

Studio Policies

(Parent/Student/Teacher Expectations)

We are a family owned and operated music studio. We take pride in our students and their progress and promise to provide you with the best music education this town has to offer. Our dedication to you and your family is what sets us aside from any other music studios. Please be sure to read the policies and understand that they are for the benefit of you and/or your child's knowledge and progress in music.

Payments/Monthly Tuition: Payments are due monthly after the last completed lesson scheduled for each month, no exceptions! If payment is not received, then your original weekly time slot you have chosen for lessons will automatically become available to somebody else.

The monthly fee is the same regardless of Holidays, days we may be closed, days you may be sick, away, etc. You will still get all lessons that you paid for on a communicated re-scheduled day/time within the same month.

Lesson Completion: Lessons are to be completed within each paid month. If you are unable to make it here at your scheduled time, please communicate the absence and possible make-up lesson with your instructor no less than 24 hours in advance. There are at least 30 days within a month to complete ALL lessons. Lessons will never be carried over into the next month. You may not get merchandise in exchange for paid lessons and lesson tuition is non-refundable.

. It is your responsibility to re-schedule any days you were unable to do your lesson(s), and the teachers are responsible for communicating re-scheduled lessons on days they may be out, or the studio is closed. No call/no shows are considered forfeitures. The teacher's time (for preparation, travel) is valuable and has been set aside for each student specifically, so please understand that forfeitures for no call/no shows are strictly enforced.

*** COMMUNICATION IS KEY!!!*****

Practice/Progress: A parent plays the most vital role in making sure that their child progresses. This includes practice, showing up for lessons on time, and asking questions what the teacher has assigned the student for the week. This applies more so to our younger students ages 4-12. Your dedication to your child is of utmost importance to us as well, so we can guarantee that you are indeed getting what you are paying for. At least 30min. of practice a day will prepare you/your child for performances.

Our studio's goal is to properly educate you and/or your child on the fundamentals of music and to help you, if so desired, reach advancement. It is one thing to learn a few chords and play some songs watching Youtube videos, but to know and understand what you are playing truly opens the doors to you becoming a musician. We strive to make your experience educational & fun. - Beaumont Music Centre Family
