

AKEMA
Membership
Awaits, apply online today!

<https://akema.info>

akema907@gmail.com

Who is an Emergency Manager?

Emergency Managers work in all fields and do not necessarily have response equipment. If you are a part of an organization that helps during an emergency (paid or unpaid), you are an emergency manager.

AKEMA works best when our membership reflects all communities and responders of Alaska

ALWAYS MOVING FORWARD

ALASKA
EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATION

<https://akema.info>

About AKEMA

The Alaska Emergency Management Association represents Emergency Management professionals in Alaska. AKEMA brings together Emergency Managers across the diverse landscape of Alaska. AKEMA provides networking & credentialing opportunities, information sharing and best practices to serve all Alaskans. AKEMA also provides advocacy for its members with elected officials and policy makers.

AKEMA's Mission

To support Alaskan emergency management professionals in implementing best practices and indigenous knowledge for preparing, mitigating, responding to and recovering from crises that affect Alaska, our communities and our people..

AKEMA's Vision

To provide and maintain a State-wide network of emergency management professionals, working together to reduce the impacts of human-cause and natural disasters that impact Alaskans and their communities.

AKEMA's Goals

- Develop a unified voice for emergency management professionals in the State of Alaska
- Collaborate with emergency management personnel in Alaska on best practices.
- Promote all fields of emergency management in Alaska
- Promote disaster preparedness to the public.

AKEMA Member Benefits

- Networking
- Technical Assistance
- Disaster Response Support through the intrastate mutual aid agreement
- Professional Certification to become an Alaska Certified Emergency Manager
- Preparation resources to become International Association of Emergency Managers certified.