Transitions

March has always felt like a time of transition to us. Transition in the weather...though maybe not as quickly as we'd like here in the Boston area... Transition in what we want to wear, transition in our kids' activities and school years, and transition in how we want our homes to feel.

At home we find ourselves wanting to simplify, clear space, and get ready to literally and figuratively air things out. We're getting ready to put away the heavier textures and welcome in airier fabrics, live plants, and lighter colors. The daylight hours are noticeably growing and we are so ready for it!

Product of the Month

We recently came across this adorable collection of scalloped bathroom accessories. There's a version with blue edging and one with black. You can choose from eight different products and honestly we kind of want all of them!

What have we been up to?

We've been working on several projects that are all at different stages. We have a basement renovation that's currently in the construction and paint phase. We've been working on construction prep for a multi room renovation, consulting on paint and carpet choices, and working on concepts and product sourcing for a few design presentations coming up. We've also been photographing finished projects and the before and afters are so great! Follow us on Instagram to see them all, as well as other fun content we're creating just for our Instagram followers. Here's a little peek at a recently photographed project. You can see the before photo on our Instagram!

Paint colors we're loving

Newburg Green

Benjamin Moore

A deep blueish teal green that we love drenching a room in, or as a woodwork accent with wallpaper.

Greek Villa

Sherwin Williams

The Goldilocks of whites. Not too yellow, not too grey, not too bright. It's just right.

Sulking Room Pink

Farrow & Ball

This mauve-y tone is moody and cool with just enough of a grey undertone to keep it from being too sweet.

Quotable Moment This Month

"It is when we are in transition that we are most completely alive."

- William Bridges

March Design Tip

Seasonal decorating doesn't have to be cliché. Here are some tips for bringing spring freshness into your home without being too obvious.

- Swap heavy textures for lighter ones. Velvet pillows and fur throws in your living spaces can be stored away to make room for lighter fabrics like linen and cotton. Clean and store down comforters and replace with quality cotton quilts on beds once the weather is warm enough.
- Add plants! So many people are afraid of house plants but there are lots of low maintenance ones that are really easy to keep alive. Pothos plants and snake plants are both practically impossible to kill...take it from someone who has never fertilized her snake plant and lets it go up to six weeks with no water. It's survived again and again. Fiddle leaf figs are notoriously fickle but such a showstopper when you can make them work. This plant food is a game changer for keeping a fiddle leaf fig tree thriving and works to keep any plant healthy and happy. If you've been hesitant to try a live plant start with an easy care one and see how it goes. They add literal life to a room!
- Use colored glassware or patterned napkins when hosting. These don't have to be expensive! Crate and Barrel has pretty colored glass drinkware starting at just $5.95 a glass and World Market is a great source for fun napkins. We think these red and blue fish print napkins are so cute and whimsical and also love these purple and green block print ones.
