David Pittaway is an Australian guitarist, composer, producer, and educator whose career spans experimental rock, contemporary classical music, and large-scale guitar performance. He is best known as the founding guitarist of - Kiss of Reality, featuring vocalist - Toyah Wilcox, and for his work with - Robert Fripp and The League of Crafty Guitarists.

Pittaway has toured extensively throughout - England, Europe, Poland, Australia, Canada, Japan, Asia and the United States, performing in a wide range of contexts - from rock venues to international festivals and experimental concert halls. As a member of - The League of Crafty Guitarists, he recorded multiple releases and participated in a two-year world tour, contributing to Fripp's distinctive discipline-based approach to guitar performance.

His collaborations include touring in Germany with - Sweets of Sin, performing and recording in Holland with - Talk That Walk, and appearing in - Rhys Chatham's landmark work - An Angel Moves Too Fast to See, performed live by - 100 guitarists. Pittaway has also worked as a -Session guitarist for Channel 9 Television (Melbourne).

Alongside his performance career, Pittaway is an - Instrumental Music Specialist Teacher, bringing decades of professional experience into music education. As a solo artist, his work explores - guitar soundscapes, looping, improvisation, and ambient composition, released internationally through DistroKid and Bandcamp.

Pittaway continues to compose, record, and perform, maintaining a distinctive voice that bridges structured discipline with expansive, textural guitar expression.
