Hello everyone...

People have been reaching out to me lately asking about sequels to some of my titles, mostly The Black Tower and Willow City. They want to know if I'm working on them and if so, when to expect them to publish. Well... I'm working another project right at the moment (see below), but I have been rough-outlining sequels to both as time allows. The earliest I see for either of these is late this year, and most likely early next year. Hang in there, they are coming.

Late Edition News Alert!

The Shylmahn Migration, one of my earlier titles, picked up a really, really great five-star review. If you missed the email I sent out the other day, please head over to greybeard publishing's Readers' Favorite page and give it a read. Thank you! Much appreciated.

Website Updates!

I recently made a few updates to the greybeard publishing website. I regularly update the News & Notes page and the Featured Video page, but this past week I added several new pages. The first is Readers Favorite, which lists and details reviews of our titles awarded by the highly accredited Readers' Favorite website. Second is the Newsletter page, which includes a snapshot of our most recent newsletter. Please head over and check out the changes: greybeard publishing

Project Status! Mrs. Weddington's Yard

Fleshing out the chapter outline, putting some additional detail to several of the plotlines, and finishing up the first draft of the first chapter... and falling a little behind on all these project paths of the literary fantasy. I'm hoping and planning to put more focus on Mrs. Weddington's Yard through June and will have a greater sense of the development timeline then.

"A contemplative look at aging, loss, and the bonds of friendship in a uniquely close-knit community. The author's writing is simple and straightforward, comfortably bringing readers into the tranquil rhythm of Gordon's daily life."

"A heartfelt look at how love and companionship endure even in the face of loss, old age, and the passage of time." -- Readers' Favorite Reviewer

Broken Sky - Readers' Favorite 5 Stars Award

Broken Sky joins the list of our titles to receive the Readers' Favorite Five Stars award.

"If you love survival stories set in dystopian worlds, do not miss out on Broken Sky. Full of suspense, mystery, and intrigue, this sci-fi tale hooks you in from the very first page and keeps you engaged until the last. David R. Beshears' worldbuilding is captivating. There is a sense of tension and dread to the environment, which sets the narrative tone from the get-go, and makes the story so much more compelling. The plot is completely engrossing, featuring shocking reveals that make you wonder what's going to happen in the next chapter. It's a short story but thoroughly immersive. The cast of characters is diverse yet relatable. Mannie, Carla, and Yolanda were my favorites from the bunch. Something about the book reminded me of the television series Lost. Overall, I enjoyed it very much and will definitely recommend it to sci-fi fans."

-- Pikasho Deka, Readers' Favorite Reviewer

"Okay, let's see here... Shatner, Shatner... no, doesn't look like he's in this one. We're safe."

— Tom Servo
