

Next Chapter Experience

Ways to Support

The Next Chapter Experience supports graduates and individuals transitioning into new seasons of life through resources, preparation, and community care. Supporters may choose to give in the way that best aligns with their capacity and calling.

Monetary Support

Monetary contributions provide flexibility and help cover program materials, logistics, operations, and participant support.

Examples include:

- General Program Support
- Graduate Essentials Fund
- Wellness & Readiness Support
- Graduate Sponsorship (Partial or Full)
- Program Operations
- Flexible Giving

In-Kind Donations (New Items Only)

What We Do Not Accept:

- Used or gently used items
- Opened, expired, or recalled products
- Items that do not meet safety standards
- Unapproved or unlicensed food items

Accepted In-Kind Donations May Include:

- Professional or career-readiness items
- School or continuing education supplies
- Hygiene and personal care products
- New clothing or accessories
- Approved gift sets or assembled kits
- Household starter essentials

All in-kind donations must be brand new. Tags and receipts are preferred to verify item condition and branding.

Service-Based Support

Individuals and businesses may support the Next Chapter Experience by offering professional services, skills, or time.

Examples of Service-Based Support:

- Event setup and breakdown
- Cleaning and sanitation services
- Food preparation or catering (licensed or structured businesses only)
- Photography or videography
- Content creation or media support
- Hairstyling, grooming, or wellness services
- Crafting or kit assembly
- Vendor or guest assistance
- Administrative or data support

Coordination & Logistics

Drop-off locations will be shared once donations are verified and approved. For scheduling pick-ups, drop-offs, service coordination, or vendor inquiries, please contact (419) 972-1468.

Vendors & Community Partners

Businesses offering in-kind or service-based support may request consideration for inclusion in Project Reclamation's Nonprofit Vendor Program.

Submission of a donation offer or service proposal does not guarantee acceptance or participation. All support is reviewed to ensure alignment with program needs, safety standards, and capacity.
