Career Match with Medicine

Medicine is one of the most valuable and sought after career for those interested in science. There is immense scope for medicine as a professional career. It is a very challenging profession and requires utmost patience to excel. Career gestation period in medicine is relatively longer than other career options as specialization post the MBBS degree is highly recommended. Intricate and fast lifestyles have given rise to multiple new diseases, which the general doctors armed with a MBBS degree find difficult to deal with. This makes specializations a necessity in this field.

Specialization may include General Surgery, General Medicine, Pediatrics, Obstetrics, Gynecology, Neurology, Ophthalmology, Cardiology, Dermatology, anesthesiology etc.

Other systems of medicine like Homeopathy, Ayurveda, Unani, Dentistry & Veterinary Science are also fast emerging fields with excellent career opportunities.

Medical Science courses are offered at undergraduate, postgraduate and doctorate levels. At the undergraduate level, an MBBS degree is awarded in allopathic system of medical science, whereas in Homeopathic, Unani System and Ayurvedic System of Medical science, BHMS, BUMS and BAMS degree are awarded. A BDS degree is awarded at the undergraduate level in dental science. For veterinary science, BSc degree is awarded.

The competition environment in the field of Medicine is extremely vigorous as the number of seats in premier institutes is significantly less in comparison to the aspiring candidates. However with the increasing focus on healthcare, the number of medical colleges in the country is rapidly increasing.

Candidate seeking admission in the field of medicine should have had the subject combination of Science with Biology at 10+2 level.

Entrance test like: NEET (National Eligibility cum Entrance Test) is the gateway to various medical colleges across the country, both private as well as public.

Top recruiting companies include- Fortis, Apollo and Max amongst others.
