PEOPLE'S LEADERSHIP

Erin Murphy (Former MN House Rep) and Karlton Scott (Minnesota Nurses Association)

This is a class for people who want to lead the movement, who want to advance the working class, and who want to change the world. In this class, you will develop relationships, explore identity and narrative, practice one to ones and difficult conversations, and you will engage in deep debate about how we build and inclusive and unified labor movement.

Thursdays 5:00-8:00 pm

WORKING CLASS HISTORY

Peter Rachleff (East Side Freedom Library) and David Gilbert Pederson (Mpls Regional Labor Federation)

The quest to reshape American society so that working people experience economic security, a political voice, and respect at work and in the community, has been ongoing for more than 200 years. Yet, it has received little attention in our country's dominant narrative. This class will endeavor to fill in the blanks of historical information and also to encourage forms of thinking that are historical and critical.

Fridays 9:00 am-12:00 pm

ECONOMICS AS IF WORKERS MATTERED

Phillip Cryan (SEIU) and Kate Shaughnessy (AFL-CIO)

In our capitalist economy and society, the prevailing narrative is that an individual's value comes from what they produce and that the market drives how much that is worth. This class will give students tools to critically examine and take apart this narrative, and invite them to consider what it might look like to put workers first.

Fridays 1:00-4:00 pm

ORGANIZING & CAMPAIGN STRATEGIES FIELD CLASS

Jamie Gulley (SEIU) and Rena Wong (UFCW)

Organizing skills and tactics are critical to our movement but are rarely taught. This class will draw on the skills from People's Leadership and will dig into organizing and campaign strategies and practice them on an active campaign.
