Why it is important for children to be on time to school.

- Sets a Routine: Children thrive on _____. Being punctual builds consistency and helps them feel secure and prepared.
- Maximizes Learning Time: The first minutes of the day often include instructions, announcements, or review. Being late means missing key information, social time & falling behind.
- Boosts Responsibility: Punctuality teaches accountability. It shows them that their actions have consequences—like being marked late or missing an activity.
- Builds Respect for Others: Being on time shows _____ for teachers' time and classmates' learning. It helps them become considerate community members.
- Reduces Anxiety: Walking in late can be stressful or _____. On-time arrivals help kids settle in smoothly without the spotlight.
- Lays the Groundwork for the Future: These habits don't just stay in school—they prepare kids for responsibilities like jobs, appointments, and _____ life.

☀ Think of it as one of the earliest ways kids learn to honor commitments.
