

UNCOVERING THE PLOTS - CRITICAL PHONE CALLS TRACED PAKISTAN and ISIS INVOLVED with BENGALI MUSLIM TERRORISTS and the LAUNCHING of their PLANNED JIHAD AGAINST BUDDHISTS and OTHERS

By Rick Heizman, Sept 5, 2017, San Francisco

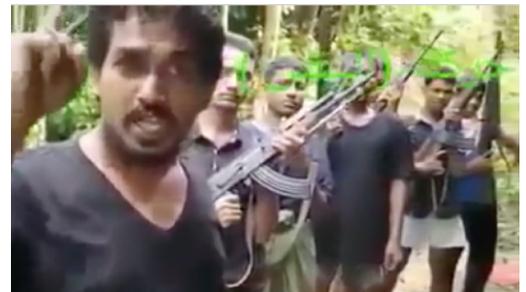

First, some important background info: India has a huge problem with its own 150 million Muslims, (15% of the populace) many of whom are calling for all out Jihad to engulf India in monumental terror and destruction, leading to Muslim rule. And, don't forget - or time to learn - that much of India was under Muslim rule for 700-800 years, until the British became the colonial power - and under Muslim rule an estimated 80 million Hindus, Buddhists, and others were slaughtered. Obviously India has a great need for Intelligence Services and Counter-Terrorism forces and analysts, and it does have those agencies.

Bangladesh, the name since 1971, formally East Pakistan, since the division of India into Muslim and Hindu countries in 1947, is now getting closer and closer to being Muslim only. There are indeed parts of the government which ally with and support the terror groups and the so-called 'Rohingya' Bengali Muslims, but the ruling Bangladesh Awami Party, while being bad enough in many ways, DOES cooperate with Indian Intelligence and Counter-Terrorism, and is NOT sympathetic to the 'Rohingya'. The Awami government IS under threat by much worse Islamic forces.

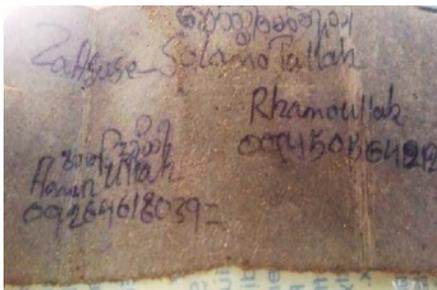

Pakistan also has high level people supporting and funding many terrorist groups, as well as more 'moderate' officials protecting themselves.

INTERCEPTED PHONE CALLS ARE VERY REVEALING

Indian and Bangladesh intelligence official say that they intercepted 3 critically important long phone calls between the charismatic, loud, fanatic local leader - known as Ata Ullah, or Hafiz Tohar - of the Arakan Rohingya Salvation Army (ARSA) which is the main group behind these recent attacks, and these 3 calls exposed the exact reasons why ARSA launched the multiple attacks in Rakhine State on the date of August 25, 2017.

In recent raids by Bangladesh army units, upon militant training camps hidden in the jungles of Bangladesh, close to the border with Myanmar's Rakhine State, much crucial information was discovered, and also gleaned from captured militants, including phone numbers of very high-ranking figures. Bangladesh intelligence put those phone numbers under surveillance, and fortunately passed those numbers on to Indian intelligence which has a much more superior monitoring system.

THE THREE LONG AND REVEALING PHONE CALLS

On August 23, at 11:32AM, Bangladesh time, Brigadier Ashfaq of Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI) Pakistan's premier intelligence agency - in charge of ISIS's eastern operations - called the phone of Ata Ullah, and they spoke for 37 minutes. They spoke in code, however Indian intelligence quickly cracked it.

Important point is that the Kofi Annan report and recommendations about the situation was to be released on the afternoon of August 24.

Brigadier Ashfaq said in the phone call, "Kala admi report detehi halo ho". Kala admi means 'black man' which surely is Kofi Annan. Brigadier Ashfaq asked for Ata Ullah to launch multiple attacks, by midnight of August 24 - the day of the report release.

Ata Ullah replied, "Ji jannab, jo hukum, par 24 rat se pahle nahi hoga". Ata Ullah agreed, but said it would not be possible so quickly, the next day.

August 24, at 2:13 PM, Brigadier Ashfaq, called again, pleading that the attacks happen as soon as possible, mentioning that the report was being released in 30 minutes or so. Ata Ullah said runners had been sent to all the ARSA squads, with instructions to launch the attacks at midnight. Brigadier Ashfaq pleaded agitatedly, "Der kyon kar rahe ho." - "Why so late?" Ata Ullah replied, "It takes time for the runners to reach all the squads of ready militant." They were careful to send the message through physical runners, and to not use any electronic devices for fear of detection.

August 24, at 6:02PM, a call came to Ata Ullah from Iraq, by 'Al-Amin of Daesh'. Daesh is the term used by ISIS, or Islamic State, referring to the Islamic State of Iraq and Syria. The caller wished the best for ARSA attacks, in 6 hours, and for the launching of this full-out Jihad against what he called the 'Burmese colonialists, the Buddhists, and the Hindus.

THE MANY REASONS FOR THE ATTACKS

Now we can see, very clearly that these attacks were meant to show, viciously, that they were absolutely opposed to any efforts to approach peace, dialogue, or living together in any way, shape or form. And by ratcheting the situation up to this all-out Jihad, they knew that they would have the nearly universal support of the Muslim World, fed into a frenzy of totally hateful views of Buddhists, of Hindus, of Aung San Suu Kyi, of Kofi Annan, and of India's Prime Minister Modi (visiting Myanmar as I write this on Sept 5). And, even further, they are blatantly trying to undermine, destabilize, and destroy the Awami Government of Bangladesh, and destabilize north eastern India, which is already stirred up, and preaching Jihad.

They also know that they can take advantage of any action by the Burmese Army, and the Burmese Government - no matter the necessity of it - and turn it all around to be used in fanning the heated hatred of Buddhists and Buddhism that is avalanching through the Muslim Media, and the Muslim World. Already, Muslim countries are screaming for all-out war with Myanmar.
