and (Centaur, Nocaren, Dornan) Beasts are the only races that may specialize as a Conjurers or Summoners.

The Primary and Secondary stats must be at least a 13 and the Primary stat must be at least 2 points above the secondary stat.

The Summoner cannot learn magic of the house of Divination nor Invocation as these are negative to their magic.

Divination

Diviners invest their time in acquiring information. There is Lesser Divination and Greater Divination, distinction is by levels. For both, many of these spell types create invisible magical sensors which provide the caster with information. These sensors may be detected by other parties, however and dispelled.

Specialization: Elves, Gnomes, Hobbits, Gelfling, any racial group that has Elvin blood in them and Darklings may specialize as a Diviner.

The Primary and Secondary stats must be at least a 14 and the Spirit must be at least a 16 to learn in this house of magic.

The diviner cannot learn magic in the house of Conjuration as this is an opposing magic to them.

Enchantment or Charm

Enchanters delve deep into the arcane arena of compulsion and charms. They impart magical qualities to things, objects, creatures, and even people. They practice Entrancing & Beguiling people/creatures, charm spells, such as Charm Beast, or practice affecting a targets' attitude, usually by making them act more favorably toward the caster. Compulsion spells such as Confusion, Domination, Sleep, or Suggestion, which can force a target to act in a certain way or avoid actions, are also frequently used.

Specialization: Elves, Catar, Humans, any race with Human blood in them, Norgan, and Gelfling are the only racial groups that may specialize as an Enchanter.

The Primary and Secondary Stats must both be above a 12 with a Spirit of at least 15 to learn the House of enchanter magic.

The Enchanter cannot learn magic from the house of Invocation or Necromancy as it negates their magic.

Evocation or Invocation

A calling forth of something that was not there before. A summoning, or evocation, is manifested through the focusing on things, energies and events. Example spells include Fireball, Lightning Bolt, Shards, Cone of Cold, Gates and Voids Call. It also includes conjurations of magical energy, such as Wall of Force, Impeding Darkness, Celestial Light, and Cloak of Reality.

Specialization: Norgan, Human and Centaur Beasts are the only racial groups that may become an Invoker.

Their Primary and Secondary Stats must be above a 15 to learn magic in this House. Their Endurance also must be above a 14 as well.

The Invoker cannot study magic of Charm nor summoning as these are opposing magic.

Illusion or Phantasm

The Illusionists, or Phantasms as some of them like to be called, focus on the falsification of reality by creating things that seem real but are not. The better they are, the more minds can be tricked into believing the lie set before them and thus create the desired result. Figment spells create artificial sensations with no physical substance. Glamour spells alter the target's sensory properties and can cause invisibility. Pattern spells create insubstantial images which affect the minds of the viewers and can inflict harm. Phantasm spells create hallucinations which can be harmful. Shadow spells use magical shadows to develop things with physical substance.

Specialization: Humans, Gnomes, Hobbit, Dwarves and Koolgal may become and Illusionist.

The Primary Stat must be at least a 16 and a spirit of 14 to learn magic of the house of Illusions.

They cannot learn magic in the House of Necromancy or Charms as they are an opposition magic to them.

Necromancy

Necromancers study the unpalatable art of the dead. Their fascination in this art enables them to manipulate life energy, allowing them to control dead things to the extent of re-animation and more sophisticated control. Healing and life restoration spells are in the Necromancy school of study. However, these spells are generally restricted to clerics, some alchemists and/or druids. Necromancy can usually be divided into a few categories; spells that help or create the Undead, such as Animate Dead, spells that hurt the Undead, such as Disrupt Undead, spells that harm other people, like Enervation or Vampiric Touch, and spells that manipulate life to heal, such as Regenerate or Cure Serious Wounds.

Specialization: Humans, Horgan, Ildrol, AleDun, and Orcs have the necessary essence to become a Necromancer.

The Spirit must be above a 25 and their Primary and Secondary stats must be at least a 13 to qualify to learn Necromancy.

The Necromancers cannot learn magic from the houses of Illusions and Enchanting as these are opposing magic.

Universal

Universal spells have effects too broad to place in any one class. Their general usefulness restricts them to any specialization. They often result in multiple effects, or achieve definitive impacts that do not fit cleanly into a specific category. The most famous of these spells is Minin's Beacon or the Wish Spell. As universal spells are not categorized in a school of study per se, no one can specialize in them.

Some characteristic spells are the Soul Call, which causes healing, restoration as well as the reviving of a dead thing. Reinforce is also a good one to note, since it creates more material in a sense during the action of fortifying what is already there.

Specialization: These types of spells are usable by all specializations and Elementalists.

Universal SPELLS: Refer to the Spell Descriptions and lists for more information on each spell.

Magical Sight

Vision types can be confusing in the magics of Cragnearth. Creatures may see differing things under similar environmental circumstances depending on their vision type. These are physical characteristics, not spell or skills in themselves. However, they can sometimes be modified by skills, potions or other external factors.

Those listed as Magical Sight include the Celestial, Dimensional, Spectral, Far and Shadow sight.

Seeing at night, in fog, seeing heat, seeing spirits, etc. A character's sight can give advantages or detriments in different scenarios. There are several types of sights defined below:

All sight types default to Human or standard vision capabilities under normal conditions.

Mystic Vision is a unique ability to see things in a trance-like state. This ability requires total concentration. Similar to Clairvoyance you can investigate distant areas you might not usually be able to see, up to 120'. If you can find someone who knows how to perform this ability, they can determine if you have the aptitude for it and then teach you.

To determine if you have the aptitude, any character can roll d100. If they are less than or equal to 2% or less at character creation time, they have that aptitude. Even still, you must find a teacher. If you find a teacher, they need make a check versus Intelligence roll. If successful, then the sight is teachable. When Mystic Sight is utilized, it works up to 1 minute per long rest.

True Sight is unique in that it can see everything as if nothing is blocking it.

Invisibles, shades, dimension locked, projections, and spirits all become visible with True Sight. Works up to 60' or 120' depending on the description where applied.

Table 10 Vision or Sight Types

Roll	Options	Sight Name	Description
1-4	2	Shadow	This sight enables one to see a couple of different ways depending on the type of shadow sight. 1) The ability to see past events of someone or something you touch as watching a shadow movie. 1 to 2 years past. 5 + 1d10 minutes. 2) The ability to see into the shadow realm as if it was lighted. 35 feet.
5-9	1	True sight	You have the ability to see all things as the truly are regardless of their stance or abilities. You see anything invisible, spectral entities, camouflaged things, magic assertions and anything that is hidden by magic. However, you cannot see dimensional things unless they are on the same plane. 60' (1-90%) and 120' (91-100%)
11-14	2	Celestial	1) Closing your eyes you see Spiritual Entities (mostly dead) and spirits as greyish 2) Celestial entities (living not visible to anyone else) This sight works in low light to dark and with training even in daylight up to 35'
15-18	3	FarSight	1) You have the ability to see distance as if standing next to someone. 100 + 1d% in yards accurately. 90% chance 2) This concentrative sight gives the ability to look with the Mind in distant locations not viewable normally. Up to 1 Mile, but you have to have been in the location previously. 3% chance 3) Have normal human sight with an overlay. You can see gates, portals, magical barriers, rifts, Reality shifts, aberrations in time. Up to 25'. 7% chance
19-70	1	Normal	If a creature has eyes usually, they have sight. Excluding injury, age, circumstance generally can view up to 200 yards. Limited vision in low light. Blind in the dark.
71-80	1	Acute	The ability to see with clarity, greater distances above normal. 1d4 how acute. 1) is 75' 2) is 120' 3) is 170' 4) is 220' with sharp clarity as if you were standing 5 feet away.
81-86	2	Dark	The ability to see in complete darkness: 1) 2 tone outlines and edges of physical things. It is all black and white. 30' 30% chance 2) You see heat signatures. Cold is black to variable shades of gray as things get warmer. 70% chance
87-90	1	Dimensional	The ability to perceive entities, not from one's native dimension. 20'
91-95	2	Spectral Ultra -Vision	You can see anything with a spirit or is a spirit up to 60 feet. Light not necessary for biological bodies, but nonorganic objects and the physical realm must have light to be seen.
96-98	1	Poor	Your vision is difficult to deal with distances over 20 feet are unclear at best.
99-100	1	Blind	You can't see it. But your Hearing and Touch are 1d4 times better than others.
	1	True Sight	Is unique in that it can see everything as if nothing is blocking it. Invisibles, shades, dimension locked, projections, and spirits all become visible with True Sight. Works up to 60' or 120' depending on the description where applied.
	1	Mystic Vision	is a unique ability to see things in a trance-like state. This ability requires total concentration. Similar to Clairvoyance you can look into distant areas you might not usually be able to see, up to a distance of 120'.

Section 3 Mechanics of Spell Casting

Your Magic stats

Depending on the type of spell caster, there will be different Primary and Secondary spell channels from which your spell powers, saving types and other factors are determined.

In the realms of magic, one only needs to alter the MANA in their immediate area to cause a manifestation in the Prime Material realm. This is also done by affecting one's own, or another's MANA, to produce a physical effect such as altering one's strength, shape, or any other desired aspect. Most creatures are hard-locked into a particular form that causes all other realities to align to that definition. If you can find the key to modify that definition, you can create change. Some definitions are very hard to change while others are simple. MANA that is hard-locked resists change and necessitates a resistance to alteration roll: a Target Achievement roll. We call this a difficult check. A TA Difficulty will be listed, (d20) defining the MANA Lock that must be overcome to cause the desired spell result. This difficulty is indicated as TA ## (example: written TA18).

Materials in which MANA is easily changed are called Shadowed. For materials in which MANA is so difficult to change, we call them crystaled or locked. Examples of a few items that are crystaled are the spirit of a being, Enchanted Quinline, Celestial Stone, Adamantium or free form MANA. Examples of some shadowed items are simple minerals, raw Quinline, unpurified Mythrill, and common un-spirited organisms (bugs and some animals depending on GM wants).

Every spell caster has a Spell Check (SS), calculated as follows:

Base value + proficiency + stat modifier + Skills Modifiers.

They also have a spell attack (SA):

Proficiency + Stat modifier + Skill Modifiers.

It is best to write the SA next to each spell as your levels increase since the value can change for some spells. By acquiring new skills or improved stats and such you improve your MANA portfolio.

In some instances for a TA, you must roll a d20 to see if you can even link to the MANA before the spell can be cast at or on a target since there is such a lock on the MANA, you cannot change it. Such an item exists in a couple of forms. Amantias sword. Its' essence is an intelligence of unknown origins all Spells in its proximity simple diffuse and do not work. Then there is the Ring in Domain. No magic can function within 30 feet of it. Peculiar items indeed. They seem to be magical in and of themselves.

Spell Casting

Generally, speaking, spell casting is simple. You determine the spells you want to prepare first thing in the day. You then, when needed, select the most appropriate spell, which has been prepared. You determine the amount of MANA it will cost you. Depending on the spell, some spells may add to your MANA cost based on the damage created in the spell. This is listed in the spell info.

Minimum MANA required for a spell is calculated by

If the spell requires you to make a link for a TA^, then add your Primary stat modifier + Proficiency + Skills modifier + 8 + 1d10 and hope that you are over the target's AD and any protection items they may have or have invoked. If successful, the spell is down range and is a hit; rack up the effect, total out the MANA used and subtract it from your total. If not successful, you can still roll a 1d20. If it totals above the target's AD value, they need to roll a check in luck and the spell can only do half its normal ability on a hit. A check under these circumstances negates the magic effects of the unlinked spell.

If it is a ranged or TA attack type spell, you take 8 + Proficiency bonus + Primary stat modifier + 1d20. If the roll is above the target AD and any protection items they may have or have invoked, you score a hit. Roll up your effects, total out the MANA used and subtract it from your total.

If the spell has a TA%, then you add up your (Primary stat modifier + Proficiency + Skills modifier + 6) times 2 + 1d100. Hope that it is above the required value. If successful, the target rates their check, you tally up the cost of the spell in MANA and subtract it from your total.

Some spells are just active spells that just cause an effect. The target must check against it and if successful, there is no effect. Again, the total sum of MANA used must be subtracted from your total.

Be aware of Magic exhaustion. You can technically cast spells until you are at ¼ of your MANA without any permanent damaging effects. See Exhaustion and Spells Page 38

Metal and MAGIC

Many MUC classes would love to cast spells and wield swords and the likes in combat as it would give them a better than average survival rate. Metal has a fragmenting or scattering property to it when dealing with metal on a MUC.

Of the magics bases that are known, Celestial, Ethereal and light are the only magics that tend not to be disrupted when being cast by a MUC wearing or wielding metal armor and implements.

One thing is consistent about magic casting it around Quinline or Mythril are a good way to screw up any spell and one's self. These metals have a high draw and effect on MANA especially if they are raw or unenchanted or are not closed to spells. It is almost like they fiddle with the MANA particles themselves like a magnet and iron.

If a MUC is wearing metal classed armor or wielding metal weapon metal in general has a sporadic effect on magic, by blocking, refracting it, reflecting it, by absorbing it and worst of all is twisting it in unexplained ways.

One can wear small parts of metal armor like Pauldrons, Guard brace, Cuisse, Greaves, Sabaton or boots. The other aspect of wearing metal armor is that it restricts movement and could affect semantics of a spell.

For these reasons MUCs just do not wear metal armor or wield metal weapons when trying to cast spells.

If you try casting a spell around Metal you must understand the failures and malfunctions that can occur. First off metal reduces MANA gathering by around 70%. So, if you cast a spell with metal armor donned. Calculate your MANA loss if you even want to try. The process of ***

Ceremonial Spell Casting

Spells that are annotated as Ceremonial can be cast in a Ceremonial form simply mean that the spell is cast in a very formal manner under the guise of the Ember Cantrip. In many cases the Cerimonial casting may reveal more or do more for the caster. Some gaming systems call these Ritual or Devine castings.

The Ember cantrip supplies the resources needed for a ceremonial form of a spell. The Ember cantrip will alleviate any extra MANA cost to the caster that a spell's damage would normally increase.

Under ceremonial casting, some spells can give a slightly different result than under a standard casting, such as with the Time Walk spell. For example, a standard casting of the Time Walk spell would allow movement for only a few minutes while a ritual casting may last for a generation.

In general, the time to cast a spell in ceremonial form is roughly 10 times the stated cast time or 2 hours, whichever comes first.

Any MUC that has the cantrip Ember can use it to enable them to cast a spell in ceremonial form, given that the spell can be cast in that form in the first place. If the spell has a ceremonial form, it will also have a description of the differing results from that of a standard casting.

Things to remember about a ceremonial casting of a spell:

- Takes 10 times longer than the standard cast time of spell (Maximum of 2 hours cast time)
- You still need the required components for the spell
- Must be cast in a peaceful location with no enemies around
- The spell is bound to the level you learned it at

- Ceremonial castings require one to be remain in the same location until the caster has completed the spell
- Ceremonial spells must be a part of your known or learned spells
- Ceremonial spell casting should not be interrupted before they are finished. This could cause a MANA vacuum on the caster or in their location. See Ills of Magic

The Dweomer

The zweomer is like a spell but not quite the same. It can be read from a tome or scroll but rarely does a zweomer go forth and perform an action. It is instead like the essence of an action laid upon or in an object.

When an enchanter begins their work, they must make an object ready to receive the magic. They must choose to imbue an object with a preparation zweomer. Casting a spell with a zweomer converts the spell into a sort of “program” in a sense. This “program” can now be placed in or on an object. An example is a light spell placed in or on a crystal. Zweomer can also define the activation of a spell’s essence. It can simply allow the spell to work as if cast from a scroll or requiring a trigger.

When casting zweomers of a spell, it will consume all the spell materials record symbolic gestures and establish the power ability of the Spell like recording a movie and placing it in or on the object. The command, word, gesture, or action finishes the movie and you get the results.

The higher level of the enchanter the better reliability in general of the results. Enchanting and use of zweomers are not for every MUC. High skills and attributes make it an easier task with less painful failures.

Preparatory Zweomers: Purify, Conversion, Binding, Rift, Seal, Fortification, Drain, and Focus. See the Zweomer Chart for more details.

Completion Zweomers:

Hex and Curses

The Hex or Curse is a form of magic that falls under the category of Charm type spells. They are usually bad, as in the case with curses, but in some bizarre circumstances may be good. To be cast, they follow the same processes as standard spell casting.

The nature of these types of spells generally has a lasting effect long after the event that brought them into being has passed. Diseases, bad luck, or an effect of any myriads of abilities can happen.

Rune

The Rune is a little different than a spell and, in some ways, far more powerful. The rune is a physical form of magic. In simplistic form, the Rune can be compared to a scroll. Everything for the spell is in the Rune as in the scroll. When a rune is read, the magical event that a rune is holding will occur, just like with the reading of a magical scroll.

Runes can be physically embedded into the material of something through carving or molding. It may also be magically placed on something, visibly or invisibly, and runes can be worn as pendants or some other jewelry piece.

Regardless of its placement, runes all function in the same manner. Once a Rune is properly uttered, the ability locked away within the rune will begin to function or perform in the way that it was designed.

It may be a trap, may open a door, turn on protection or healing--the possibilities are endless. Several classes have Runic Magic in their arsenal of magic. They are the Shadow Hunters, the Sages, Celestial Clerics, Fili, Wards and Enchanters. Druids also have Rune Spells.

Spell Ills

Spell ills are the errors and problems that a MUC can have or cause. In all case, they are not good.

The first ill is spell backfire. This results when a higher-level MUC actively casts a counter spell against another MUC without that MUC being aware of the counter spell. Usually, the counter spell simply causes the original spell to fall to a 0-target range. No fun for the MUC at all.

The second ill is MANA sickness. It causes the personal MANA of the MUC to become unbound MANA. This makes it difficult to cast spells since the caster no longer has locked or bound MANA, and this results in the MUC being cast into level 2 Exhaustion.

Another ill is a refracted spell. This is usually caused when an MUC casts a spell at a portal that does not allow active MANA to pass through its form. MANA is refracted into the portal. This can cause the portal to change the end location, to result in an unknown ending and starting location, lock or trap whatever enters the portal, detonate the portal or cause the portal to suck everything within a given range through it.

Detonating portals cause a rift in the realm, creating a pocket dimension. This is usually not a bad thing unless a creature in another realm was close enough to the rift when it occurred and gets sucked into the pocket dimension.

Dweomers Chart

The Dweomers types are abbreviated PD ~ Preparatory Dweomer, RD ~ Resolving Dweomer, AD ~ Augmentation Dweomer and finally the MD ~ Member Dweomer. The Preparatory dweomers are those used to prepare an item or object to receive enchantment or be enchanted. Resolving dweomers are how enchantments are finalized and completed, providing the trigger with which to activate an enchantment (s). Augmentation Dweomers are Dweomers that cause things, items, objects to have a temporary or permanent aid in the Creation of an enchanted Item, but can vary depending on a caster's wants such as defining a dimensional space for an enchantment. For example, defining a dimensional space of a 3-foot sphere to a 10 x 10 x 10-foot room.

Member Dweomers are those effects or spells that can be added to an enchantment to modify the results of spells/enchantments. Such dweomers include the color of a colored fog, speed of an arrow, type of an arrow, or perhaps the sphere of influence.

Table 11 Dweomer Chart

Level	Ideas	Type	Duration	Action Rounds	Description
1	Conversion	AD	1 Hour	10	A special dweomer used to prepare an Item to receive enchantments, spells and other dweomers. It converts the material for a limited time into a MANA container.
1	Fortification	AD	30 seconds	1	A special dweomer that causes a material to withstand immense cosmic forces for a temporary time. Usually about 30 seconds or 5 rounds
1	Spell Bind	PD	Length of Spell	Action of spell plus 1	This is a simple dweomer that enables one to embed a single spell into an object for later use. I  know a mage who made and carried a dozen rocks with Fire Balls bound on them in a pouch. Impact would release of the spell. Worked Well until he fell one day and landed on the bag. He did survive though thanks to the Fortify Spirit he had ready and a Shield spell. It took him a while to fully recover!
1	Reconstruction	MD AD	1 Hour	10	This enchantment can take something that was originally whole, purposely crush and then reassemble it. This has been used in Explosive Runes, Shattering Orb, as well as Lancer's rod.
1	Discernment	PD	3 rounds	2	This dweomer will encompass the entire surface of an object and within any flaw a reddish hue will glow. Used to validate an object for enchantments and Foci. The more often the dweomer is used, the deeper in an object the dweomer will discern.
2	Sundering	SD	1 Round	2	This is a defamation spell. It can be used as a trap, can be the actual entrapment, or as an augmentation to a combat enchantment.
2	Purify	PD	6 hours	5	A special dweomer that causes a material to rid itself of bindings, natural enchantments, material impurities that could hamper a final product. This process requires a piece of the same material in its purest possible form--the purer the better. The pure material is rubbed onto the target item as the dweomer is placed on the object. The essence will be consumed by the dweomer. All impurities will be left as ash around the object.
2	Seal	RD	Permanent	C>2	A binding dweomer that causes an item to lock and bind any spells, dweomers, or enchantments in that object. In most cases, this is not reversible and is permanent.

3	Bind	RD	Until the next spell, bind, seal, or dweomer is cast, or 1 week, whichever comes first	C>5	A temporary binding dweomer that causes an item to go into a stasis-like condition for up to a week. It cannot be used in any form or function. Any spell, dweomer, or enchantment cast near it will negate the bind and, in some cases, could be apocalyptic. Every item is different in what near means with regards to distance. It could 1-inch, touching directly or up to 30 feet.
3	Focus	AD	Permanent	C>10	This permanent Dweomer is used in objects that require charging, draw something in from external sources, or to form traps. It has been used in Soul Stealing, MANA drain, Life Leach, Overload, and Gate seals. It requires solid concentration of the caster on the Dweomer until the object receives the dweomer completely.
3	Metanoia	SD	3 Hours	4	This spell-like enchantment results in a visitation of a creature that the holder reveres and to which it gives a blessing (All illusion).
4	Drain	PW AD	Special	C>2	This dweomer causes the object to convert a defined material, within a few inches of it, into an essence and absorb it as part of an enchantment. All properties of the consumed material that is not of the defined type is converted to its material base essence and left behind as pure dust.
4	Cage	AD	Function	2	This dweomer places in an object a domain of sorts for holding things. i.e. Souls, objects, spirits, etc. It is used in the magic bags, boxes, containers, jars etc. The Function placed with the dweomer will define how long it will last. Until MANA Runs out, until a specific Object is removed, etc. At that point the magic is negated, and it becomes dust. This has been used in various Focus.
4	Motion	MD	Special	C>1 Hour	This dweomer can be used to capture images like a movie camera to use as illusions or events to be used at another time. It requires full concentration for the entire duration of casting. It causes Level 1 Exhaustion. Once completed, the item can utilize any part of the Dweomer as the Lock or Seal defines. Examples of use are capturing an image of a dragon charging you or a hundred undead coming out of the ground. Great Illusions stuff.
5	Buoyancy	PD	1 Hour	3	This dweomer will cause an object to stay at whatever location it is set at until canceled. It is used when something needs to be isolated from other things to not experience interference. Was used in making the Iron bow of Death. The bow was placed about 100 feet above a lake, from where it could then absorb thousands of shards of pure diamond crystal with drain dweomers cast by a dozen Arch mages. However, once the project was done, the bow was more than they bargained for. It had to be locked away for safe keeping.
5	Lock	RD	Permanent	1	This dweomer will lock a single enchantment instead of sealing the entire item as finished. It can be used to place incidental enchantments on or in an object, or for making a simple item. The Lock will define command words, actions or triggers to activate release what is being locked.

5	Summoning	AD MD	Special	10	This dweomer will get you in trouble. It enables the object to cause a summoning of whatever is defined by the dweomer when placed. The definition may be a name, an object, or description of what is to be summoned. Once it is summoned, hopefully you have something else on hand to help deal with whatever was summoned. This has also been used to capture entities and drain their essence for some spells and enchantments. It can only affect or summon those things that can travel dimensionally, teleport, gate, or hop domains.
6	Rift	MD AD	Special	10	This dweomer is very different from all the others and is very dangerous. If cast on some enchantments or spells, it can cause a rending of the magic and is usually catastrophic. Its purpose, when used with certain spells, is to force an opening in the spell. The Rings of Gates were created using this Dweomer and it cost three students their lives in the making. The rift dweomer is usually cast as a first option in object making. The next spells and dweomers are what cause the above issues. If done in the wrong order, hope you have a towel! The rift usually has a binding placed on it before doing anything else. Some have successfully placed an enchantment in a seal on the rift without permanent harm. The Black Star Medallion is such an item. The purpose of the Rift and the invoking of is part of the Rift dweomer. This is a specialized area of magic.
6	Demise	AD	Instantaneous	5	This dweomer enables the enchanter to push the limits of the primary enchantment beyond its intended result. Usually brings a demise or cataclysmic result.
6	Absorption	AD	Special	3	This dweomer, when placed on an item, enables the item to store MANA up to a point equal to the base MANA of the caster. It must be locked afterward, or it will simply continue to absorb and store any and all MANA, making it a time bomb for the first accident. Once locked, but not sealed, the command can be given to store raw MANA or a spell for later use. You can also place another dweomer in it for use later, Absorption can also be made to perform one action and then dissipate.

The Hex

The Hex is a form of charm that curses an individual or thing. There is the Hex blade, Hex spell, and the Hex dweomer. This list contains options that a Hex can have based on the School of Magic. All these variants of a Hex allow for a target to roll checks against physical damage per round. A remove curse will end a Hex. A Minor Restoration will restore lost stat points within 1 hour.

To perform a hex, the caster places a curse on a target that they can see within range, beginning the process. Restoration spells without a Remove Curse will only slow down or postpone the Hex's results.

If a target drops to 0 hit points before this spell ends, the caster can use a bonus action on a subsequent turn of theirs to hex a new creature.

Table 12 List of Hexes

Level	Hex Name	School	Description of Results
1	Life Hex	Abjuration	This Hex causes the individual to stop healing for the duration of the spell. Any time that damage is done, an additional die of that damage is added to the hexed creature. The target will lose the usage of one of the abilities chosen by the Hexer for the duration of the spell. Implement Mastery or Target Mastery.
1	Cursed Hex	Evocation	The caster causes one of three things to occur to a target: movement reduction, reaction reduction or power reduction. Once the type has been defined, it cannot be changed. The caster must maintain concentration on the Hex to maintain the effect. At the beginning of each round, the target must succeed in a check to overcome the Hex's. Movement Reduction: The targets movement rate is cut in half and no dash is possible. Only one action allowed each turn. Reaction Reduction: The target gains no reaction moves, checks or attack, and no bonus actions each round. All other factors stay the same. Power Reduction: The target loses all bonus damage, damage modifiers, and strength feats or actions each round.
1	Unholy Darkness	Illusion	This is a curse which crowds the target's mind with darkness. The victim cannot see and they are haunted by voices and vile words, which can drive them mad and make them want to kill themselves. They must make a check or be terrified until the curse is removed. If they fail, they attempt to leave the area for a known safe location
1	Death Hex	Necromancy	Until the spell ends, you deal an extra 1d6 necrotic damage to the target whenever you hit it with an attack. Also, choose one ability when you cast the spell. The target now has disadvantage on this ability's checks. A Remove Curse cast on the target ends this spell early.
3	Hell Hex	Conjuration	This Hex causes the individual to have a circle of brimstone placed around them. The target will take 1d4 damage each round for Hell Fire for the duration of the spell. The target cannot leave the circle as it will move with them. Only protection spells of a Holy nature can counter this Hex without a Remove Curse.
3	Rotting Hex	Conjuration	This Hex curse causes the target to stop healing and causes sores to slowly break out all over the body. Similar to Grave's disease (in the Book of the Undead) in that the flesh begins to rot, the curse or disease causes 1d4 damage of necrotic rot to the target. If the target reaches 0 hit points, they will become a Heckling undead.
4	Death Hex	Enchantment	Until the spell ends, you deal an extra 1d4 necrotic damage to the target whenever anyone hits the target with an attack. The target has disadvantage on ability checks dealing with Constitution or Endurance. A remove curse cast on the target ends this spell early.
5	Death Call	Divination	This curse is a delayed curse and gives only latent signs of one's eventual demise. It requires the caster to physically touch the individual. Initially, the target will experience a loss of 1 point of Strength and Constitution followed by 1d6 necrotic damage and whatever damages the Hexer hits him with. Thenceforth, every hour, the target will lose 1 point of Strength and 1 point of Constitution. This curse does not require concentration to be maintained after the target's skin turns a slight grayish hue in color from failing its initial check. Once this occurs, the Death call has been completed. The individual must fail their check three times in a row to have the death call answered. The individual will begin to receive 1d4 necrotic damage in addition to the Strength and Constitution loss. Once a character reaches 0 life points, they turn to dust. If they succeed in their initial check the HEX/Curse is negated.

5	Ash Hex	Enchantment	This Hex basically cause a target to begin drying up. It is a flesh to stone style of curse. It requires up to 1 day to complete the change. Once completed, the target is dead. The target slowly becomes stiffer and stronger with time. It appears that weight is not an issue anymore as the Stone morphing effect increase the strength of the character up to about 4 points of strength. The truth is that the target is turning to a sandy stone. The caster must maintain concentration of the target the entire time. This Hex can only be used above the 4th level. The target's AD will increase by 1 point every hour until their physical AD is a 20. Then it will begin to decrease to 10 by 1 point an hour. At the point when AD begins to decrease, the target's movement rate is cut in half. Only 1 action per turn is allowed, they cannot dash and when the target's AD remains at 10 for 1 hour they solidify and die. Remove Curse must be used before the stone is solidified.
5	Blights Hand	Transmutation	This curse is unnerving in that the victim does not know anything is wrong. It begins like a cold and then the target gets well. Then, very slowly, the victim begins to feel suspicious of everyone around them. This can take many months. The infected will come to believe that weapons are dangerous for anyone to have except for themselves down to that children are vile, evil goblin-like creatures and must be killed. This curse can be transmitted by the victim simply by wishing the curse they have received on someone else. The curse does 1d4 necrotic damage whenever the target is struck and receives damage.
6	Damnation Hex	Evocation	This Hex causes the target to have the feelings that death is coming after them from every shadow. Paranoia sets in. A check must be made every round to maintain control of one's mind. Each failure will increase the sense of impending doom. The caster must maintain concentration on this spell. If concentration is broken, the Hex ends. When a target fails twice in a row, they will take 1d4 necrotic damage and they will believe that they see a sickle slicing at them. If they fail three times in a row, the damage increases to 1d6. If they fail four times in a row, it increases to 1d8. Five times, it changes to 1d10 and does not get any worse. If the target reaches 0 hit points, they will collapse to the ground and receive no other damage. They are not dead.
6	Undead Hex	Necromancy	This curse sends a bolt of unholy energy at the target. When the caster strikes them, 1d10 is done in necrotic damage. The target must make a constitution check or be stunned for 1d4 rounds for each round that the caster maintains concentration. During such time, if the target can hear and understand the caster, the target will perform the actions the caster commands them to do. However, they gain none of their personal abilities, just their actions. If a constitution check fails twice in a row, they are stunned for 1d6 rounds. If the target reaches 0 hit points, they will remain in the seemingly stunned nature, becoming a mindless animation to the caster for the 1d6 rounds.
6	Undead Hex	Transmutation	This curse is a literal transformation of the target to an undead. The target will be cursed and until the transformation has started, the caster must maintain concentration. The curse starts with the caster striking them and causing 1d6 necrotic damage. They must succeed on a constitution check D°C 14. If they fail, they will contract the Life Corruption disease--horrible way to go--and become an undead. The Body slowly begins to rot in about 1 hour. The skin becomes a grayish color the individual will feel cold and weak and begin losing hit point over a 3-to-4-hour time span. The bodies healing abilities stop working. Magical healing in any form will delay the next events arrival. At the end of the 3 to 4 hours the individual will collapse and fall unconscious as their hit point have all been depleted. In about 2 hours his heart will stop and they will die. To awaken as a mindless walking dead. At any point before he dies a remove curse and Restoration will return the individual to the world of the living. Once dead no chance of restoration and all is lost.

Rune Magic

Runes use the user's/caster's personal MANA pool for empowerment. The level number is the level that you can start choosing the Rune at, not before. Runes listed as skills can be used as often as you have MANA to empower it, while those listed as spells may be used once per full rest.

Runes have levels as well. They gain levels by successfully deploying them 20 times, capping out at a max level of 18. Levels are the Rune's level; plus, the level you get the Rune at.

Each time the Shadow hunter gains a level; they may choose to have the shift go to a variant. It cannot use anything that it could not use in its native form.

Roll %/2 die to see how many strike a particular area	Will cause stone to crack and powder depending on how hard the stone is. Soft stone is a bomb. 2d4 damage. Cover your eyes. Any who looks at it must make a D°C 16 check or be blinded 1d4 days.	Metal will glow red hot but put off no heat. For duration, it is considered holy. Evil cannot touch it.	Will cause it to be purified. If Evil, 1 cubic foot of evil material is destroyed and cannot be regenerated. If Good, it will heal it 2d4 +level/3 HP. With No alignment, will cause living beings to have a vision. If dead, will enable the m to speak.

Section 4: Magic and Prayer

As stated before, MANA is a unique form of essence which intermingles with the entire universe and more. MANA exists in parallel to, and proportionally to, all things material. The essence of a spell caster's power comes from the manipulation of 'personal' MANA to affect an alteration in the 'Universal' or 'World' MANA.

In the beginning of a MUC's life, there is the assumption that the MUC had some innate magic or manifestation of magical abilities, such as a wish or an ability to do some trick or such. A mentor might have taken them under their wing, perhaps to have an ally in the realms. The individual could have stumbled upon a tomb or scroll that enticed them to study. In some cases, they might have lived by some old ruins, and they found something that enabled them to perform some magic, increasing their interest in the subject. A background is everything to a MUC.

Depending on the class of MUC one chooses, will define what base characteristics empower the MUC (see Stats chart below for primary and secondary characteristics). A MUC's starting MANA is then calculated in the following Base MANA Chart.

A MUC starts out with far more MANA than they think they will need and this often has caused some to have a false sense of superiority, arrogance or perhaps pomposity.

Improvements in MANA occur in several Ways. First by creation or purchase of a Focus. A manufactured focus by the PC is usually more powerful and already attuned to the MUC. A focus creation is covered a little later with basic MUC skills.

The second way is to alter your stats thus improving your MANA.

The third way is by Spell, Augury or blessings by a deity.

A fourth way rarely discussed, as so not counted as a way, are Magical implements that will also improve the MANA base. Many a MUC makes it a major event in their lives seeking and finding at least one of these legendary items. This has caused a Mage war in the past.

In the Roller Program, this chart is modifiable to suit your wants.

This Chart Shows the MANA that MUC gains at each level.

Depending on one's levels and the amount of MANA utilized, one can recoup about 25 MANA per hour as a general value. Sleep will increase it to about 32 MANA an Hour. In a 30-hour day, you can recoup about 750 and 1024 MANA a day without any effort.

However, when needed, this can be accelerated using a Focus, some skills, Dweomers cast on oneself and as mentioned sleep. Using a Link to the MANA realm and some soulful meditation it has been known to be increased up to 100 an Hour. This forced refilling can cause Level 1 Exhaustion.

Depending on the power of the Focus you could replenish nearly all their power forcing the focus to recharge. When things are critical you must do what you must do. Arch Wizard Narlishar created a focus with a permanent link to the MANA realm. It caused some problems is channeling too much power and nearly overloaded to exploded as well cause her to ignite in celestial fire. It is nice to watch people burn, and she did live.

It is nearly impossible to destroy a focus accept by crushing and of course, that would cause a huge MANA load and some wild magic and what else.

Standard Skills of a MUC

All MUCs have 4 innate magic skills that they can learn to use. Spell sight (SS1), Fortify Spirit (FS2), Soul Point Conversion (SPC3) and Enchanting (EN4).

The chart below shows the level at which these abilities can be learned by the various classes. They must find a teacher of the 12th level or better to teach them.

Spell Sight (SS1)

This ability requires total concentration by the MUC. No other action can be performed while this is in use. The MUC creates a small but adequate magic circle and places the 9 collected base elements (Earth, Wind, Water, Time, Gravity, etc.) for the spell in to an obsidian bowl. They then cast the Dweomer of the Spell on an area or object. The caster will receive an image of the nature of target's magic, if any. Duration is 5 rounds. With skill and study, they can get very accurate in the understanding of the Sights.

The GM will describe the images containing some symbolic reference as to the Magic base's element, reactive element and soul effect. Success of the Sight is based on a saving versus Intelligence throw, D°C12.

For example, in the instance of a Hail Storm, the MUC might see the image of the ground covered in ice, with a jagged line slicing a light or dark sphere. A fireball trap may give the caster the image of a dry arid area, with a red sphere approaching.

This ability has also been used in combat situations. Sometimes MUCs would keep a target interested in them, buying the MUC time to learn the target's active base of magic, of any fortification spells, or active magic items they had on hand--Not the best use of the ability but it can help.

Fire based spells and dweomers are seen as arid places, steaming rocks or floating fire.

Water based spells and dweomers are seen as rivers, ponds or rain.

Air based spells and dweomers are seen as dust devils, flags waving, or trees bending against a wind.

Earth based spells and dweomers are seen as rock piles, stone cliffs, or a rocky pit.

Celestial based spells and dweomers are seen as white-lit empty rooms, suns, or as a Hand holding a glowing Bar.

Ethereal based spells and dweomers are seen as spherical dark orbs against white backgrounds, dead creature's hands, or as white orbs filled with dark jagged lines crossing the surface.

Mythical/Light based spells and dweomers are seen as white spheres on a colored background, an Angel looking humanoid floating in the air, or as white flames.

Time based spells and dweomers are seen as hourglasses, a person aging rapidly, or as images of a setting sun.

Gravity based spell and dweomers are seen as a funnel shaped pit, an object falling, or an object stuck to a wall.

Fortify Spirit (FS2)

This ability is a protection type ability. The caster places a small spectral/celestial energy that is part of their essence onto his outer garments. It is the casters spell check versus spiritual attack value per level. It takes 1 full action to initiate the ability and the caster must be aware that a spell has targeted them. This ability requires 8 points of MANA per level of enemy caster. Use of this ability negates the enemy's caster's ability to cast another spell while still active since it requires full concentration. The ability lasts for 1 minute or until canceled. No concentration type spells may be cast while Fortify Spirit is active.

This ability will protect the caster utilizing the FS2 ability if a spell targeting them from the enemy caster is one which takes life directly from the caster without damaging the physical form.

For example, this ability can defend against Life Leach, Soul Leach, Soul Lock, Spirit Bind, Celestial Shard, Holy or Unholy Shard, Soul Bind, Mesmerize, Spirit Rift, Mind Control and Possession. The targeting spell must already be in the process of being cast before the targeted MUC can initiate the ability.

The level of the spell plus the level of the caster that targets the individual is subtracted from the energy that is created to protect them. Once the protection is gone (0 energy left), the target is then susceptible to the spell. This line of defense cannot be stacked or re-initiated until the current protection has ended.

Soul point Conversion (SPC3)

A MUC can convert 1 Soul Point (Spirit) that they have into half the amount of MANA one acquires for their current level. It costs 1 Soul Point, 1 point of Endurance and 1 point of Strength per conversion. Follow the rules of exhaustion for any MUC that utilizes this ability. If a caster converts $\frac{1}{4}$ of their soul points to MANA they are considered Exhausted, level 2. If they convert $\frac{1}{2}$ of their Soul Points, they are considered Exhausted, level 3.

You regain 1 Soul Point, 1 point of Strength and half a point of Endurance for each full hour of rest.

Enchanting (EN4)

The enchanting ability enables a MUC to emblaze spell type abilities into or onto an object. To do this, they must prepare the object to receive the spell dweomer.

See Enchanting in section 6. In most cases an object only needs to have a conversion dweomer cast upon it and the dweomer to be accepted by the object to enable a spell effect to be emblazoned in or on it. This conversion changes the state of the object from its natural state to an essence tomb. This enchanting must be employed for each spell ability that the enchanter wants to emblazon on or in an object. In some cases, the enchanter must make the item from scratch while this dweomer is cast.

Once an item is enchantable, one must be very careful not to cast another dweomer on or near the object in error, as it could take that spell's ability of which the MUC would be unaware. This is how the Cursed Axe of Elrin was made. Mortice cast Life Leach near the Axe. Unbeknownst to her, when she had placed another acceptance dweomer on the axe, she locked the Life Leach within and activated it on accident.

An object must fail a check against a D°C 16 spell effect to accept the conversion. Some materials give a bonus to receiving enchantments while others may give detriments. Check the Enchanting Materials chart listed at the end of this section.

The Spell

The casting of spells is an ability of a character to interface in the realm's essence and cause unique specialized effects to occur through the manipulation of their own MANA, a target's MANA or focused MANA, thus affecting the material of the realm they are in. Such manipulations include creating a palm of fire, a firestorm, or a noise that drives one mad.

A spell, once discovered, is sort of like a chemical formula. Specific materials, gestures, harmonies are used to cause a reproducible event based on the Materials utilized.

The procedures and materials used to create said reproducible events, or magical effects, are then permanently recorded in spellbooks, tomes, scrolls, or etched into metal plates for future use. Such spell formulas have been recorded in common tongues, in unique or special tongues, or in specialized magical languages which restrict who can gain access to the magic inscribed in the pages--to protect them or be lost to antiquity.

Spell's effects may provide means of defense, discernment, identification of things, weapons, doors, and sustenance, to name a few uses.

Determine spell cost of a spell is done by taking the Caster's Level times the Spell's Level being cast at as MANA used.

Prayer

What is the difference between a prayer and a spell? In many ways, there is no difference, but when dealing with results the source of the power utilized to achieve the results are very different.

Prayers are a request of one's deity or higher power to bestow a desired ability, skill, effect or event. Examples include the creation of a trail of light to mark a path through a dangerous area, holy light to keep the Undead at bay, or perhaps a healing touch to restore life.

Keep in mind that it is not the character who is manipulating the MANA of an environment as a MUC will do, but the deity, through a bestowing of a request upon the character. The same principles hold true for prayers as in magic the process of casting is similar.

Level of the Magic

In discussing the level of magic, we will use the term 'spell' here to refer to a spell, dweomer or Prayer for simplicity's sake. Every spell concept in the Referee system has a power level rating from 0 to 9, as found in many other RPG systems. The power level of a spell defines how robust the spell's results are.

In simple terms, the higher the level of a spell, the greater the effect. Any improved effects of spells will be listed with each spell description along with their required levels. Some spells may not have an improved effect but the area of effect may become larger.

All spells, regardless of level, may be cast from a higher level. The player must be aware that the costs of MANA will change depending on the casting level.

For example, if the MUC is a 4th level MUC casting a 2nd level spell, the spell may have the option to cast it at a higher level say at 3rd level it would be 10 points of MANA for the spell.

Casting at lower levels may give a player the option to cast a spell repeatedly, if allowed. In the example above, for a MUC with 160 MANA points, the MUC technically could cast the 3rd level spell twelve times (10 x 9 times = 90 MANA points used) before exhaustion would set in (see Exhaustion and Spells).

Those spells that are a Level 0 are categorized as a Cantrip or inherent spell. In as such, they can be cast as often as there are points available to cast them.

Prepared Spells

A MUC must start off the day by familiarizing themselves with their arsenal of spells. They must choose the spells they wish to ready. It is a period in which they must spend etching the desired spells into their mind. Once prepared, a spell is castable up to half the MANA value a MUC can wield at one time. Example: if a MUC has 250 points of MANA, they could cast a spell using up to 125 MANA if the spell enables higher MANA values this will be described in the spell description.

The quantity of spells the MUC's class may ready for any one day are called Known spells.

Exhaustion and spells

In-depth information is found in the players handbook Section 16 Situation rules. When three quarters of a MUC's MANA is used without a break between spells, exhaustion will set in (Exhaustion Level 1). If it took him 3 hours to cast the spells utilizing the 75% of their MANA a break of half that time 1.5 hours is required in a rest.

This places a MUC into a state of disadvantage in all that they do. They can overcome this by performing a short rest. If no rest occurs, the caster will lose a point of Endurance for each subsequent casting. Once half their Endurance is gone, they are considered Exhausted Level 2. Movement and concentration are greatly reduced. If they lose three quarters of their Endurance, they will collapse to the ground, Exhausted Level 3 and enter a deep slumber. Many never awaken from spell exhaustion. It will require an external event to bring them to awareness and awaken them after at least one hour of exhaustion. The awakening can be at the discretion of the GM or he may use a constitution check D°C 10 or better.

It is said that the symptoms of spell exhaustion are akin to that of an opiate withdrawal for a MUC. It can cause lasting magical illnesses and MANA dependencies. One way to help prevent such exhaustion from occurring is by resting, but when that is not an option, utilizing a focus or an implement to gain MANA from sources will reduce the chances of exhaustion.

Who can use the Spell

Anyone who can read a spell's written language can technically cast the spell when it is in the form of a scroll. However, unless an individual is a MUC of some level, they cannot cast a spell from a tome, manuscript, etching, or an incised plate. A caster requires the semantics materials listed for each spell, in some case harmonics of word song type training is in order for some spells to work properly.

Some scrolls have been known to purposely be made to lack one of the affecting components, thus making them useless to all excepting MUCs, who would know the missing component.

Spell Duration

A spell's duration is the time that a spell's effect persists, as described in the spell's lore. However, a caster can increase the duration of a spell by a few ways without needing to cast it at a higher level. There is not any maximum restriction to which the length of a spell's duration may be manipulated. Primary means of increasing duration, is by focusing on the spell's duration and doubling the MANA utilized in the casting of the spell. It must be declared before the spell is cast. Depending on the level of spell and the caster's level, this can cause exhaustion in one spell. An 8th level spell cast at a 10th level by a level 17 MUC would cost 97 points, with another added 80 points, and could cause exhaustion to the MUC.

Activation Types

Spells can have a couple of types of activation or cause initiatives. They are Instantaneous and Concentration.

As the term implies, the spell activates or functions immediately for Instantaneous, leaving little to no time for anyone to do anything to thwart the spell. Unless, of course, a counter spell was already ready.

Other spells require a period of concentration to maintain the spell's duration and therefore allow for events or situations to break the concentration of the caster, thus ending the spell.

Breaking concentration can occur a couple of ways for a MUC.

First, by casting another spell requiring concentration, negating the first spell. Some rare individuals with exceptional mental aptitude have been known to be able to concentrate on two simple spells but only when isolated and safe from any external forces.

For the chance to even occur, the caster stats must have at least 90% on both primary and secondary stats and be fully rested. The spell must be cast at half or below the MUC's spell level if possible. Usually, 1st through 3rd level spells are the limits for most, as these are the simple spells noted above. They must make a check against their Wisdom at a D°C of 15 for each spell per round that the spell is active--not a simple feat to say the least.

Second, concentration is broken when the caster takes any form of damage. When damage is taken, the caster must succeed on a Endurance caving throw check of D°C of 12 to maintain concentration on the spell.

Lastly, an event or situation renders the MUC unconscious, incapacitated, or at the worst, dead. No rolls are needed, the casting and results of the spell just turns off or if the spell has wild magic to it, it may perform some random event based on the chart for Wild Magic.

Area of Effect Spells

Some spells are not target-centric spells. They strike an area and thus everything must make appropriate checks and actions while in that designated area. This type of spell is called an Area of Effect spell (AOE). The better known of these AOE spells are the Fire Ball, Lightning Swarm, various Storms, and Rifts. Each spell description describes the area that is directly affected by the AOE spell. These types of spells are cast with a point of reference targeted by the MUC. A pillar, a mark on the floor or some other designated point from which the spell manifests, explodes, or originates from and expands are examples.

These types of spells also contain descriptors which designate how the expansion occurs. Such as the following of a pattern, a straight line, an ever expanding circle, hopping from target to target and so on. The spell will also note if it is along a line of sight or is a volume spell. Line of sight means the expansion moves out in a straight line and anything that blocks the path stops the advance of the spell from carrying on to the other side of the object. The spell does not wrap around the object. The volume type spells, depending on the speed of expansion, flow around objects. Such examples include the Stinking Cloud, Earthquake, Stone to Magma, and Stasis Air spells.

Line of sight spells have designated shapes in which they expand. They are the cone, cylinder, and line, while volume type spells have sphere, cube, and mass ways of expansion.

Focus creation and Usage

The Focus has been a mystery to the world of magic for eons. Why do some items store MANA for use and others do not.? In this section, we will discuss the notions of the Focus and how to make them.

The pure Focus can be any material that has a negative or 0 MANA value of its own. There are only two such substances known: Pure Celestial Crystals and Spheres of MANA found in the Ethereal Plane. The paths to obtain these are only for the experienced, high-level characters and are not practical for most people. They are also very expensive to purchase if someone unknowledgeable enough to be selling them is found.

So, the next best thing, is to make something that reacts like this negative or 0 MANA object. To achieve this is a costly and time-consuming event to say the least or it may be possible to find someone who makes them for a living. These individuals are few and far between and usually the objects are very, very, VERY costly.

Let's begin with the collection of items that will be needed. First and foremost, a form of Pure Raw Crystal. Yes Raw! Uncut! The caster must determine that there are no major flaws in the crystal via the dweomer of Discernment. The crystal should be at least 25 karats in size. Listed below are the crystals that are known to work in order of power.

Ideal crystals are Celestial Sun Stones, Rubies, Black Sapphires, Blue Sapphires, White Diamonds, White Sun Stones, Tourmalines, Elvish Aventurines, Grossular Garnets, Topazes, Yellow Sapphires, Star Sapphires, White Lava Glass, and Red Sun Stone.

The MUC will need a Silvers bath for the crystal (see Smithy [silver or gold]) valued at 250 gold, A vial of celestial crystal dust (3oz) valued at 500 gold, an ounce of enchanted silver dust per level of Focus, a suitable enchanting dweomer dust of the elemental base of the Focus(1 oz) worth 1000 gold, and finally a setting in which the crystal is to be mounted so that it can be worn or carried.

The caster must check for 5 days using enchantments of discernment to validate that the crystal is flaw free for the usage of the Focus (a roll of 5% or less is considered a flaw). Once no flaws are found, the Maker must clean and purify the crystal in the silvers bath for a week--tiresome to say the least, gently stirring every couple of hours and checking for flaws as it is being purified and readied for enchantments and dweomers. A dweomer of Enchanting must be cast upon the crystal as the crystal enters the bath and when it is removed. The crystal can only be handled using a pure silver glove that has also been cleansed via a silvers bath.

Now for the hard work: the powdered celestial crystal dust must be placed in the silvers bath. The crystal is once again placed in the bath while casting a dweomer of Enchantment on it. It must soak in the bath for up to 6 hours then removed. This is repeated daily, for each level the Focus is being created for, enchanted silver dust mingled with the dust of the desired elemental base must be sprinkled with an enchantment of Receiving upon the crystal when removed from the Bath.

Again for 5 days, the caster must check using enchantments of Discernment to validate that the Crystal remains flaw free for the usage of the Focus (a roll of 6% or less is considered a flaw).

The next step in this procedure is typically regarded as the most dangerous to the caster, given that many MUC's lives have been lost in the past at this point. Sometimes Watchers are designated to guard the caster performing the creation of a Focus, since they must rest at this point, but many a Watcher have turned traitor and killed the MUC to sell the Focus at hefty price.

The caster must cast a Dweomer of Receiving onto the flawless, enchanted crystal and then convert half of their Spirit points or more into the Focus crystal. Before losing consciousness, the MUC must cast a Seal or Closing enchantment. Many MUCs fail to do so successfully or choose not to do this. An unbound focus is very dangerous as the user may not know what was placed in the Crystal. Without closing or sealing the Focus the MUC is attempting to make sure they will wake up to cast the closing or sealing dweomer upon the Focus. However, without the sealing, a Focus could simply begin causing Wild Magic events after several hours.

At this point, a Focus is usable by any MUC that can cast the base of magic of which the focus is attuned to. However, the Focus can be directly used by the creator as a means of drawing MANA for any spell they choose which uses that base. It requires a Soul link with the crystal and all the power will be utilized from the Focus while the Soul link is active. The MANA used will restore at the same Rate the MUC will regenerate MANA.

Also, the creator can draw Spirit/Soul Points back to maintain life at the cost of its permanent removal from the Focus. It can not be restored.

Legend has it that Master Ulrich was the only MUC able to place four sets of Soul Points into a Focus within a full day. As this is the maximum time allowed in the charging of the Focus. After the day the Mana will begin to release in uncontrolled manner. Upon his death, it is said that he cast it off into the Ethereal plane to drift forever. (But no one ever saw Ulrich die either) curiously, Masters Elmon, Ezmirelda and Lumica all claim to have achieved similar results.

MANA Usage

Miracles

Time

Wild Magic

Some spells have notes of wild magic. These spells are noted with [w!] and it stipulates that the spell caster must maintain concentration to manage it or it may perform some other action that that which the MUC desires.

It is based on the MANA base and spell type of a spell. The spell's duration and power type will not change only the effect could. A spell without concentration and a w! has a chance to go rogue/wild. This chance is the spell's rogue value + 25% - (level the MUC acquire the spell at times the difference of level the MUC is now)

If a spell has a rogue value of 8% +25 % = 33%. If the Spell was acquired at 4th level and the MUC is 8th Level now. That would give a -16% totaling a whopping 33 - 16 = 17% to malfunction and give a Different spell result. However if the MUC acquired the Spell at 6th level and he is now 6th level that is a 0% so he would have a 33% change of the spell malfunctioning if he failed concentration check.

Section 5 The Processes of Enchantments

Enchanting items is one of the oldest functions of the MUCs. It was one of the first discoveries in extending their power and their influence in the Worlds. Enchanting an object device, or other implement generally follows the same course of Actions regardless of the type of enchantment or its power. We will for simpleton's sake call all devices, implements, and objects going forward as objects.

Creating an Enchanted object

Preparatory Process

The process of enchanting is simple. First determine what purpose the object will serve. Next determine the all abilities the object should have. Finally gather all the items that will be needed in the enchantment, spells and dweomers to include the object that will be necessary for the completeness it. Don't forget that the process may need other caster classes and well as other worlders to complete the Item. Make sure to gain their aid earlier for when the time comes.

When starting out with an enchantment process the material of the object should always be free of any imperfections and other maladies that could hamper or cause problems later in the process. One should use the Discernments and Purify dweomers in preparation to the enchanting of it. If items are found they must be corrected before proceeding. Note that the process can be completed without these dweomers but as stated problems could arise.

Once we are fairly sure we have a sound object we must determine what enchantments/spells will be in what order. Some Spells or enchantments can be made to work together and usually require multiple casters to achieve this aspect. How to know the spells/enchantments will work with each other. They should be of the same base, or if not of the same base the same function. It should be practiced first for compatibility. You must convert the object in to a MANA container using the Dweomer. Make sure it can contain all that you are placing in it.

Single Ability Object.

Once Converted to a MANA vault you are going to lay a member or Augmentation Dweomer for the first spell. Roll a Check TA4[^] to see if it took. Usually, it takes and glows a faint bluish to reddish color, but can fade quickly if it is not been properly accepted. Once accepted cast the Desired Spell with a MANA link to the MANA Vault again TA8[^] - Casters level. The Glow will go out after accepting the Spell. You must make a closure on the MAN vault or the Spell could go off. A decision has to be made on the closure; one time use or recharging. One time use, use the Enchain or Lock Dweomer. There you go, your first enchantment completed.

Rechargeable Single Ability Object

If the spell is going to be rechargeable you must cast the Absorption, Drain or Summoning dweomer with the charging type material needed to replenish the Lost/Cast MANA in spell. You can use a summing directly to a MANA link of the physical host object itself. This does 2 things; 1) defines how much MANA it is to charge up too and 2) secures that it does not get out of hand. As an object loses MANA, it gains it back at a given rate. The enchanted object will draw it off of the structure itself forcing the structure to draw in more MANA to replenish itself. This continues until the MANA requirement is met. The Drain dweomer will draw/drain MANA off of everything in an Area including the user of object. It tends to take the MANA from the loosest MANA first. The Absorption dweomer causes a fixed amount of MANA Per Day to be absorbed straight from the MANA realm (Casters daily MANA rate) into itself.

Once you have cast a recharge process on the object you must Seal the MANA Vault and enchantments with some command, word, or action. Wala Done, a rechargeable multi use object at your disposal.

Multiple Ability Rechargeable Object

If you want to make an Object that has multiple abilities, they must all be in the Same Base of magic or you will need to place wards between the Enchantment/Spells to unsure their non-reactivity is maintained. The process of multiple abilities in an object is just like above accept that you will not Seal each Spell/Enchantment after being cast.

Process

You create a MANA vault, cast a Spell Bind dweomer into the vault and immediately cast the Spell/Enchantment into the vault, cast a Summoning/Dain/Absorption Dweomer to maintain the function then use the Enchain dweomer to loch that Enchantment/Spell but not the object. Repeat this process until all wants are completed. Then Use a Seal dweomer on the object. The Seal will not allow any other MANA vaults to be created on or in the object.

The problem with this above process is that depending on the Magic placed in each vault they could react against each other and you have a ticking time bomb.

The Chart below shows What spell are reactive with each other.

If you are using profound world shattering Magics for enchantments there are several other things that must be known and performed.

The Dweomer

The zweomer is like a spell but not. It can be read from a tome or scroll but rarely does it go out and perform an action. It is instead like the essence of an Action laid upon or in an object.

When an enchanter begins their work, they must make the object ready to receive the magic they must choose to imbue an object with as preparation zweomer. Casting the Spell with a zweomer to some extent converts the spell into a program sort of speaking. This program can now be placed in or on an object. A light spell in or on a crystal. Zweomer can also define the activation of a Spells essence. It can simply allow the spell to work as if cast from a scroll or requiring a trigger.

When casting zweomers of a spell, it will consume all the spell materials record symbolic gestures and establish the power ability of the Spell like recording a movie and placing it in or on the object. The command, word, gesture, or action finishes the movie and you get the results.

The higher level of the enchanter the better reliability in general of the results. Enchanting and use of zweomers are not for every MUC. High skills and attributes make it an easier task with less painful failures.

Preparatory Zweomers: Buoyancy, Conversion, Discernment, Drain, Fortification, Purify, Rift

Working Zweomers: Absorption, Binding, Cage, Demise, Drain, Focus, Fortification, Motion, Metanoia, Reconstruction, Rift, Spell Bind, Summoning, Sundering,

Completion Zweomers: Bind, Enchain, Lock, Seal

See the Zweomer Chart for more details.

Zweomers Chart

The Zweomers types are abbreviated PD ~ Preparatory Zweomer, RD ~ Resolving Zweomer, or AD ~ Augmentation Zweomer, Spell Zweomer and last but not least the Actual MD ~ Member Zweomer. The Preparatory are those zweomers used to prepare an item or object to receive or be enchanted. The Resolving are how you finalize an Enchantment and complete it supplying the trigger to activate the enchantment(s). While the Augmentation Zweomers are things that are required as part of the enchantment but can vary depending on the Caster's wants. Like a dimensional Space. Could be about 3-foot sphere to a [10 x 10 x 10] foot room. The Member Zweomers are those effects or spells that can be added to an enchantment to modify the results of spell/enchantment. Such as Colored Fog, speed of an arrow, Type of an arrow, or perhaps the Sphere of influence. The Spell Zweomer is indeed a Spell and can be used as such, however, it is special in it was designed as a Zweomer for the use in enchantments. Note all Spells can be used in enchantments but are not zweomers.

Table 20 Dweomer Chart Listing

Level	Purpose	Type	Duration	Action Rounds	Description
1	Conversion	PD	1 Hour	10	A special dweomer used to prepare an Item to receive enchantments, spells and other dweomers. It converts the material for a limited time in to a MANA container. The Value it can hold is listed in the chart and if not use the formula $50 + 10d10$ for MANA.
1	Fortification	AD	30 seconds	1	A Special dweomer that causes the material for a temporary time to withstand immense cosmic forces 30 sundering damage. Usually about 30 seconds or 5 rounds.
1	Spell Bind	MD	Length of Spell	Action of spell plus 1	This is a simple Dweomer that enables one to embed a single spell into an object for later use. I know a mage who made a dozen Rocks with Fire Balls on them, he carried in a pouch. The Seal dweomer was an impact releases mode. Worked Well until he fell one day and landed on the bag. He did survive though. Thanks to the Fortify Spirit he had Ready and a Shield spell. It took him a while to fully recover. Does not stop MANA vault creation.
1	Reconstruction	MD AD	1 Hour	10	This Enchantment can take something that was originally whole then purposely crushed and reassemble it. This has been used in Explosive Runes, Shattering Orb as well as Lancers rod.
1	Discernment	PD	3 rounds	2	This Dweomer will encompass the entire surface of the object within flaws the will glow with a reddish hue. Used in validate an object for Enchantments and Fouci. The more often the dweomer is used the deeper the dweomer will discern,
2	Enchain	RD	1Round	2	This Dweomer is an immediate Binding or sealing type. It is used when dealing with Reactive enchantments or other dweomers that are highly reactive or functioning and have no delay in their function and when cast must be Captured sort of speaking. Does not stop MANA vault creation.
2	Sundering	SD	1 Round	2	This is a Defamation Spell. It can be used as a trap, the actual entrapment, or as an Augmentation to a combat enchantment.
2	Purify	PD	6 hour	5	A Special dweomer that causes the material to rid itself of bindings, natural enchantments, material impurities that could hamper the final product. This process Requires a piece of the same material in its purest possible form. The Purer the Better. The pure material is rubbed onto the target item as the dweomer is place on the object. The essence will be consumed by the qweomer. All impurities will be left as ash around the object.
2	Seal	RD	Permanent	C>2	A Binding dweomer that causes an item to lock and bind any spells, dweomers, or enchantments in that object. In most cases this is not reversible and is permanent. Removes any ability to create a MANA vault on an object. Can be used to make an object null to reactive magics.

3	Bind	RD	Until the next spell, bind, seal, or dweomers is cast or 1 week whichever comes first	C>5	A temporary binding dweomer that causes the item to go into a stasis like condition for up to a week. It cannot be used in any form or function. Any spell, dweomer, or enchantment cast near it will negate the bind and, in some cases, could be apocalyptic. Every Item is different to what near means. It could 1 inch, touch or up to 30 feet.
3	Focus	AD	Permanent	C>10	This permanent Dweomer is used in objects that require charging, draw in from external sources something, or to form traps. It has been used in Soul Stealing, MANA drain, Life leach, Overload, and Gate seals. It requires solid concentration of the Dweomer until the Object receives it.
3	Metanoia	SD	3 Hours	4	This Spell like enchantment causes a visitation of a creature that the holder reverts and gives a Blessing (All Illusion).
4	Drain	PD AD	Special	C>2	This dweomer causes the object to convert a defined material the Dweomers is cast with within few inches of it into an essence and absorb it as part of an enchantment. All properties of the consumed material that is not of the defined type is converted to its Material base essence and left behind as dust.
4	Cage	AD	Function	2	This Dweomer places in an object a domain of sorts for holding things. i.e. Souls, objects, spirits, etc.. It is used in the magic bags, boxes, containers, jars etc.. The Function placed with the dweomer will define how long it will last. Until MANA Runs out, until a specific Object is removed, etc. At that point the magic is negated and it becomes dust. This has been used in various Focus.
4	Motion	MD	Special	C>1 Hour	This dweomer can be used to make or remember illusions or events. It Requires full Concentration for the entire duration. It causes Level 1 Exhaustion. Once completed the item can utilize any part of the Dweomer as the Lock or Seal defines. Capture a Dragon charging you or a hundred undead coming out of the ground. Great Illusions stuff.
5	Buoyancy	PD	1 Hour	3	This dweomer will cause the object to stay at whatever location it is set at, like levitation but not. It is used when it needs to be isolated from other things so as to not have interference from those things. Was used in making the Iron bow of Death. It actually placed about 100 feet above a lake and then had thousands of shards of pure diamond crystal absorbed into with the drain dweomer by a dozen Arch mages. Once the project was done the bow took on more than they bargained for. It had to be locked away for safe keeping.
5	Lock	RD	Permanent	1	This Dweomer will lock a single enchantment instead of Sealing the entire item as finished. It can be used to place incidental Enchantments on or in an object. Or for making simple item. The Lock will define command words, action or triggers for what is being locked.

5	Summoning	AD MD	Special	10	This Dweomer will get you in trouble. It enables the object to cause a summoning of whatever is defined by the Dweomer when placed. Definition is a Name, object, description of what is to be summoned. Once it is summoned hopefully you have something else to death with what every You summoned. It has been used to Capture Entities and drain their essence for some spells and enchantments. It can only effect or summon those things that can travel dimensionally, teleport, gate, or hop domains.
6	Rift	MD AD	Special	10	This dweomer is very different from all the others and is very dangerous. If cast on some enchantments or spells it can cause a rending of the magic and is usually catastrophic. Its purpose when used with certain spells to Force an opening in them. The rings of Gates were created using this Dweomer. And it cost three students their lives in making it. The Rift dweomer is usually cast as a first option in object making. The next spells and dweomers are what case the issues. The wrong order and hope you have a towel. The rift is usually having a binding placed on it before doing anything else. Some have successfully placed and enchantment in a seal on the Rift without permanent harm. The Black star medallion is such an item. The Purpose of the Rift and the invoking is part of the Rift Dweomer. This is a specialized area of magic.
6	Demise	AD	Instantaneous	5	This Dweomer enables the enchanter to push the limits of the primary enchantment beyond its intended result. Usually brings a demise or cataclysmic results most of the time.
6	Absorption	AD	Special	3	This Dweomer placed on an item enables the item to store MANA up to a point equal to the base MANA of the Caster. It must be locked afterward or it will simply absorb and store any and all MANA cast after word. Making it a time bomb for the first oops. Once locked but not sealed the command can be given to store Raw MANA or a spell for later use. You can also place another Dweomer in it for use later, The Absorption can also be made to perform one action and then dissipate.

Focus Creation and Usage

The Focus has been a mystery to the World of magic for eons. Why do some items store MANA for use and others do not. In this section we will discuss the notions of the Focus and how to make them.

Once no flaws are found the Maker must cleans the crystal in a silvers bath for a week, tiresome to say the least. At the beginning and the end of the process a dweomer of enchanting must be cast upon the crystal as the crystal enters the bath and is removed. The crystal can only be handled via a pure silver glove that has also been cleansed via a silvers bath.

Now for the hard work: The powdered celestial crystal dust must be placed in the silvers bath. The crystal again is placed in the Bath with a dweomer of enchantment. Daily, for each level of the focus, Enchanted silver dust mingled with the suitable elemental base dust must be sprinkled under an enchantment of receiving upon the crystal.

Again for 5 days the caster must check for 5 days using enchantments of discernment to validate the crystal is flaw free for the usage of the Focus (roll of 6% or less is considered a flaw).

Now the caster will need someone to put the caster to bed after the next and final enchantments and possibly watch over him. This is where it usually costs a MUC his Life. The watcher kills the MUC and then sells the focus for a hefty cost.

The caster must cast a Dweomer of receiving unto the flaw free enchanted crystal and then convert half of their Spirit points or more into the crystal. Before loosing consciousness, the MUC must cast a seal or closing enchantment. Many MUCS fail or don't do this to make sure they will wake up to cast the closing or sealing dweomer upon the Focus. Without the sealing the Focus will simply begin causing wild magic events if the power is not managed and sealed.

At this point the focus is usable by any MUC that can cast the base of magic the focus is attuned too. However the focus can be directly used by the creator to draw of MANA for any spell they choose to use it with. It requires a soul link to the focus and all the power will be drawn from the Focus. Also the creator can draw back in soul points to maintain life at the cost of the permanent removal of power from the Focus. It can not be restored.

Master Ulrich was legend to be the only MUC that was able to place four sets of Soul Point in a Focus. On his death it is said he cast it off in to the ethereal plan to drift forever however, no one ever saw Ulrich die either.

Although master Elmon, Ezmirelda and Lumica all claim to have achieved similar results.

Crystal Attunement

Some folks want to have magic but not spells they can take the path of an attuned. These individuals can vocally or mentally harmonize with the crystal. Mental is extremely rare but there have been some.

To start with you have an option before the start of the game take a chance of the die and roll less than 15% to have the natural talent.

Other ways that may give one the ability is that one has had a unique event happen to them during the Game that enables them to start down the path of an attuned. This happens in a few ways.

One is to be gifted the ability by an elder earth elemental.

Another is being gifted the ability by a celestial with the ability or Whiteheart.

A third is in killing a Crystal Golem. When they are killed, they shatter giving off a particular tone. About 15 to 20% of creatures who are struck by sound pulse acquire the attunement ability.

Once one can attune crystals usually by song or notes sang, begin to hear crystal tones as if they are speaking. It is very soft and easily missed. The tone heard is considered by earth elementals as the earth song. Usually, the attunement note is some sidetone of the note heard.

The nature of a crystal is based on its core type. There are Fire stones, Water stones, Power stones, the rare MANA stone, Sun stones, Energy stones, and the mind stones. These stones are having a power amount applied to them. The Ref will roll % dice to know its core power. 1-100 is what will be rolled. Each point expended weakens the stone. My using a song in attune with the stone produce its effect.

Certain stones have proficiency that dictates the number of Core points that can be utilized in a single use. Each level of proficiency allows up to 10% of its core power to available for use. At least 1 point under will cause some stones to turn to powder and be useless. Alchemy has a use though for these expended stones dust.

Fire Stones

The group of stones that fall into this category are generally found on the elemental domain of fire. They const of the following

A Fire Stone that when attune it generates an immense amount of heat that can melt just about anything based on its Core power It will give off 1 point an hour up to that value's % of 2000 degrees F. If it is 86 core power then it would be .85 times 2000 or 1700 degrees. A good attunement can control the temp extending the length of time that a core Point will expire or be used up.

A Hearth Stone attuning will cause the crystal to burst in to a small ball of flame. Great for starting fires or the camp fire when the wood is wet. It will burn 5 points an hour at about a brightness of torch light. It is ice cold to the touch and is very sharp. If one is not careful it can draw blood which will cause the stone to begin to breakdown.

The Ruby is a beautiful stone when cut and polished. Its beauty is almost not of this world. It has an echo of another world. It is suitable for a focus but it has a draw back it can at times loose its power to were many a wizard are not sure.

A Fire Scarab Crystal this unique stone looks somewhat like beetle hence its name. This stone when attune will cause a fire bolt about 15 feet in length to a desired target doing (core point used) d8 damage. Maximum points are based on 6% per Proficiency level.

Hornet Stone is a fun sort of stone in that it tends to be a onetime use. When one attunes it will shatter into 1d100 small flares shooting away up to 10 feet. Causing any burnable material in the area to ignite into flame. Any creature caught in the flash will take 2d4 burn damage. A dexterity check is used to see if the creatures within 10' of the flash are blinded. A successful check blinds for 2 rounds and on a failed check blind for 3d4 minutes.

Any creature within 2' of the flash will take 2d4 Shard damage as well leaving hundreds of burn scars on their body. If they fail their check they are permanently blinded.

Last is the Fire Heart a very rare stone in that only two have ever been recorded to exist. This stone when attune causes most rock near it to form a golem like creature with the Fire Heart inside it. The golem will obey most of the commands it understands. Each action will expend a point. For each proficiency level of the user, it enables the golem to do 2d8 damage in the event classed as Martial Mace (Hercules club or Maul).

Water Stones

My favorite is the Water stones. They can save your life or take it. They come in three general types. Doors, Eyes, or Maws.

The doors are many times a single use item. When the door opens it is hard to close it with all that water coming out. The attunement takes a small amount of time but makes it, in many cases, a onetime use item. In basic the dweomer attunes the door (links) magically to a water source.

Eyes are Crystals that when shattered begin filling the area with water as each gram of the crystal holds about 10 gallons of water depending on the density of the crystal. The aspect of this enchantment is it makes the crystal very week and fragile. Once the crystal is even cracked it will explode severing every gram spraying water everywhere. A gram is roughly 5 carats of crystal. Or 1 Ounce is 141 Carats. Generally, 1 Stone weight is 224 Ounces. Very dangerous stuff.

In Essence the crystal once enchanted become a sponge of sorts. It is dropped into a water source. Once it has consumed the water it can, the crystal must be sealed with the enchantment. Now keep them well-padded and safe. The size of the crystal must be measured and calculated for size. The enchantment tends not to work above about 100 ounces (2834 Grams) of crystal. That is possibly 28,340 gallons of water.

Finally, there is the Maw. This is an opening of some sort. It can be a statue, or a puppet or monolith, a carving or a cave entrance. When the MAW is breached the water source comes flooding out. This too is an enchantment attuning the MAW to a water source. Distance is an Issue the source must be within 3 leagues (9 miles). The MAWS opening must be coated with water from the Source when creating the enchantment. When the enchantment is sealed a force barrier covers the Maw. With the strength of a thin piece of cloth. It is invisible.

Power Stones

A power stone is a crystal that has been charged like a battery or a capacitor with some form of power. It can be thunder, lightning, pure light, heat, electromagnetic, Molecular types of energy.

Whatever the Energy one wants to place within the crystal must be present for the enchanting to store it. Once it is enchanted the stone is placed or tossed or hung in the area and the enchantment is then invoked. Make sure one is not near it when invoked. It will draw in the energy in a 360-degree sphere around the stone up to a mile in distance. The stone will glow with a color like the energy stored in it. Remember this is raw and uncontrolled. When released hopefully you are not within its reach. A witch named Tabatha quelled a hurricane class storm that threatened her king's lively hood. When the king would not recompense her, she released it in his keep. Only rubble remains to this day.

stone will release the energy stored in it once awakened.

Once the energy is stored in the stone. The enchantment must be sealed or bound with a power word or a defined action that will release it. One usually has about 5 to 10 minutes before the

MANA Stones

Thes are very special stone or crystals. They tend to be pure no flawed items. Within the lattice of the crystal the enchanter places a link to the MANA world (The essence of all things). It will draw in MANA equal to its flawless section. Those areas with flaws will ignite and explode doing 4d8 damage for each piece that explodes to anything within 10 feet. Once the crystal glows a vibrant white, regardless of the crystal, it is ready to be sealed. Problem with this crystal is it can take essence from all things around it including the enchanter. Most stones will only hold about 300 MANA. Again, based on how flawless it is.

Now that the stone is charged it must be enchanted to the enchanter or it will become a bomb of sorts.

The Enchanter may draw off MANA as needed or channel it as needed. Be careful to not exceed the MANA level of the crystal or it and the enchanter will explode. Roll 5d100 for amount of MANA stored in the crystal. For every 10 point the crystal can do 3d12 explosive damage. At some point, it varies, the crystal detonates it can cause a rift between dimensions of random locations.

Sun Stones

I simple 4-to-10-ounce stone of white Celarian marble or a pure celestial sun stone crystal. One cleans the stone with elemental cleansing spells and such to make it as pure as possible. Take it out at high noon after keeping in a dark place and enchanting the stone with a dweomer of solar flare, brilliance, sunburst, star light, or perhaps solar radiance.

Then make a pillar of polished silver to which to set the crystal on at high noon. When the stone is ready it is kept in a thick black type of covering of darkness by spell or material. The stone is placed on the pillar and the covering then removed. Keep one's eye closed and facing away. For a moment 3 to 15 seconds the stone will wink extremely bright and then dim. When it dims place the darkness covering again over the crystal. The stone will feel warm. Now the crystal when uncovered will multiply the light around it by a factor of 10 for approximately for the 3 to 15 seconds. Great to take in to lairs of the undead. Hopefully they will not sense that one has one. As they may try to make you pull it out away from them and look at the stone/crystal. Not a pretty picture.

Mind Stones

The Mind stone requires psionics or one that has exceptional mental powers. In general, the stone has placed in it during the enchanting process an ability of the individual with the metal abilities or a Spell or Dweomer of mental skill. I.e.

clairvoyance, divided mind, Illusion, memory absorption, mind exchange, precognition, telepathy, telekinesis, emotion implanting (fear, hate, wonder, etc), psionic distortion, psychic shield, telepathic perception, unconscious inducement.

Mind reading is one of the most popular. It will begin speaking the surface thoughts of any one within 20 feet of it. Can cause people to go mad.

The Black Sapphire is a rare stone and when found makes one's heart just rejoice and somehow makes one want more. It is highly prized for many things as well as for making a focus. It stores more energy than many other stones of similar structure.

The White Sun Stone is a marvelous crystal jewel. It has a fire in it that sparks one's interest and greed. One of the rarest stone known to exist. It emanates some form of power that entices the mind to stare at it. One can get lost in its mesmerizing light. It is ideal for a focus.

Section 6 Spell Creation

exhaustion level set in but that is a Spirit Check for determination.

In the process of creating a spell one must consider many concepts and properties about the spell in question. What is its purpose, defining the base and how it changes the spell, are Semantics required, does the spell have Components, are their songs, tones or words or just thought to its focus, A Range of effect and affect, the base desires, and what events could curtail its function or effects.

Each of these are required before the spell can even be conceived. One these topics are understood and decided on how to make it happen.

First the REF will roll percentile dice and hopefully they get a value that is desired. In the Referee it is 75% or better for the spell to become real and usable in the game.

Next the Charts below are those items that must be rolled and determined for the spells function.

How can you cast spells and not be a MUC

Every creature has some amount of MANA. IF you take their intelligence and Charisma and cross them on the base MANA chart divide by 2 you come up with the amount they have. In some cases, it could be a fair amount. Regardless something in them or not in them just does not give the function ability to cause an effect to that MANA to make a spell event happen.

That is why some magically endowed objects can be used by a non-MUC. The object is already tuned to MANA and the user has some so it can proceed to function. But that is also why some objects won't work is the user does not have enough MANA for it to Function or be Attuned to.

That begs the question; Can anyone cast a spell? Yes and No. If they cannot attune to their MANA no they can't. Some may by use of an item called an Bronwser Wand. This costly item (700 to 800 platinum in most shops that have them) acts as the catalyst or the attune to their own MANA in order to affect a spell result. It usually Drains most non-MUC and

Section 7 Spell Tables

Spell Table Notes

Most spell tables give you a number of spells that are known. The value increases as you improve your level. What this means is that your character can learn any number of spells from any level if the quantity selected does not exceed your total known spell count. Reference players handbook for MUC classes.

These tables will tell you how many casting slots you have available to use at any level. Your character can take a lot of lower-level spells and cast them at higher slots. They can only cast a spell up in slots, never down.

In the charts below, the class designations are listed.

Column Descriptors

The 'DR' is the duration of the spell, while the 'CT' is the cast time of the spell. The columns with the V, S, and M refer to a (V)verbal spell requirement, (S)spell Action requirement, and (M)material item requirement. The verbal requirement indicates if a spell must be audibly spoken to be cast. Some spells need to be cast in a specific language, rhythm or by active word. Spell Action refers to any particular action such as a dance, touch or perhaps a gesture that the spell needs to focus with. The material item of the spell dictates the physical components needed by the spell and for the spell. These components for the spell are usually consumed by the spell upon activation/casting of the spell, while those items by which a spell focuses on are the items the spell actuates on.

Alarm	DR: 8 Hours (Tiny Bell & Silver Wire)	1	Abjuration	You set an alarm against unwanted intrusion. Choose a door, a window, or an area within range that is no larger than a 20-foot cube. Until the spell ends, an alarm alerts you whenever a creature touches or enters the warded area. When you cast the spell, you can designate creatures that won't set off the alarm. You also choose whether the alarm is transmitted to the spellcaster telepathically or by an audible sound. A mental alarm alerts you with a ping in your mind if you are within 1 mile of the warded area. This ping awakens you if you are sleeping. An audible alarm produces the sound of a hand bell for 10 seconds within 60 feet.	RG, WZ, SH	x	x	x
Animal Friendship	DR: 24 Hours (Piece of food)	1	Enchantment	This spell lets you convince a beast that you mean it no harm. Choose a beast that you can see within range. It must see and hear you. If the beast's Intelligence is 4 or higher, the spell fails. Otherwise, the beast must succeed on a Wisdom check or be charmed by you for the spell's duration. If you or one of your companions harms the target, the spell ends. At higher levels: When you cast this spell using a 2nd level spell slot or higher, you can affect one additional beast level above the 1st.	FÊ, DR, RG, SH, HT	x	x	x
Audible Glamer	DR: 2 Round/ Lvl	1	Illusion	The spell causes a sound to arise from a space within range, audible to any within the normal hearing range of the sound. This sound can be anything the caster desires, from talking, singing, shouting, walking, marching, running, (i.e. a hoard of running rats) to a roaring lion or a roaring dragon. The sound can be made to recede, approach, or remain fixed in place. Anyone hearing the sound who does not believe it is real can make a check to hear no sound, or perhaps just a faint noise. The volume of sound is based on the level of the caster. The caster can produce a volume equal to four people per caster level (a hoard of rats is equal to 8 people, a roaring lion is equal to 16, and a roaring dragon is equal to 24 -- the DM may base other sounds on this estimate). Armor or Mage Armor	DR: up to 10 Minutes (Cured leather)	1		You touch a willing creature who isn't wearing armor, and a magical protective force surrounds them until the spell ends. Beast Bond DR: Special (Pair of blessed Platinum Rings worth 50G) CT: 1 ACTION (touch) (120' per Spell slot)	1	Divination	This spell indefinitely binds a willing creature you touch mystically between you and the target until the spell effect ends. While the target is within your level * 120 feet of you, it gains a +1 bonus to AD and all checks, and it has resistance to all damage. Also, each time it takes damage, you take the same amount of damage. You can hear, smell, taste, and see under full concentration what the Beast does. The beast is not bound to your command, but if willing will perform them to the best of its ability. Any healing done to you also heals the bonded beast. The spell ends if you or the target drop to 0 hit points, if you and the target become separated by more than the defined distance, if the spell is cast again on either of the connected creatures, the beast leaves your plane or the beast rejects the bond. You can also dismiss the spell as an action. Caution must be made as to the beast's ability. If the selected beast is dimensionally attuned or has a different alignment than the caster, the caster must make a check vs Spirit or receive recompense. See alignment changes. At higher levels: The distance increases per spell slot above the 1 st , up to a max of 4.	DR, SH, RG, STG, EW(All), SD	x	x	x

If failed, they are bound for up to 1 minute Rating a Check at end of each round. Command
DR: 1 Round
CT: 1 ACTION (60')	1			Enchantment	You speak a one-word command to a creature you can see within range. The target must succeed on a Wisdom check or follow the command on its next turn. The spell has no effect if the target is Undead, if it doesn't understand your language, or if your command is directly harmful to it. Some typical commands and their effects follow. You might issue a command other than one described here. If you do so, the DM determines how the target behaves. If the target can't follow your command, the spell ends. Approach: The target moves toward you by the shortest and most direct route, ending its turn if it moves within 5 feet of you. Drop: The target drops whatever it is holding and then ends its turn. Flee: The target spends its turn moving away from you by the fastest means available. Grovel: The target falls prone and then ends its turn. Halt: The target doesn't move and takes no actions. A flying creature stays aloft, provided that it is able to do so. If it must move to stay aloft, it flies the minimum distance needed to remain in the air. At higher levels: When you cast this spell using a 2 nd level spell slot or higher, you can affect one additional creature for each slot level above the 1st. The creatures must be within 15 feet of each other when you target them.	CL, PL, WL	x

They only have to pass the check once in order to move freely for the rest of their turn. If you try to harm any creature besides the target, if a friendly creature tries to harm the target, or if you end your turn more than 30 feet away from the target, the spell ends.	PL, HB, SK(LG)	x

Disguise Self	1	Illusion	You make yourself, including clothing, armor, weapons, and other belongings on your person, look different until the spell ends or until you use your action to dismiss it. You can seem 1 foot shorter or taller and can appear thin, fat, or in between. You can't change your body type, so you must adopt a form that has the same basic arrangement of limbs. Otherwise, the extent of the illusion is up to you.	FÊ, SR, WZ	x	x
DR: 1 Hour			The changes wrought by this spell fail to hold up to physical inspection. For example, if you use this spell to add a hat to your outfit, objects pass through the hat, and anyone who touches it would feel nothing or would feel your head and hair. If you use this spell to appear thinner than you are, the hand of someone who reaches out to touch you would bump into you while it was seemingly still in midair.
CT: 1 ACTION (Self)			To discern that you are disguised, a creature can use its action to inspect your appearance and must succeed on an Intelligence (Investigation) check against your spell check DC.

A familiar can't attack, but it can take other actions as normal. When the familiar drops to 0 Hit Points, it disappears, leaving behind no physical form. It reappears after you cast this spell again. While your familiar is within 100 feet of you, you can communicate with it telepathically. Additionally, as an action, you can see through your familiar's eyes and hear what it hears until the start of your next turn, gaining the benefits of any special senses that the familiar has. Find Familiar (Elemental)				You gain the service of a familiar, a physical creature from the domain of your influence. The familiar will appear in an unoccupied space within range. It rolls its own initiative and acts on its own turn. These familiars can attack or use any of its abilities on its turn. Hail of Thorns
DR: 1 Round Hail, 1 minute for thorns (Thorn of your choosing)	1	Conjuration	You create a 20-foot-radius circle target area centered on a point within range. A hail of thorns, the type selected by the caster, rains down in the target area. It lasts for the duration of the spell. The thorns will remain for up to 1 minute after the storm ends. Each creature in the target area must make a Dexterity check or be struck with the thorns in the target area. Each creature rolls a 1d10 to determine how many thorns have struck them. Each step they take while in the target area also requires a check throw for the thorn's duration. Fire, wind, or fire stone will destroy all thorns on the ground in the target area, but using fire will result in some characters having hot feet, of course. Searing Smite				The next time you hit a creature with a melee weapon attack during the spell's duration, your weapon flares with white-hot intensity, the attack deals an extra 1d6 fire damage to the target and causes the target to ignite in flames. At the start of each of its turns until the spell ends, the target must make a constitution check. On a failed check, it takes 1d6 fire damage. On a successful check, the spell ends. If the target, or a creature within 5 feet of it, uses an action to put out the flames, or if some other effect douses the flames (such as the target being submerged in water), the spell ends. Silent Image				You create the image of an object, a creature, or some other visible phenomenon that is no larger than a 15-foot cube. The image appears at a spot within range and lasts for the duration. The image is purely visual; it isn't accompanied by sound, smell, or other sensory effects. You can use your action to cause the image to move to any spot within range. As the image changes location, you can alter its appearance so that its movements appear natural for the image. For example, if you create an image of a creature and move it, you can alter it so that it appears to be walking. Physical interaction with the image reveals it to be an illusion, because things can pass through it. A creature that uses its action to examine the image can determine that it is an illusion with a successful Intelligence (Investigation) check against your spell check D°C. Sleep
DR: 1 Minute (Pinch fine sand, Rose Petal, or a cricket)
CT: 1 ACTION (90')	1		Enchantment	This spell sends creatures into a magical slumber. Roll 5d8; the total is how many Hit Points of creatures this spell can affect. Creatures within 20 feet of a point you choose, the point being within range, are affected in ascending order of their current Hit Points (ignoring Unconscious creatures). Starting with the creature that has the lowest current Hit Points, each creature affected by this spell falls Unconscious until the spell ends, the sleeper takes damage, or someone uses an action to shake or slap the sleeper awake. Subtract each creature's Hit Points from the total before moving on to the creature with the next lowest Hit Points. A creature's Hit Points must be equal to or less than the remaining total for that creature to be affected. Undead and creatures immune to being Charmed aren't affected by this spell. At higher levels: For each spell slot of the 2nd level or higher, roll an additional 2d8 for affected Hit Points.	FÊ, SR, WZ, SG	x	x	x

DR: 8 Hours (-25 feet of Rope)
CT: 1 ACTION (Touch)	1		Abjuration	As you cast this spell, you use the rope to create a circle with a 5-foot radius on the ground or the floor. When you finish casting, the rope disappears and the circle becomes a magic trap. This trap is nearly invisible, requiring a successful Intelligence (Investigation) check against your spell check D°C to be discerned. The trap triggers when a small, medium, or large creature moves onto the ground or the floor in the spell's radius. That creature must succeed on a Dexterity check or be magically hoisted into the air, leaving it hanging upside down 3 feet above the ground or the floor. The creature is restrained there until the spell ends. A restrained creature can make a Dexterity check at the end of each of its turns, ending the effect on itself if a success. Alternatively, the creature, or someone else who can reach it, can use an action to make an Intelligence (Arcana) check against your spell check D°C. On a success, the restrained effect ends. After the trap is triggered, the spell ends when a creature is no longer restrained by it or no creature is trapped.	DR, RG, WZ, SH, HT, SG

The disk remains for the duration and can hold up to 500 pounds. If more weight is placed on it, the spell ends, and everything on the disk falls to the ground. The disk is immobile while you are within 20 feet of it. If you move more than 20 feet away from it, the disk follows you so that it remains within 20 feet. It can move across uneven terrain, up or down stairs, slopes and the like, but it can't cross an elevation change of 10 feet or more. For example, the disk can't move across a 10-foot-deep pit, nor could it leave such a pit if it was created at the bottom. If you move more than 100 feet from the disk (typically because it can't move around an obstacle to follow you), the spell ends.	WZ, EW(E,A, G,)	x	x	x

The servant can perform simple tasks that a human servant could do, such as fetching things, cleaning, mending, folding clothes, lighting fires, serving food, and pouring wine. DR: Concentration, Up to 1 Hour			Aquatic Adaptation: You adapt your body to an aquatic environment, sprouting gills, and growing webbing between your fingers. You can breathe underwater and gain a swimming speed equal to your walking speed.
CT: 1 Action (Self)			Change Appearance: You transform your appearance. You decide what you look like, including your height, weight, facial features, sound of your voice, hair length, coloration, and distinguishing characteristics, if any. You can make yourself appear as a member of another race, though none of your statistics change. You also don't appear as a creature of a different size than you, and your basic shape stays the same. For instance, if you're bipedal, you can't use this spell to become quadrupedal or if classified as a small creature cannot transmute into a large creature. At any time for the duration of the spell, you can use your action to change your appearance in this way again. Natural Weapons: You grow claws, fangs, spines, horns, or a different natural weapon of your choice. Your unarmed strikes deal 1d6 bludgeoning, piercing, or slashing damage, as appropriate to the natural weapon you chose, and you are proficient with your unarmed strikes. Finally, the natural weapon is magic and you have a +1 bonus to the attack and damage rolls you make using it.
Animal Messenger	2	Enchantme nt	By means of this spell, you use an animal to deliver a message . Choose a tiny beast you can see within range, such as a squirrel, a blue jay, or a bird. You specify a location, which you must have visited, and a recipient who matches a general description, such as a man or woman dressed in the uniform of the town guard or a red-haired dwarf wearing a pointed hat. You may speak a message of up to twenty-five words. The target beast travels for the duration of the spell towards the specified location, covering about 50 miles per 24 hours for a flying messenger or 25 miles for other animals. DR: 24 Hours (Morsel of Food)			When the messenger arrives, it delivers your message to the creature that you described, replicating the sound of your voice. DR: Instantaneous (Tokens of Fortunes)	2	Divination	By casting gem-inlaid sticks, rolling dragon bones, laying out ornate cards, or employing some other divining tool, you receive an omen from an otherworldly entity about the results of a specific course of action that you plan to take within the next 30 minutes. The DM chooses from the following possible omens. • Weal: for good results • Woe: for bad results • Weal and woe: for both good and bad results • Nothing: for results that aren't especially good or bad The spell doesn't take into account any possible circumstances that might change the outcome, such as the casting of additional spells or the loss or gain of a companion. If a creature fails its check, choose one of the following two effects. The effect causes any other emotions or effects to become suppressed, leaving the target Charmed or Frightened. When this spell ends, any suppressed effect resumes, provided that its duration has not expired in the meantime. Alternatively, you can make a target indifferent about creatures of your choice towards which it is currently hostile. Until the spell ends, whenever a creature other than yourself comes within 30 feet of the ammunition for the first time on a turn or ends its turn there, one piece of ammunition flies up to strike it. The creature must succeed on a Dexterity check or take 1d6 piercing damage. The piece of ammunition is then destroyed. The spell ends when no ammunition remains. When you cast this spell, you can designate any creatures you choose, and the spell ignores them. At higher levels: When you cast this spell using a 3rd level spell slot or higher, the amount of ammunition that can be affected increases by two for each slot level above the 2nd.	RG, HT	x	x	x
Crown of Madness
DR: Concentration, Up to 1 Minute
CT: 1 ACTION (120')	2	Enchantment	One humanoid of your choice that you can see within range must succeed on a Wisdom check or become charmed by you for the duration. While the target is charmed in this way, a twisted crown of jagged iron appears on its head, and a madness glows in its eyes. The charmed target must use its action before moving on each of its turns to make a melee attack against a creature other than itself that you choose. The target can act normally on its turn if you choose no creature or if none are within its reach. On your subsequent turns, you must use your action to maintain control over the target, or the spell ends. Also, the target can make a Wisdom check at the end of each of its turns. On a success, the spell ends.	FÊ, SR, WL, WZ, SG	x	x
Darkness
DR: Concentration, Up to 10 Minutes (Bat Fur and Coal)
CT: 1 ACTION (60')	2	Evocation	Magical darkness spreads from a point you choose within range to fill a 15-foot radius sphere for the duration. The darkness spreads around corners. Even creatures with Darkvision can't see through this darkness, and non-magical light can't illuminate it. If the point you choose is on an object you are holding or one that isn't being worn or carried, the darkness emanates from the object and moves with it. Completely covering the source of the darkness with an opaque object, such as a bowl or a helm, blocks the darkness. If any of this spell's area overlaps with an area of light created by a spell of 2nd level or lower, the spell that created the light is dispelled.	SR, WL, WZ, EW(E, L, ET)	x		x
Darkvision
DR: 8 Hours (Agate)

CT: 1 ACTION (Self)			that moment. As an action, you can either shift your attention to another creature's thoughts or attempt to probe deeper into the same creature's mind. If you probe deeper, the target must make a Wisdom check. If it fails, you gain insight into its reasoning (if any), its emotional state, and something that looms large in its mind (such as something it worries over, loves, or hates). If it succeeds, the spell ends. Either way, the target knows that you are probing into its mind, and unless you shift your attention to another creature's thoughts, the creature can use its action on its turn to make an Intelligence check contested by your Intelligence check. If it succeeds, the spell ends. Questions verbally directed at the target creature naturally shape the course of its thoughts, so this spell is particularly effective as part of an interrogation. You can also use this spell to detect the presence of thinking creatures you can't see. When you cast the spell or as your action during its duration, you can search for thoughts within 30 feet of you. The spell can penetrate barriers, but 2 feet of rock, 2 inches of any metal, or a thin sheet of lead blocks you. You can't detect a creature with an Intelligence of 3 or lower or one that doesn't speak any language. Once you detect the presence of a creature in this way, you can read its thoughts for the rest of the duration as described above even if you can't see it, but it must still be within range.
Dragon's Breath
DR: Concentration, Up to 1 Minute (Hot Pepper)	2	Transmuta tion	You touch one willing creature and imbue it with the power to spew magical energy from its mouth, provided it has one. Choose acid, cold, fire, lightning, or poison. Until the spell ends, the creature can use an action to exhale energy of the chosen type in a 15-foot cone. Each creature in that area must make a Dexterity check, taking 3d6 damage of the chosen type on a failed check, or half as much damage on a successful one.	SR, WZ	x	x	x

Dust Devil
DR: 1 Minute (Pinch of Dust)	2	Conjuration	Choose an unoccupied 5-foot cube of air that you can see within range. An elemental force that resembles a dust devil appears in the cube and lasts for the spell's duration. Any creature that ends its turn within 5 feet of the dust devil must make a Strength check. On a failed check, the creature takes 1d8 bludgeoning damage and is pushed 10 feet away. On a successful check, the creature takes half as much damage and isn't pushed. As a bonus action, you can move the dust devil up to 30 feet in any direction. If the dust devil moves over sand, dust, loose dirt, or small gravel, it sucks up the material and forms a 10-foot-radius cloud of debris around itself that lasts until the start of your next turn. The cloud heavily obscures its area. At higher levels: When you cast this spell using a 3rd level spell slot or higher, the damage increases by 1d8 for each slot level above the 2nd. It also gains 2d6 temporary Hit Points, which are lost when the spell ends. Bull's Strength: The target has advantage on Strength checks, and his or her carrying capacity doubles. Cat's Grace: The target has advantage on Dexterity checks. It also doesn't take damage from falling 20 feet or less if it isn't Incapacitated. Eagle's Splendor: The target has advantage on Charisma checks. Fox's Cunning: The target has advantage on Intelligence checks. Owl's Wisdom: The target has advantage on Wisdom checks. Appendix B The Lexicon for Magic

Term	Definition or Description
	The Mark or Symbol of Elmon Magus. It is comprised of s Fey Dragon eye in the background. Covering the eye is the Elemental Cinder Hawk that has a tail of a Naga. The Hawk is rising out of the Sun. Elmon does not define what all this means. There are a lot of speculations to define it.
Aboussso	Also call the Abyss. The exact location is unknown for the Aboussso, however it is believed that it is a place in the land of the dead where those creatures whose evil is so great that it would destroy creation if freed are kept. It space is multidimensional and seemingly without end. Once placed there, there is no way out.
Ageros	In the Earthen tongue, it means fledgling, to the Fire tongues it means both 'it is' and 'ember', in the Water words it means both 'it is' and 'antagonist', and in the Air tongue it is 'fresh'. A new joining member, apprentice, greenhorn, a plebe, or postulant.
Agranose	One who is of the mortal sphere but has merged with an elemental Essence. Once in that new form, they must reroll their physical stats. The Agra can alter its form to and from their previous form and their elemental form 6 times a day. It requires concentration to change or alter to these pure forms: elemental or previous. Their new form must be rolled up. See Appendix C for roll up.
Airpra	The Airpra is an Elvin term meaning 'of the Air'. It is a generic term for the creatures that inhabit the Realms of Air. The Human call them Oolair. Dwarves call them wind bags. The Orc call them Otair'oon or shadows of air.
A'sherin	An area of the celestial plane that is the home of Meracia and her celestial dragons. It is a vast expanse of floating islands, rocks, Flying boats and of course celestial dragons.
Aseal Usar	Translates to Dawn Star, It is the only city scape in the Celestial Highlands that mortals may venture into safely. It has a population of about 2 million.
Ashtar [Ash-Tōr]	A bluish to lavender hue from this moon. It is slightly smaller than Es'ilo. It has a 5 year and 8 month orbit (2916 days).It hangs around for 942 days before it is just a bright spot in the sky.

Bileon stone	This rare stone never cools; it is referred to as the Alchemist Pyre, Soul Stone, Ember's Deep or the Hell's Touch (as it is called on Cragnearth). It must be contained in an airless void or it will burn to a cinder and everything within 10 feet of it. Elementalists use it for practice in melding with fire. It is the essence of the realm of Fire. The wizards Marecus and Gile created a device and spells that enabled one to bring it in to the lands of Cragnearth with little concern. If you go to Helnor's Keep and spy at the south wall, the molten stone that still glows there is evidence of this stone's merciless heat.
Celestial Highlands	It is the Highest point in the Celestial realm; a huge mountain plateau they say you could climb for all eternity and never reach the top. Atop the mountain plateau lays the city of Kings, White Haven and the Temple of Whiteheart. Those that have seen the temple say nothing compares to its majesty, prominence, or beauty. To enter the temple means that you must pass through the veil of holiness. If you are not holy, there is no possible entrance and/or your existence will end (Death) and assignment to the Cursed Halls.
Celestial Plane	A world whose beauty, colors, sounds and noble people which live within surpass description. The primary location of the Angelic Host. These are the lofty lands of the Holy Ones which lie around the Celestial Highlands in the city of Light. It is also home to those who hold, or held positions in the high heavens and chose to walk away from their first house of Duty. Mortals who enter this world, mind my warnings: only the holy will survive.
Crimson Depth (Plane)	The Realm of the Dead and the Cursed. Here you will find Hades, 9 levels of Hell, Shadows Mau, and the crimson halls of the Cursed. The Crimson Halls are no place for the righteous and no place in which to end. The halls are cursed into forming a maze of torment from which there is no way out. Shadows Mau has a gate keeper who does not allow anything out: a 7-headed Celestial hydra, with teeth of quinline and scales of mythrill.
Dweomers	Spells of control and alignment of MANA in the material realm. It is formula or program that is placed into or onto something. When acted upon by commands or gestures the Magic within the Dweomers activates and perform the Program or formula. It is the means by which one can alter the reality of some things without destroying others.

Elemental Plane Air	This realm is boundless sky. There is no physical world here and thus no gravity. There are storms that are as vast as the oceans of the Prime Plane and are devastating to common man. To be here is to float in vast empty space. Without flight, or some means for motion, you can go nowhere. There are three cities in this realm: Highrem, Furltwin, and Bataris.
Elemental Plane Fire	Vast oceans of lava, fire, extreme heat, and brimstone. Be prepared to die if you enter here. This is no place for a mere man; to swim in the oceans of lava and breathe the scorching sulfur-laden air will kill almost anyone. There is one city that Prime Plane creatures can enter with some protection--that of Gaulkindle. It is a large city and much magic was used to establish it. It is the only place one can get Essence of Fire and pure Bileon stone. The locals call their world Heltus.
Elemental Plane of Earth	The lands of rock, dirt and stone. Unless you can move through solid earth, this is no place to be. There are several large chasms here that house cities. The heat is tremendous and the air is stale and acrid. Blackrock is the largest of the cities and is the seat of power in these lands. Cadar is the cleanest and most beautiful of the cities, made almost entirely of crystal and precious stone. The Temple to Urmendis is a sight to behold. It is made entirely of a gleaming gold-hued crystal. Fargop is the Gate realm entrance to the Earthen realm and is the city of business and commerce. It is one of two places' outsiders can come and trade goods, the other being Flantarg. Flantarg is the largest of the two trade cities.
Elemental Plane Water	The realms of water or Mearcien, as the local call it. A vast expanse or ocean, there is an island there which is called Eterrestears. It has the only city that is not under water--Shimmers Clue. This area is also a gate realm to the Lands of Air. The locals do not take kindly to fishing here. There are many under water cities. Again, it is best to have the capability to breathe water or be drowned. There is a Hobbit call Mecky Nool who has created an underwater boat to get around the plane. His fees are not cheap though--he does have quite a monopoly of travel there.
Es'ilo [Is'ĒLŌ]	The redish moon 1/3 larger than Menuva and it has 184.615 day orbit.

Free form MANA	Free form MANA is rare in the Prime Material Plane. It is recognizable by flickering things, whether it be light, shape, density, or motion. In simple terms, the MANA is unbound and has no pattern to it. Therefore, it drifts to something similar in the area. Free form MANA is a dream to find for a MUC. With a simple conjuration under concentration, they can absorb it. Be careful, however, because there are cursed MANA that does the same thing and when one attempts to absorb it, the curse manifests itself.
Gate Plane	This realm is dangerous, due less to the environment but rather because of those that wander there. This bewitched reality-bender land has caused many a creature to lose their mind. Normal laws of physics come and go here. One minute you are walking upstairs, then in another you are on the ceiling looking at swinging doors that go nowhere. There are hundreds of doors, gates, and portals to just about anywhere one would want to go or not go, depending on one's point of view. You must know how to read the door and know the proper spell to open it to the right location. Some of these locations are predefined therefore the doors never change. There is a city called Whatsall that lies amid this land of chaos and altered reality. It is as the say: 'The only sane spot out there in in the gate plane.' Be careful of Maligia, she has no patience for mortals or the damned.
Gorgon	Any of the humanoid female monsters commonly represented as having Snakes for hair, or Wings, and Brazen claws, or Poisoned stinger, and eyes that turn anyone looking into them to stone.
Highrem	The City of Spires in the Lands of Air. Here you will find a large population of Elves, Hobbits and the Oogrell. They sell flying contraptions and other commodities (that we would not call safe).
Maligia Graven	Be careful of Maligia. She has no patience for mortals or the damned. She is a fallen Celestial who is working on grace to reenter the City of Light. She was once one of the Soul watchers in the City of Light. She overstepped her duties, made an unauthorized decision and was kicked out of Heaven's Gate to the lands of Chaos. She only has 1000 millennia to re-gain her place in the City of Light once again.

MANA	An essence and material that aligns all things in existence to a standard Format. By altering MANA one can modify or alter the realm or plane they are on. MANA is a unique form of essence which intermingles with the entire universe and more. It is the Soul of man, the life blood of the world, the source of existence beyond the physical realms. MANA exists everywhere in every element of the cosmos. It can be called upon as a tool, cast as a spell, weaved in a dweomer and simply something to marvel over. As an essence, it is something like energy and matter at the same time. Its form can be altered to change the material world, and in rare cases, the spiritual, as well as the environment it is in. MANA, like energy, can never be destroyed and unlike matter, it cannot be permanently changed. MANA was created in predefined formats and thus serve as the differing bases of magic.
MANA Plane	This plane is not for the faint of heart or the common mind. The very environment will twist you, shape you, and destroy you if you cannot maintain a strength of mind. Many a powerful mage has fallen here to their own minds eye and have been lost for all eternity. There is no here or there, only essence. In the Prime Material Plane, everything is defined by MANA and very structured. In the realms of essence, nothing is defined and everything is unbound. If you cannot keep your mind locked/focused, be conscious you belong to the Material plane and also who you are, at peace, controlled, and un-diverted by the inner self, then you too will become unbound, undefined and be lost forever, but not dead a conscious awareness of nothing. No one has ever come back from the loss of oneself. What you make in the mind, exists in the realm but only as a shadow of reality since there is not matter. There is a legend that there is a city of Copar somewhere amid the MANA realm. One must know of it to be able to find it.
Menuva [menŏvā]	A silvery Moon that orbits the Planet of Cragnearth. It is the Smallest of the three moons. It orbit is 39.6548 day orbit.

Mythril	A grayish-blue metal in its natural state or a yellow-hued metal in an enchanted state, mythril is one of the rarest metals and one of the most powerful. It was discovered by the first son of Dwarna: Finebar. He noted in his writings that it (mythril) knows its own power. That is a little bewitching to think about. The metal shines with a gleaming luster that seems to never go away even when you are waist deep in the blood, the mud and tears of battle. It is as strong as diamond when enchanted or soft as shale when un-enchanted. It absorbs spells without any resistance. Some have said it is the devil's metal. One must be careful around it, as words can make it do things on its own and songs cause your death.
Oogrell	The Oogrel are half breeds of Elves and the Airpra, (air elementals). They are beautiful and dangerous since it is said that they have a stormy temperament.
Plane	A primary marine or terrestrial biogeographic area within a dimension or space.
Planes of Darkness/Shadow	The lands of eternal night and of the things that knock in the night. There is no safe haven here. Few creatures here have a physical form, and they manifest themselves from the fears of one's heart. The greatest harm here is sorrow. The Lands of Promise is found in the darkness. As well as the Endless Wandering Road and the Torch of Night. There are places where there are gatherings of creatures native to the realm but rarely are they hospitable.
Primal Plane	The realms of Cragnearth. In simple terms, a composite of all the realms tied in balance and proportion. Governed by the Gate realm, manifested by Whiteheart and held by the laws of MANA.
Prime	The top tier of any group, place or the point that all things manifest.
Primary Stat Secondary Stat	This stat is the responsible for defining the Power level one starts from. The Secondary Stat is one's ability to draw on bound MANA within themselves. The two stats give one the understanding of what they can practically manipulate for spells, dweomers, and the likes.
Reality	Something that is neither derivative nor dependent but exists necessarily
Soul/Spirit Point	The total of one's true essence. It is represented by the Spirit Value on your character sheet.
Trilias Mordead	The Citadel at the gates of the Celestial Highlands. Is it ruled by a Celestial by the name of Trilias. He is considered immortal and Ancient. Lawful Good guardian of unparalleled power.

Urmendis	He the High Lord of Earth. He is an Earthen celestial. Some say the High Lord is the realm of earth itself. He is not one to be crossed as the real responds to his will. His true persona is not known. He shows himself how he chooses; a man, woman, child, bear, stone tiger, or whatever he desires. He is the ruler of the realms of earth.
Volnagar	The Mountain pass where King Loridar Executed his daughter for witchery. It seems that when a full Moon occurs on the Mountain there seems to be a pathway into the mountain itself.
Witch moons	Whenever there is a New Moon and a Full Moon on the same evening it is referred to as a witch moon. It came to be during the second sundering. Margay the Shadow witch was said to have her greatest Power during these special nights. She was Finally Hung, Quartered and Burned on the night of the double Witch moon. Even after all of that she did not die. Her remains were cast in the Lands of the cursed, to roam there for all eternity.
A'sherin	An area of the celestial plane that is the home of Meracia and her celestial dragons. It is a vast expanse of floating islands, rocks, Flying boats and of course celestial dragons.
Aseal Usar	Translates to Dawn Star, It is the only city scape in the Celestial Highlands that mortals may venture into safely. It has a population of about 2 million.
Eyona	A forest in the Celestial Highlands about the Size of Finland.
