“WE SHOULD NOT GIVE UP AND WE SHOULD NOT ALLOW THE PROBLEMS TO DEFEAT US”

➤ INTRODUCTION...

“WE DON’T NEED NO EDUCATION”, I talk about the Indian education system, one of the causes I am deeply passionate about. I try to imagine what the youth might say to the most powerful person in our country.

As you read this section, I am sure you will gain more empathy and appreciate for the plight of the Indian youth which works hard at every stage to secure a good education and career.

‘Citizens should be the strict teachers who will tell leaders they have a lot of homework to do’.

HRD ministry statistics demonstrate a significant decline in national primary school enrolments. Given Indian demographics, where the number of children is increasing every year, the results are even more shocking. This despite all the noise made about right to education for every Indian. While we may choose to forget this statistic for the next sensational news items, this is an extremely disturbing development.

If India’s population is not trained to face the globalized world-and primary education is the first step in that training, we will become a nation of servants and clerks.

“Our education system is crying out for a revamp. When will we get around to doing it?”

The Indian education system is a problem that can be fixed. It affects the country’s future, impacts almost every family, everyone knows about it and it is commercially viable to fix it.

There are two main problems:

1. The supply of good college seats
2. The actual course content and intent behind education.

The first issue about the supply of A-grade institutions versus the number of A-grade potential students. With one crore students taking the class 12th exam each year, the top 10%, the high potential population by any global standard, deserve a world-class institution. That means, we need 10 lakhs good, A-grade, branded college seats per year. Either the government provides them or they work with private participants to make it happen. Until that is done, the scramble for seats will be worse than a peak-hour Vicar fast. No amount of well-meant advice to go easy on kids, to children to not take stress, will work. I'm sorry, if I have a child who I think is bright, I will fight to make sure he gets into a good college. If the number of seats is well below the required amount, the fight is going to be bloody and ugly, and that's what happens every year. The education system's core problem is the course content itself.

➤ WHAT DO WE TEACH IN SCHOOL AND COLLEGES?

Life of a student has really become stubborn, hectic they are facing problems. Schools colleges are involved in a rat race in completion of their syllabus, so are students they also study the syllabus they don't want knowledge they are also running behind the syllabus.

➤ REASONS OF NOT FULL ATTENTION ON STUDIES.

- SOCIAL ACCOMMODATIONS.
- ELECTRONIC GADGETS.
- METHOD OF TEACHING.
- NO INTEREST IN THEIR FIELD.
- LAZINESS.

➤ HOW TO MOTIVATE YOUR CHILD TO GET KNOWLEDGE INSTEAD OF FORCING THEM.

- Develop an atmosphere of reading.
- Encourage open and sincere communication.
- Introduce and encourage different types of learning styles.
- Focus on your child's interests.
- Share your enthusiasm for learning.
- Make learning fun through game-based learning.

- Help your child to stay organized.
- Recognize and celebrate achievements.
- Focus on strengths.
- Make every day a learning day.
- We can believe in following aspect;
- Use positive media.
- Dare to take risk.
- Having knowledge of different achievements.
- Increasing faith in ourselves.

We can accomplish any task but we must have faith in ourselves.

➤ CONCLUSION

We should all focus on important things, refocus when distracted, and concentrate on our objectives so that we can build unshakeable faith in ourselves over time.
