II Skywatch for June ☾

This will be an interesting month, as there are several unique energies bring issues to the surface, for major change. First, Saturn is sitting in a stationary position at 25 degrees of Aquarius, causing some deep thinking. These energies bring a time of reflection on our ambitions, goals, foundation for the future and what actions are being taken to achieve these desires. This is a wonderful time to break free of what is holding you back and focus with determination and drive to move forward. Neptune is also at 25 degrees of Pisces, bringing in a creative, intuitive, and emotional awareness. By becoming aware of what is blocking the progress and dissolving any fear around making changes is the first step to success. Mercury will turn direct on the 3rd, helping to move forward and communicate a little easier. Be aware of the shadow phase of Mercury, as it will still be in effect until the 19th of the month. This has a somewhat “Ground Hog Day” effect by redoing what we did over the past month, be patient as new foundations are being established. Jupiter and Mars are traveling together in the sign of Aries. Best to watch your temper, do not make big promises and watchout for high blood pressure. The first half of the month is awesome for getting projects done, starting an exercise program, and bringing in more joy and happiness by doing what you LOVE TO DO!! The Summer Solstice on the 21st opens the door for new beginnings for love, romance, communication, nurturing and traveling for pleasure. Venus moves into Gemini on the 22nd, promising good energy for a social summer, connections with friends and family, and most likely lots of wedding to attend or news of marriage proposals. Best days 13th, 20th, 21st, 26th, and 27th. Days to lay low – 1st, 11th, and 30th. Be at Peace ~
