

“Do not let the negativity of this world impact your destiny. Create your own destiny, and impact the world”
-Brady Dale

The Power of Time

Wakey Wakey everyone, happy Monday to all of you. I hope everyone had a fantastic weekend with the first snowfall of winter, man does time fly. Seems like just yesterday we were enjoying shorts sandals and the sweet summer sun. Were gonna blink then Halloween and November will be here next week. Not long after we will be enjoying Football Food and Festivities of Thanksgiving. Four short weeks later Christmas and of course News Years and 2018! Its that time of year we really start asking ourselves, where the heck did the year go?

Where did the month go”? “I cant believe its already May” Don’t we find ourselves asking that question far too often?”

What about the individual days and weeks though? How many of us on a regular basis say “oh man its only Tuesday” “I cant wait, for today to be over.” “oh can it please be Saturday already”. We all have those days, those pieces in time where we just get fed up with life. How frequent are getting in this place though? How many days weeks months are you stuck in a rut? How much TIME are spending just waiting begging and praying for TIME to pass?

Time, combined with effort, are the two common factors that we as human being have in our lives.

Those of you who remember my “24 Hours” Newsletter, this is the same stuff. Time is a cruel mistress though. Time waits for no one. The idea that there isnt enough time in the day is an erroneous one. Time doesn’t not stop, slow down or speed up.

Time is constant in all of our lives. The variables in this equation we call life, is us. What we do, don’t do, or put off. What we DECIDE to make a priority for our lives, and what we DECIDE to leave on the back burner.

I would like to encourage everyone this week, to begin to look at life a little differently. Look at your life as constantly having the opportunity to be great. See that every occurrence in your life have value and meaning, no matter how seemingly insignificant. Understand that how YOU use YOUR time, is what makes you different from everyone else.

That being said, this is your one life. This is it for you. Do you want to be on your death bed, full of regret. Never utilizing your full potential. Having not lived a life on YOUR terms. When will you begin to use your time to leave an impact and a legacy? Will you start tomorrow? Will you start next week? Next month? Next year? Or will you start right here, and right NOW?

EVENTS

~~Tuesday October 24th @ 12:00pm
Greater Wasilla Chamber of Commerce at
The Grandview Inn~~

~~Tuesday December 12th @ 6:30pm
Find your Focus
Level 7 Spiritual Center~~