A Message from the Mayor

On behalf of my colleagues on City Council and the citizens of Vancouver, I want to wish congratulate all the volunteers with Project Hastings for the hard work they have done to build an organization committed to serving the most vulnerable in our city.

With over 150 secondary students from Metro Vancouver volunteering, Project Hastings has been able to help our many individuals in our city. It has also become an important way for students to learn the importance of volunteering in our community. I was happy to learn about the work that young volunteers are doing to connect donations, such as sleeping bags, emergency food, and winter care packages, with those who need it most.

As Mayor, I am pleased to recognize the valuable contributions non-profit organizations make to enhance the quality of life in our great city. These largely volunteer groups work to improve the lives of others in our community, and I commend the time and dedication given by those who strive to help the less fortunate in our society.

It is particularly wonderful to see students involved in creating and running an organization that address such an urgent need in our community.

Sincerely,
