"Good Life", featuring Black Albert, came out July 31 on Realede Records. It's a song about enjoying what you worked for, with a bounce that works in a packed club or with the windows down. The Kim Caldwell Show caught him at the album release party for Hieroglyphics' "All Said And Done" and put it simply:

"It's not a party without having C. Titus in the building!"

"I wrote 'Good Life' for everybody who's been putting in work and waiting on their moment," said C. Titus. "L.A. on Saturday, then home to the Bay on Sunday. That's the good life for me. Come early, because we're not holding anything back."

The tour closes out a busy year on stage. C. Titus closed his NBA All-Star Weekend set in Los Angeles with "Belaire Bottles in the Air," performed during BET Awards weekend, played Oakland First Fridays in April and took the stage at Lique in Miami in July. His music has been placed on BET, Nickelodeon and USA Network, and he sits down with Pinky World for an interview this month.
